TO ALL SALEM ALUMNAE:

If this letter succeeds in truly reflecting the present spirit of Salem Academy and College, you will experience its contagion of happiness and hearty enthusiasm.

The new term is now a month old, and in its first thirty days the school year 1917—1918 has already given good promise of being a notable year for "Salem."

In the College, student Government has taken up the year's responsibilities with marked seriousness of purpose. The new College Room Company arrangements place the daily life of all college students under Miss Stipe as Housemother, with a staff of twenty-five voluntary proctors.

Loyal coöperation to the point of real enthusiasm has been in daily evidence in inaugurating and promoting this new system.

From the Academy Department come hearty reports of hard work, good progress and high resolves.

The largest Freshman Class in the long history of Salem promises to be the very best, and already 1921 is achieving a worthy reputation.

Good health, good spirits and good comradeship, all seem in happy evidence in these bright and busy October days.

With hearty greetings,

[Signed]

HOWARD E. RONDTHALER.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTEENTH ANNUAL SESSION OPENS

FRESHMAN CLASS LARGEST IN HISTORY OF SALEM

The opening exercises of the One Hundred and Sixteenth Annual Session were held in Memorial Hall on Wednesday morning, September 19th. Seated on the platform with President Rondthaler were Bishop Rondthaler, Rev. J. K. Pfohl, Rev. E. J. Heath and Rev. James E. Hall. Following the usual custom the Senior Class entered, singing the processional, "Standing at the Portals of Another Year."

President Rondthaler greeted students and friends, and announced the following new members of the Faculty:

Department of English: Miss Helen Ordway, Wellesley College; Miss Eleanor Blair, Wellesley College, Assistant.

Department of Modern Languages: Miss Ethel Staley, Goucher College; Miss Beulah Singer, Goucher College, Assistant.

Department of Fine Arts: Miss Elma Hall, Syracuse University.

Department of Science: Miss Sarah Tilghman, Goucher College, Assistant.

Department of Household Arts: Miss Elizabeth Butner, Salem College, Assistant in Domestic Science; Mrs. Elizabeth Meinung, Salem College, Assistant in Domestic Science.

Department of Physical Education: Miss Helen Haines, Wellesley College, Physical Director.

The Library: Miss Rosannah Blair, Princeton University, Assistant Librarian.

School of Music: Miss Louise Cox, Salem College, Assistant.

College Department: Miss Rachel Luckenbach, Salem College, Coach.

Telegrams of congratulation were read from Miss Betsy Bailey, '17, Houston, Texas; Miss Vera Kirkwood, ex '16, Bennettsville, S. C.; Miss Florence Renneker, ex-'18, Summerville, S. C.; Miss Lillian Chesson, '17, Plymouth; Miss Emilie Dickey, '17, Musella, Ga.; Miss Caroline E. Vose, Portland, Maine.

Among the out-of-town visitors for the opening were the fol-

ADDITIONAL ITEMS CONCERNING OPENING SESSION

The Freshman Class is the largest in the history of Salem, having an enrollment of 90.

The territory represented in the student body is greater than ever before, the following States being represented: New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Maryland, Kansas, Oklahoma, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Ohio.

The Music Department announces a three hour-a-week course in History of Music and Musical Appreciation and a three-hour-course in Music Preparation. This new work is made possible by the time spent in musical research and study in Boston by Dean Shirley during the leave of absence granted him last year. Announcement of the dedication of the memorial window to the honor of Rev. Samuel Kramsch, first president of Salem College, to take place on Founders' Day was made. The window is the gift of Miss Amy Van Vleck, granddaughter of the former President.

"GET TOGETHER" NIGHT

"Get Together" Night was observed on Saturday, September 22d, the exercises being held in the College Library and on the campus. The entire student body, with every member of the faculty, and a number of invited guests were present. College enthusiasm was very much in evidence, the new students especially catching the spirit of the occasion. Prior to the meeting the Freshman Class marched to the home of President Rondthaler, where they serenaded the head of the institution. The Class of 1921, the largest to be registered at Salem, were the honor guests of the meeting, being escorted to the Library by the three College Classes. Each old Academy student brought a new Academy student to the meeting. Two large banners of red and black hung in the Library, one having on it the inscription, "Welcome, Freshmen;" the other, "1921—Salem's Largest Entering Class." Mr. R. H. Rice presided over the meeting. Miss Allene Baker led the singing, with Miss Louise Siler, of the Music Faculty, presiding at the piano. All the student organizations were represented, and the aims of each were made known to the students in short, snappy speeches by the following individuals: College Y. W. C. A., Miss Campbell, N. C.; Academy Y. W. C. A., Miss Raub, Pa.; Student Government, Miss Siske, N. C.; Euterpean Society, Miss Hunt, N. Y.; Hesperian Society, Miss Feimster, N. C.; College Athletic Association, Miss Deans, N. C.; Academy Athletic Association, Miss Garrett, Ga.; The Ivy, Miss Entwistle, N. C.; Sights and Insights, Miss Long, N. C. Miss Sumner, N. C., responded for the Seniors; Miss Thompson, Tenn., for the Juniors; Miss Connor, N. C., for the Sophomores, and Miss Ruth Cox, of Knoxville, Tenn., for the Freshmen. Miss Margie Hastings, of Winston-Salem, spoke on behalf of the Day Students, and Miss Mary Efrid, of Winston-Salem, presented the cause of the Gymnasium Fund. Miss Staley, of the Modern Language Department, spoke for the members of the new Faculty. Miss Haines, Physical Director, was heard in a short speech, followed by Mr. Heath and Mr. Rights. Senator James A. Gray, Jr., was the honor guest of the meeting, and addressed the student body and faculty, his remarks being greeted by loud and prolonged applause. President Rondthaler brought the speech-making to a close, referring to the splendid spirit shown by both faculty and student body at this the second annual "Get Together" meeting. Following the singing of the Nineteen Nineteen Song, the student body formed in line and, headed by the Senior Class, marched in torchlight procession around the campus, after which refreshments were served. The meeting was one of great enthusiasm, and the spirit shown augurs well for the year ahead.

RECRUITING NIGHT FOR THE Y. W. C. A.

Monday evening, October 1st, the officers of the Y. W. C. A. conducted a Recruiting Service on the upper campus. Practically the entire student body and faculty were present at the exercises, held under the leadership of Margaret M. Thompson, '19. All the officers of the Association were in khaki uniform and led the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Recruiting speeches were made by President Sue Campbell, '19, and Mr. R. H. Rice, after which the Christian flag was raised to the top of the flag pole erected on the campus. Two large army tents had been provided, and, following the speeches, the students signed the registration sheets placed in each tent. One hundred and sixty-five persons signified their intention to support the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year. Refreshments were served and college songs sung around a large bonfire built on Athletic Field. The outlook for the Association is most promising, pointing to a year of increased usefulness.

The officers are: President—Sue Campbell, '18; Vice President—Margaret Hagan, '18; Secretary—Lelia Graham Marsh, '19, Treasurer—Ruth Smith, '20.

NEW FEATURE AT CHAPEL SERVICE

In arranging the program for morning chapel exercises at Salem College President Rondthaler has added a special feature which is being greatly appreciated and enjoyed by the faculty and students.

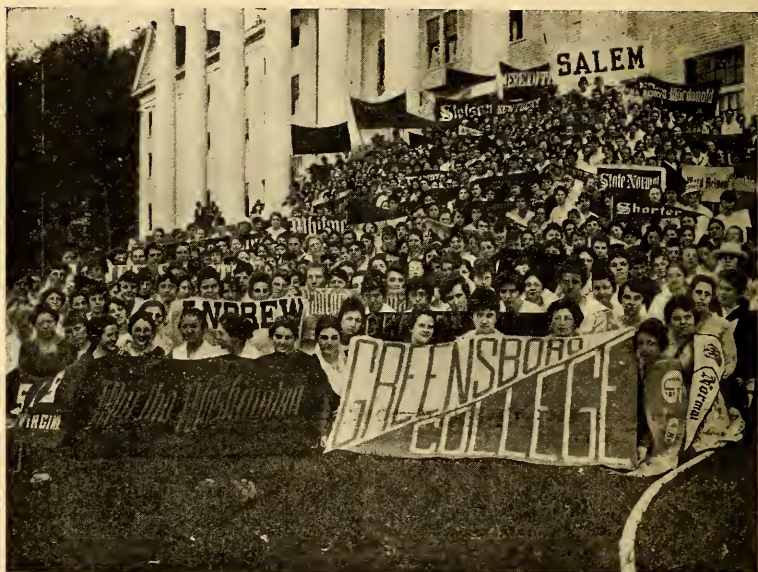

Dean Shirley is giving his personal attention to the organ music, and on each day of the week, with the exception of Sunday and Monday, renders as prelude and postlude, numbers from the great masters.

In order that those who are attending the services may understand what is being played each morning, the title of the prelude and postlude is posted at the entrance to Memorial Hall. This is done through the coöperation of the Art Department.

SALEM AND BLUE RIDGE

"All aboard for Blue Ridge!" And a happy, enthusiastic and expectant group of Salemites it was that boarded the train bound for the Y. W. C. A. Conference in the heart of the hills of the old North State. There were eleven of us, and I can tell you we were proud of our party, which included two presidents—President Rondthaler, of the Blue Ridge Bible Class Faculty, and President Sue Campbell, of our Christian Association. The other delegates were Cabinet and Committee members: Ruth Smith, '20; Marguerite Williams, '20; Lillian Blue, '20; Margaret Thompson, '19, Tenn.; Elsie Scoggins, '21; Mary Denny, '17; Emilie Dickey, '17, Ga.; Mary Hadley Connor, '20; Lelia Graham Marsh, '19. Altho this was our first representation at Blue Ridge, Salem was pleasingly prominent thruout the entire conference, with its biggest banner, its splendidly popular President and its contribution of active, alert girls.

Just what is Blue Ridge? some one asks. I don't know how to explain it, for it's an atmosphere, a breathing, pulsing atmosphere of work, play and worship; it's an experience which enriches, ennobles and educates. Ten days of life in the open, in the midst of wonderful mountain scenery and under the most beautiful summer sky; ten days filled to the brim with sports, with fun, with rich companionships, and, best of all, with inspiration, which lasts, not for ten days, but for years afterward.

But to begin at the beginning — June 1st. We drove over in cars from Black Mountain Station, and as every curve of the road brought us nearer and nearer, irrepressible “ohs” and “ahs” escaped us, which unconsciously culminated in an enthusiastic shout when finally the broad, white porticos of Robert E. Lee Hall spread themselves in shining welcome before us. And it was a welcome of the happiest and truest kind. We arrived strangers, but the moment we crossed the threshold we were friends in spirit and reality.

One of the girls compared the ten days at Blue Ridge to the beginning and end of a college year. The first few days we were making new friends, adjusting class schedules, registering for sports, etc., and as the end of the Conference drew near we were all filled with regret at the separation already in sight.

I have tried to define the indefinable spirit of Blue Ridge, and now we want to give the tangible details of our day's work and play and tell of the part that Salem, one of the ninety colleges present, contributed to the whole of the Blue Ridge Confederation.

Morning Call was sounded by Ernest, the little bugle boy, who summoned us to the activities and opportunities of the day. The morning hours were spent in Bible and Mission Study Classes and council meetings, where open discussion between different colleges took place and ideas were exchanged.

Afternoons were ours to do with as we pleased, and our only trouble was in deciding which to choose from all the alluring entertainments offered. Salem scored on land and water, her quintet being victorious in two basket ball games, and her representative, Marguerite Williams, winning first place in one of the swimming contests.

When “day was dying in the west” we gathered on the steps for vespers and college “sings,” after which we were given wonderful privileges of listening to leaders in the religious thought of our country, of taking part in spontaneous rally meetings, of being an audience for extemporaneous entertainments, etc., and other things too numerous to mention. Variety and originality are certainly watchwords at Blue Ridge.

This brought us to the end of one of the ten perfect days at Blue Ridge. We are down in the valley now, but we have with us the inspiration of the mountain top to stimulate the winter work and the inspiration towards Blue Ridge again next summer.

SALEM GIRLS TO AID IN RED CROSS WORK

The Red Cross Mass Meeting, held in the Salem College Library on Saturday, October 13th, brought out two hundred enthusiastic college girls and a full representation of the faculty. The walls of the Library were hung with American flags and Red Cross emblems.

Miss Ellen Yerrinton, of the Music Department, stated the object of the meeting. At her suggestion, the entire audience, under the leadership of Miss Baker, enthusiastically sang "Dixie," the students from New York and those from Texas mingling their voices in singing this song that always stirs the hearts of those who live in the Southland.

In her remarks Miss Yerrinton emphasized the fact that as a result of the great desire on the part of the student body to do Red Cross work, the matter had been taken up with the local chapter, which expressed its appreciation of the volunteer services offered by the students, and suggested ways and means by which this could be done.

Miss Yerrinton stated the five practical ways in which the student body could cooperate: knitting, making surgical dressings, comfort bags, sewing and the making of trench candles.

Miss Shaw, of the Music Department, and Miss Helen Hunt, of the Senior Class, will instruct those who have volunteered for service along these lines. Miss Helen Hunt, president of the Euterpean Literary Society, announced that work rooms would be opened in Society Hall.

Miss Rosannah Blair, Librarian of the College, presented a brief paper, answering the following questions: "What is the Red Cross?" "What Is the Red Cross Doing?" "What Are Individuals Doing for the Red Cross?" In the latter case she mentioned particularly the work of Miss Margaret Wilson, the President's daughter, and of Melba and other famous singers.

In connection with the making of comfort bags for the soldiers, Miss Yerrinton suggested that the student body start a movement at once to make 200 bags by the 1st of November, the following representatives having been chosen to lead in this work: Misses Sumner, '18; Lancaster, '19; Fleming, '20; Darden, '21; Young, Academy.

The following were chosen to head the movement: Miss

Enlist in the Big Drive for the New Gym.

Margaret Thompson, Tennessee, chairman; Miss Eunice Hunt, New York; Miss Connor, of the College, and Miss Raub, of the Academy, will form a committee on Red Cross membership.

Following the election President Rondthaler made a stirring talk, expressing his appreciation at the decision of the student body to aid in the work, and laid particular emphasis on the fact that the idea originated among the students themselves and had received the hearty approval of the Winston-Salem Chapter. The meeting closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

ATLANTA BRANCH ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION MEETING

On July 26th the Atlanta Branch met at the home of the President, Mrs. Benjamin F. Parker (Lilla Mallard, '09), 15 McGowan Apartments, corner Third and Juniper Streets. Ten enthusiastic alumnae were present, together with Mrs. Plato Durham, of Atlanta, a warm friend of Salem. Mr. R. H. Rice was the guest of the Branch, and addressed the members, speaking of present day conditions at Salem and outlining the plans and policies of the institution. Many questions were asked concerning standards, entrance requirements, student life, student government; in fact, the entire two hours were taken up with bringing members of the Atlanta Branch thoroly into touch with Salem of today. Mrs. Dalton Mitchell, the oldest member of the Branch and herself the first Atlanta girl to enter Salem, in 1862, paid a warm tribute of love and affection to her Alma Mater. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, after which the meeting adjourned. Those present were: Miss Alice Ollinger, '87, 85 East 6th; Mrs. E. R. Barmore (Hattie Ollinger, '95), 71 West 15th; Mrs. Hansell Crenshaw (Carrie Ollinger, '92), 358 Ponce de Leon; Miss Louise Breitenbucher, '00, 142 Sunset Avenue; Miss Anna D. RURAL HALL—GERMANTON MEET

The second meeting of the Rural Hall—Germanton Branch was held last month at the home of the Misses Loula, Betty and Daisy Cox and Mrs. Lillian Miller Cox, recently married to their brother and now making her home with them. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Cox and Miss Daisy, and ushered into the parlor, which was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers. During the business meeting various relief work was discussed, it being decided to have each member make up three Christmas packages to be sent to a hospital in France. One of the most enjoyable features of the afternoon was a flower contest, Mrs. Adelaide Blum Petree winning first prize, a cut glass vase. We were glad to welcome a new member, Mrs. Thomas Crews (Mary Paschal), of Walkertown. After the serving of an ice course the meeting adjourned to meet in February with Mrs. Maggie Dalton Phillips, at Dalton.

FIVE GENERATIONS AT DEAR OLD SALEM

[CONTRIBUTED BY MRS. HARDIN HAIRSTON (DELPHINE HALL),
CHATMOS, VA.]

It is such a delightful work to go over once again the incidents told me by grandmother, aunts, cousins and friends of their school-life at "dear old Salem." From Caswell county two of my great grandfathers, Jesse Carter and Jethro Brown, brought their daughters to her gentle care and wise instruction, and for well over a century, thru five generations, their descendants have continued to ratify their clear foresight and good judgment.

Rebecca Paine Carter, born September 22, 1794; entered September 22, 1802; left September 22, 1807. Mother dead. Father, Jesse Carter, merchant, Caswell County. We call this "the day of the young man"—age and experience are ruthlessly thrust aside by youth and scientific efficiency—this Jesse Carter had accomplished his life-work before he was fifty-two. After a disagreement with his father over the girl he wished to marry, he "went down into Caswell county with a little money and a few slaves." Married the girl, Annie Paine, Person county, and built up one of the largest landed estates of his day, with realty and personnel commensurate, owned and kept busy a line of ocean-going vessels between Philadelphia, Petersburg and Charleston. Each of his eight children had the best educational opportunities the country afforded. Always ready to do his part, he furnished from his plantation looms the heavy woolen cloth and had made the uniforms for the company of men going from Caswell to our defense in the War of 1812. On the day the "boys" were gathered at the old courthouse in Yanceyville for a "send off," he gave up his seat to a lady, and, standing outside in a bleak November rain, was chilled to the bone. Pneumonia followed, and altho he lived some months longer he did not recover. He was ordered by his physician to Red Sulphur Springs in western Virginia. My grandmother, Elizabeth, was two years old, her brother, William, six months. The long journey tired the latter into fits of crying, so the young nephew and secretary, Samuel Hopkins, who accompanied the coach on horseback, would take the babe and carry him for awhile, then pass him back to his black mammy in the rear. The continued fretting of the babe wore on the sick man's nerves, and he begged his wife to send the child back to their uncle, Jethro Brown.

Enlist in the Big Drive for the New Gym.

The four horse coach in which he travelled was built in Philadelphia; black enamel outside with silver mountings, lined with crimson morocco, hammercloths black with silver mounting and also the harness, steps that let down and folded up, two outriders escorted it in addition to the coachman and footman. Picture then his arrival in Salem with the motherless Rebecca, only ten years old. His pride in her was very great, and he had a harpischord brought from London. Rebecca married Romulus Saunders, distinguished jurist, for many years minister to Spain. Rebecca had only one daughter, educated abroad and unmarried.

The next daughter, Mary, born June, 1799; entered June 8, 1813; left March 20, 1815. Guardian, Romulus Saunders. She married James Brown, son of Jethro Brown, lawyer and politician, representing his district in Congress and Senate.

Of Lelia, born 1821; entered October 2, 1836; left May 8, 1836. Guardian, William Brown, of Brown's Store, Caswell Co., their second daughter, I have no data.

Jesse Carter married a second time, Mary Paine, Person county. Their daughter, Susan, born January 29, 1805; entered February 18, 1817. Jesse Carter married a third time, Sara Brown, sister of Jethro Brown, of Caswell County.

Again the coach comes to Salem, and brings Elizabeth Brown, born October 10, 1810; entered June 4th, 1824; left May 20, 1826. This was my grandmother, who filled uncounted hours with delight for me, telling of her happy girlhood at "dear Salem;" the way she worked in "the garden," about two blocks south of the school buildings, which taught her to love and care for flowers, the walks thru the town, the teacher adding to the interest by telling them wonders of natural history. They were permitted to spend "thrip-punce" once amonth on fruit or a certain kind of large, round cake with sugar on top. As the smallest girl grandmother would hand around the treat. An old hair-covered trunk in the attic at Ingleside was one of my childish delights. Grandmother was a favorite with her guardian, and he delighted in providing every adornment for her rare beauty. When she arrived at Salem, however, all the beautiful frocks, hats, caps, etc., were carefully packed away in the big hair trunk, and the regular uniform of the school, homespun dress, long white aprons, no sleeves, ruffle in the neck and round white cap were put on. We have a silhouette of her in this garb. On the back, in her dainty handwriting: "To my brother William, from his loving sister, Betty, Salem, October 30, 1825." In the old trunk, like a drift of shattered rose leaves, lay a rose colored brocade, rich and soft, empire style, trimmed with puffs of plain satin and silk cord passanterie, the bib and tucker of finest thread and lace. This frock she wore at "closing of school the last year I was at dear old Salem." The jewels worn with it were rubies, set in string pearls. Other treasures were a wonderful riding habit of dark blue broadcloth, lined with gold-colored satin: her wedding gown, heavy white satin, an exquisite trimming of cord and silk embroidery and seed pearls woven in; old English bobbin lace, of the kind Queen Mary had revived in England. With it was worn a turban of white satin, with a rich design of pearls and orange blossoms covering it, together with a veil of the same rare lace. All these things came from London or Liverpool in her father's ships. Specially treasured by grandmother were a painted band of white velvet, to trim the skirt of a frock, and a dear little blue satin reticule, with crepe flowers, sent to her as a wedding gift by her beloved teacher, Mrs. Denke, who called her Elizabeth (she was called Betty by the others). She delighted in telling of visits made to this teacher in after years, the fragrant wonders of her garden, the treasures of needlework, pictures, etc., books and letters, especially do I recall "The Snow Drop Tree."

Grandmother often told me of the girls who came to Salem on horseback from across the distant mountains, counting the dangers and fatigue as nothing compared to the great treasure they were seeking. Sara Childress, afterwards the wife of President James K. Polk, and three others had come this way from Tennessee in 1817. Some of the chiefs of the Cherokee Nation were frequent visitors, as some of them had daughters as pupils in the school. Grandmother kept many gifts of bead and feather work made by the Indian girls. The earlier numbers of the College magazine, THE ACADEMY, grandmother kept in her trunk, and in many ways kept in direct touch with the school. It seemed a fitting close to her long life that she lived its last years in the scenes of her happy girlhood, and that she sleeps her last sleep under the shadow of her Alma Mater, in grounds set apart for sacred usage by the Church she held in such tender veneration.

HON JEANETTE RANKIN, OF MONTANA, AT SALEM COLLEGE

FIRST WOMAN IN CONGRESS SPEAKS ON "DEMOCRACY IN GOVERNMENT"

The first woman in Congress, the Honorable Jeanette Rankin, of Montana, delivered an address on Tuesday, October 16th, in Memorial Hall, and was followed with closest interest by a capacity house. Dr. Rondthaler announced that the appearance of Miss Rankin was the first of several attractions arranged by the Rotary Club and Salem College, and presented Mrs. Lindsay Patterson (Lucy Patterson, '82), who introduced the distinguished speaker. Miss Rankin was in excellent voice, and her argument in favor of equal rights for women was followed closely by the audience, her remarks being frequently interrupted by applause. She referred to the direct primary law as a forward move, emphasized the necessity of having the initiative and referendum, and closed with a stirring appeal for social democracy, with equal protection and freedom for all. Following her ninety-minute address many of the audience went to the platform and shook hands with the distinguished speaker.

—In Bethlehem, Penna., September 18, 1917, John Henry Clewell, son of Rev. Dr. John H. Clewell, President of Salem College and Academy 1884—1909, now President of Moravian College for Women, at Bethlehem, Penna., was married to Miss Louise Caroline Eggert, of Bethlehem.

Alumnae Notes

MISS S. E. SHAFFNER, ALUMNAE EDITOR

It is the purpose of this department not only to publish all timely facts of interest about alumnae—changes of residence, marriages, deaths, meetings, achievements, etc., but also to trace alumnae of whom the College and their classmates have no record since graduation, thus bringing the class histories up to date. Therefore items of information are solicited from all alumnae and their friends but especially are the secretaries of the associations and the secretaries of the classes requested to keep the editor informed. Notes on alumnae contributed every month will be greatly appreciated.

TWO IMPORTANT ITEMS FOR ALUMNAE TO REMEMBER

First—Don't forget your contribution to the Class Letter to be published in the Alumnae Number, February, 1918. Cards are being sent to your President this month.

Second—The Committee on Alumnae Relations is mailing out an important letter to Branch members this month. It is full of matters of great interest. Watch for it!

1862—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Vogler (Joanna Mack), of Winston-Salem, celebrated their golden wedding, on August 13th, at their summer cottage on the top of Roaring Gap in the Blue Ridge. Friends came from Winston-Salem, Elkin and the neighborhood to celebrate the happy occasion with Mr. and Mrs. Vogler. Dinner was served in the east porch, on a fifty-foot table loaded with the good things of the mountain region. The decorations were wild golden orchids, delicate tiger lilies from the fields, ferns and pine. Joanna Mack Vogler came to Salem from Indian Territory in 1855, remaining as a pupil until 1862. From 1865 to 1867 she was a teacher in Salem Female Academy.

1865—Miss Ida Moore, Richmond, Va., sends us the following concerning Mrs. James McMurrin (Sara Elizabeth Early), Carroll Co., Va., whose death is noted in this issue. "She entered Salem in 1861, remaining until 1865. Her father had given her gold for safe keeping, and she hid it in her trunk. Early one morning one of Sara's companions announced that she had dreamed that the bottom of Sara's trunk was covered with gold. She then decided to place the money in the office safe. The Principal, Rev. Robert de Schweinitz, told her that if the enemy passed thru Salem the office safe would be the first place broken open, and advised her to let the money remain in her trunk. When called home in 1865 she put the treasure in strong bags and tied them to her person, and so returned it to her father. While in Salem she wrote a letter to her uncle, who afterwards fell in battle, and the letter was found blood-stained on his body. Mrs. McMurrin's half-sister, Annie Early, was educated at Salem, and brought her daughter here to be educated.

1881—Miss Kate Jones, of Bethania, sends us a well arranged pamphlet of 50 pages, by William W. Lesh, of Newport, Va., containing the genealogies of the Loesch or Lash family thru nine generations, Miss Jones herself being a member of the seventh. The pamphlet gives glimpses of the family in 1500, but becomes more direct from 1709, when their ancestors among those driven from the Palatinate by persecution were invited to England by Queen Anne, and were for a time encamped near London. 7000 returned home discouraged, 10,000 died of privation. Ten ships, however, with 4000 reached America, after a voyage of six months. Balthasar Lash, a prominent man among them, died on the voyage, but his family reached the new world in 1710, and formed the backbone and sinew of the colony. Two others, Jacob, a grandson and a son of George Loesch, came to Bethabara in 1753, becoming business manager of the colony. Afterwards he returned to New Jersey, his son John taking his place in North Carolina. The Lash family has no need of their elaborate coat of arms, shield and quarterings of King Leopold to show their noble birth. John Christian Lash had three wives and three sets of children, and a goodly array of descendants radiate from Bethania all over the country. Whether as Conrads, Joneses, Transous, Bahnsons, Lemlys, Douthits, Wilsons, Hausers, they were worthy of their ancestry. The Lash family of North Carolina, the Goodmans of Texas, with earlier branches, the Jefferys and the Sims of South Carolina have severally claimed to have sent the largest number of pupils to Salem. John Christian Lash sent his daughters here, and his example has been followed by others of family and few terms have passed without some member of the family entering the institution.

[Note—Three members entered the Fall Term on September 19th: Lash Litz, Annie Litz and Jennie Litz, of Tazewell, Va.]

1889—Mrs. Frank Armfield (Lucile Armfield), of Monroe, expects shortly to move to Concord.

1900—Miss Willie Ada Smith recently was appointed organist of the First Baptist Church of Durham.

1900—Mrs. D. A. Nance (Stella Phelps) was recently admitted to the practice of law. For the past four years she has been studying in the office of her husband at Winston-Salem, and completed her law studies last summer at the State University and passed the examination before the Supreme Court. She will be associated with her husband, and will confine her work principally to civil practice and legal papers. She is the first woman to be sworn in as a practicing attorney in Winston-Salem.

✓ 1905—Mrs. W. H. Holman (Pearl Carrington) has moved from Durham to Ridgecrest.

Ex-1912—Mary Taylor, of Danbury, is teaching music in the Leaksville High School.

1913—Helen Sumner is teaching this year in the Graham Public Schools.

1914—Carrie Maddry, of Winston-Salem, has been appointed dietitian of Salem College.

1914—Hope Coolidge is assistant dietitian in the State Normal at Greensboro. After leaving Salem she studied at Battle Creek Sanitarium and at Columbia.

1916—Gertrude Vogler has entered the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Ninth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia, to take training.

SARAH EARLY MCMURRAN

Written by Dr. Thos. C. Johnson, of the Faculty of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.

Sara Early was born in Carroll Co., Va., and received a godly training in her home and later at Salem Female Academy. In the latter school she was distinguished for proficiency in scholarship, and received the appointment as valedictorian in her final year. In the bloom of young womanhood she was united in marriage with James McMurrin, of an old family of Shenandoah Valley, at Hillsville, Va. She was a good wife, mother and neighbor; faithful in the Sunday School, and a devoted worker in the Church. She poured out her life in behalf of all whom she had a chance to serve. Her ideals of Christian living were very high, and her effort to attain them was earnest and persistent.

Of such the world is not worthy,
Because of such Heaven grows richer.

SALEM COLLEGE
STUDENTS' LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN
FOR UNCLE SAM AND LITTLE GYM

The Proposition : A New Gymnasium for Salem College.

The Fund to Date : Twelve Hundred Dollars ($1200) raised by Salem Students. This amount all invested in Liberty Bonds.

The Plan of Campaign : Here are the methods by which the funds have and are now being raised:

- 1—Saving Electric Lights. One-half the amount saved by students and faculty is donated by the College to the fund.
- 2—Salem Song and Yell Book. The Class of 1920 is collecting Salem Songs and Yells and having them bound, the book to be presented to the College Library. Duplicates will be made in loose leaf form, tied with Salem colors and sold twenty-five cents (25c.) the proceeds to go to the Gym Fund.

Every Branch Should Have a Book

- 3—A graduate of the Music Department will give a Concert, the proceeds to go to the Fund.
- 4—The Dramatic Club will give a series of plays, the proceeds to go to the Fund.
- 5—A Mock Basket Ball game is being planned, the admission fee to go to the Fund.
- 6—The Class of 1919 is preparing a "Stunt Night," the receipts from admissions to go to the Fund.
- 7—A Special College Girls' Insurance Plan is being furthered.
- 8—The Gymnasium Committee, composed of students, will form themselves into groups of "Two-minute Girls," and make speeches before all Classes and Room Companies, presenting the cause of the Liberty Loan and the Gym Fund.

DEAR ALUMNAE:—

I think we have been happiest during the now closing month of November in the Sacrifice Spirit and the war activities of our College and Academy students.

This has taken various forms appropriate to a woman's college, and a full account of these movements will be found in the following pages. I trust that this record will well interpret to our alumnae the splendid and intelligent spirit of war sacrifice now so evident among us.

We have been unusually fortunate in the men who have presented to us the war situation. Thoburn from the Cantonments in the South, Jacob from the prison camps in Germany, and Hamilton from the prison camps in England. All these men have come straight from their varied fields of war sacrifice service, and each has told his story in a strong, practical and straightforward manner.

There has been no hysteria in this, there has been no morbidity. The methods pursued have been conservative and careful, and the evident sincerity of sacrifice is full of inspiration.

Hardly a girl or member of the Faculty is there who has not coöperated, just as there is hardly a home represented here which has not been personally affected by war service.

As is to be expected this sacrifice goes further than the mere material gift indicated in pledge or in handiwork. There has been awakened and enlarged an interest in the deeper things of life. There is more prayer, more Christian activity, more interest in the Word of God, more spiritual-mindedness. In a word, "The fruits of the Spirit" are increasingly evident, "love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness."

[Signed]

HOWARD E. RONDHALER.

SPIRIT OF SACRIFICE AND SERVICE MANIFESTED BY THE STUDENTS IN WAR RELIEF WORK

During the past six weeks the spirit of sacrifice and service has been very much in evidence among the students. The young women of the Institution have been concentrating their efforts upon three great movements:

The Students' Friendship War Fund, the Red Cross and the Liberty Loan.

Following the recent soul stirring address of Mr. E. O. Jacobs, just returned from among the French and Russian prisoners in German prison camps and now engaged in Y. M. C. A. work at Fort Oglethorpe, the students subscribed over $1600.00, the money in many instances meaning a real sacrifice on the part of the giver.

Among the individual sacrifices made in order to contribute to these funds may be mentioned the giving up of Thanksgiving trips home, Christmas and birthday presents, winter suits, money saved from allowances, money earned by playing the organ, Christmas dresses, slippers, gloves, ties and jewelry.

FIRST MOVEMENT

One of the most unique plans for raising funds is that announced by the staff of The Ivy, the magazine published by the students. The editors have decided to receive contributed articles for this monthly publication, and, without going to the expense of having them printed, will present them to the student body on "Ivy Night," to be held once a month, this gathering to be in the nature of a semi-social literary evening. All the usual features and departments of the magazine will be continued and the contributions read to the assembled students. The local advertisers have generously agreed to continue their space in the magazine, and these advertisements will also be read aloud at each "Ivy Night." The complete file of the magazine thus prepared will be bound at the close of the year and presented to the Library, and will form a valuable reminder of the war relief spirit shown by the students in this the first year of the entry of the United States into the conflict. By this plan the staff of The Ivy will contribute all subscriptions and receipts from advertisements, making a sum of considerable proportions to go to war relief work.

The large amount of money pledged for this Students' Friendship Fund will be placed at the disposal of the National Y. W. C. A. for work in the communities adjoining the cantonments and for the erection of hostess-houses and for work undertaken by the Y. M. C. A. at the trenches, the cantonments and the prison camps.

SECOND MOVEMENT

The second movement, that of Red Cross aid work, was started some weeks ago, receiving its first impetus at the mass meeting held in the College Library and presided over by Miss Ellen Yerrinton, of the Music Faculty. At that meeting the student body volunteered to aid in work for the local chapter, and coöperate in the making of surgical dressings, comfort bags, trench candles and in sewing and knitting. Work rooms were immediately opened in Society Hall, and meetings held under the direct supervision of Miss Edith Shaw, of the Music Faculty; Miss Helen Hunt, of the Junior Class; Miss Mary Feimster, of the Senior Class, and Miss Margaret Mae Thompson, of the Junior Class, as student chairman. The work of securing members was placed in the hands of the Misses Connor, of the College, and Raub, of the Academy. Although a large proportion of the student body had already affiliated with various Red Cross branches thruout the country, additional members were secured, the totals at the present time being in the neighborhood of fifty. Thru the coöperation of the two Literary Societies four work tables, three by nine feet, covered with white oil cloth, were secured. There has been an average attendance of twenty-five students at the meetings, and the following list of supplies has been made up to be turned over to the local Branch: Four hundred and ninety compresses, four-by-four inches; two hundred and thirty-two compresses, nine-by-nine; one hundred and fifteen gauze rolls, three by four-and-one-half yards; sixteen triangular bandages, twenty four tailed bandages, four abdominal bandages.

The work done by the students has been of the very highest quality and has elicited much favorable comment from experts in the city. A great deal of additional work is being done in the sewing room including knitting, etc. The movement started by Miss Yerrinton to supply comfort bags has received a hearty response, and close to two hundred were sent to the Red Cross rooms to be packed and shipped. This work has also received warm praise from the head of the local Red Cross, Mr. Henry E. Fries, and the ladies of the Branch.

In addition to this special work there have been several other efforts worthy of mention here. The First Room Company, responding to a special appeal, completed in three days a knee comfort or afghan, which was sent to the local Branch work rooms. The dining room girls employed by the Institution, in response to an appeal by Miss Yerrinton, are knitting an afghan for hospital use in France.

A final drive is now being made by the students to complete twenty sweaters within the next thirty days, the wool being furnished by the local Red Cross Branch.

THIRD MOVEMENT

The third movement — the Liberty Loan Fund — has received the hearty support of the students, both as individuals and as Classes. In six weeks the amount raised has reached the sum total of $500, all of which has been invested in a Liberty Bond, the sum destined eventually for the new Gymnasium.

In this campaign, headed by a Winston-Salem girl, Miss Mary Efrd, '18. much individual interest and effort was manifested, the methods of raising money, including shoe shining, hair dressing, bed making, manicuring, mending and sewing, addressing envelopes, running errands, looking up library references, selling supplies for comfort bags, minstrel show, self denial breakfast, camp fire supper, persimmon hunt, concert, peanut selling, tooth powder selling, monogram marking, laundry work, silhouette making, burlesque basket ball game, rummage sale, designing for Christmas gifts, fines for wasting food at table, etc.

THANKSGIVING BANQUET MENU

As a result of a recent decision made by the students of Salem a simplified Thanksgiving Day banquet menu has been prepared for the annual dinner which takes place immediately after the championship basket ball games. Chicken will be substituted for turkey, oranges for grape fruit, and pudding for ice cream. Faculty and students will cooperate in designing table decorations without cost; music will be furnished by students and faculty, and souvenirs and menu cards will be furnished by the Art Department. Elaborate floral decorations will be eliminated, and in this way economies will be effected without reducing the spirit of Thanksgiving Day, this being one of the big days of the year at the institution when the "Salem Spirit" is one hundred per cent. to the front.

It is yet too early to reach a correct estimate of all subscriptions to the various forms of relief work undertaken by the students, but it is quite evident that Salem Academy and College girls are "doing their bit" and perhaps more, and it is safe to say that the total value of all contributing efforts up to the present time will reach $2,500.

MONROE BRANCH MEETING

The Monroe Branch Alumnae Association, altho small in numbers, is a live organization, and holds meetings frequently thruout the year, The last meeting was held Nov. 6th, at the residence of Mrs. D. A. Houston (Bertha Totten). Miss Mary E. Stewart, '08, is President of the Branch.

CHOOSING A STATE FLOWER

Paper read by Miss KATE JONES, '82, before the D. A. R. State Convention, Winston-Salem, November 7-8 1917.

President General, Madam Regent and Ladies of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

It is needless for me to say how much I have enjoyed the deliberations of this body of representative North Carolina women, and that today I feel prouder of the Old North State than ever, after listening to the interesting and inspiring addresses made during this Conference — addresses and names that have stirred our patriotism and freshened the memories of heroic deeds of the men and women who lived at the birth of our State, and gave their lives and loved ones that she might be a free and independent commonwealth. For five and twenty years you have been doing a three-fold noble work, as the President General yesterday outlined in her address. It is for coming generations to appreciate the worth of what you have done and will continue to do. We share equally the benefits that have descended from the self-sacrificing patriotism of the North Carolinians of 1776.

Our State, tho one of the noblest and best of the original Thirteen, has heretofore had, to a marked degree, a lack of appreciation of her true worth and rank as a history-maker among her sister States. Your work has lessened this defect and will in time obliterate it. She has awakened to a knowledge of this, and also to her wonderful resources, her varied soil and climatic conditions, but I very much doubt if she realizes what a wealth of beauty she possesses in forests and native wild flowers. Feeling that only the best is good enough for North Carolina, I here present a plea that she may have a suitable State flower.

As a lover of her wild flowers, I confess to a feeling of keen disappointment on seeing in the June issue of The Geographic Magazine the field daisy posing as our State flower—"by common consent," to quote from that magazine. The editor of that periodical received his information from The World Almanac and from a source within our State, so he is in no way responsible for this supposed choice—certainly it is no fault of his that "Common Consent" and "They Say" are different names for the same thing, and you know that "They Say" is not always reliable. I confess I am ignorant as to how, when and where this common consent of the people of North Carolina was given. Certainly not by legislative enactment, nor by vote of the school children, nor by the different organizations of the women of the State. Is the daisy our State flower? and, if so, did you know it? and am I the only one ignorant of the fact? After seeing in this magazine a half dozen of our native wild flowers chosen by as many States, shall we show to the world that lamentable lack of appreciation of our beautiful flowers, by letting common consent choose for us that little wayside weed, the Daisy? Is it to register our great humility (a State trait) and our greater indifference that we will accept this choice without a dissenting voice?

Call to mind all the wild flowers that grow in your section of our State. You women of Western North Carolina, whose eyes rest daily on the beauty and strength of the hills, place beside the daisy your Rhododendron that covers the hills in shades of pink, lavender, rose and white. From Piedmont North Carolina bring your Laurel, with pink, cup like blossom and beautiful evergreen leaves. You from Eastern Carolina, where the tides of the Atlantic lave the shores of your sounds and bays—place beside the daisy a wreath of Bay, with its fragrant blossom, pure and white—or bring the yellow Jessamine, whose glorious beauty in Spring wreaths hedge and tree with glowing color. From every section of North Carolina, each of you choose a wild rose to place beside the daisy. Can you not see it is not a case of loving the daisy less, but our own beautiful flowers more? Only five have been mentioned in comparison with the daisy, and time fails for me to mention many more. But think of North Carolina, the original home of the Scuppernong and Muscadine grape, and the many beautiful flowering vines, Woodbine, Trumpet Vine, Wild Clematis, and then, if you can, choose the Daisy. Truly, it reminds one of Midsummer Nights Dream, and Titania's choice of Bottom the weaver as her lover. Has Puck waved his wand over us? In her illusion, Titania showed good taste in choosing the musk rose to wreath her lover's brow. May we show as good in our choice to wreath North Carolina's brow.

As to ways and means of choosing a State flower, and what that choice will be, these are open questions which I am placing before you for discussion. I do not know the choice of any of you ladies, tho that was my object in writing a protest to a State paper, News and Observer, last summer. I had hoped it would bring numerous responses from you in the State papers, as one naturally thinks of women as being more interested in flowers and greater lovers of them than are the sterner sex. I cannot account for this silence, which has been felt for the space of two months, except on one ground. The habit of conservation has grown to such proportions in these strenuous times that the logical conclusion is: By choosing an alien flower like the Daisy, we are conserving our own. The only woman who thought it worth while to choose from our own flowers was Miss Lehman, formerly at the head of the Department of English in Salem College, and a woman who, I venture to say, has a wider knowledge of our State wild flowers and more fully appreciates their beauty than any other woman in the State. I know the choice of three men of the State. Mr. Holmes, State Forester, favors the Poplar, or Tulip tree. Col. Oids, Keeper of the Hall of History, would select the Cherokee Rose, and Mr. Crosby, of the Agricultural Department of State Work, favors the Wild Sweet Pea, as the cultivated leguminous plants have done so much to regenerate agriculture in North Carolina.

We have such varied conditions of soil and climate, producing such a variety of flowers that we may find ourselves in the position of the darky, who had four lovers and could not make up her mind which to choose. At last she came to a decision, and when asked how she managed it said:

‘I stood ’um all in a row in my min’, an’ den I said, ef you-all wuz ergwinter be shot, which one uv you would I give up fust. Den, right dar I cut out Tom. Dat nigger’s little an’ he’s onery lookin’—dough he’s got lots of gold, ’specially in his mouf. He’s from way off, too, an’ don’t belong to our sort of folks. Den I cut out Tony nex’,—he wuz a good meal chance, but he’s got de habit ob consarvin’ it so dat I wouldn’t git ’nough ter eat. Joe wuz a good lookin’ nigger an’ some dresser, but he dress so fancy hisself an’ smoke so many cigarettes dat he wouldn’t leave me nuthin’ to git close an’ snuff wid, niuch less bread an’ meat. So, I tuck Bill—he’s good to look at, an’ den he gives me all de snuff an’ ’backer I wants an’ close,—an’ dat nigger’s home folks, an’ he chawm me wid dat banjo till I caint git away from hit an’ I jes’ settled on him as my choice.’

Let us hope we may be so charmed by one of our own flowers that we can’t get away from choosing it.

Though we may not make a choice today, we can, at least, make a beginning by discussing ways and means as to arousing an interest in this subject so near to us.

Thanking you, Madam Regent, for granting me time and space on your program, and you, ladies of the D. A. R., for your interest and attention, I am leaving this matter in capable hands, confident that the common sense and patriotism of North Carolina women will guide us to choose a flower in keeping with the worth, dignity and native floral wealth of the Old North State.

FIVE GENERATIONS AT DEAR OLD SALEM

CONTRIBUTED BY MRS. HARDIN HAIRSTON (DELPHINE HALL),
CHATMOS, VA.

Grandmother married John Edmunds Brown, M. D., son of Jethro Brown. Their daughter, Jessie Elizabeth, born June 19, 1842; entered Salem October 8, 1852; left 1857; married Col. Jno. H. McAllister; died April 25, 1912. She was devoted to Salem. She was one of the crying, homesick type, but the patient, gentle kindness of the Faculty won her into faithful work for five years. She was particularly attached to her music teacher, Mrs. Benzien, and had a respectful adoration for Principal de Schweinitz. Once, having gone home for the holidays, when the time arrived to return a bitter cold set in, and when they reached the Yadkin river they drove over the solid ice in place of taking the usual flatboat.

The wild delight of seeing "Daddy" Bagge cross the Square from the hotel, and know that he was coming to summon some fortunate one to meet relatives or friends from home, the flutter and agitation pervading the whole school body until the lucky she was informed, was one of the thrilling events of common occurrence. Next to that was the arrival of boxes of good things to eat. All incoming and outgoing letters were strictly censored, and only those approved passed. Two of her loved friends were Georgia Saunders and Ann Purvis, who were constantly spoken of.

Mrs. E. C. Clinard (Bessie Brown) and Mrs. H. LeGrande (Willie Anne Brown) are daughters of grandmother's oldest son, Wm. C. Brown, M. D. They were pupils of the school and Bessie's daughter, Mary Paine, now Mrs. B. F. Finch, is a graduat e.

Now came the darkest hour of our country's history—the War between the States. Salem was the only school in the South that kept open thruout the struggle. Hundreds of homeless orphans found shelter under her motherly care. My father's mother died in March, 1862, having fled from Mobile to North Carolina to be nearer her son, who was at the front. After her death he brought his sisters, Delphine, aged 11, and Danetta, aged 9 years, to Salem.

Neither had ever been separated from mother or home, and you can imagine their desolation. One incident of the shifts people were put to for clothing: all their world was wearing mourning, and my aunt Delphine said when her box of clothing came from Mobile one dress of very fine homespun nankeen was made Gabrielle with a heavy cord covered with heavy black silk, piped down each seam from shoulder to hem, above the hem two folds of the same black silk, long sleeves with wide bell openings at the hand finished in the same way. It was considered very elegant, and one of the teachers, Miss Schnall, asked permission to take it up to the Teachers' Room that they might see the beautiful texture and exquisite stitching of the French mantua maker who had put it together. Delphine married Major Jethro Brown and had no children. Danetta married W. B. Carter; two of her daughters, Etta and Willie, have studied special courses in the school. Jesse Carter married Miss Ella Vogler, of Salem, and their daughter, a graduate of Salem, is Mrs. Beverly Moss, of Washington, N. C.

Jane R., born 1821; entered Sept. 16, 1836; left Sept. 14, 1838, was daughter of Jack Carter, son of Jesse of Caswell, who married Cornelia Murphy. Both parents died young. Jane married a Mr. Aiken. Her son was the well known Judge Archibald Aiken, of Danville, Va., whose only child, Archibald, Jr., is now at Fortress Monroe, preparing to go overseas. Another sister of Jethro Brown married Samuel Moore, of Caswell County. Their son, Samuel, married Maryann Bethal, who was at Salem with my grandmother. Their daughters came to Salem. Elizabeth, called Bettie, named for my grandmother, married a Mr. Carrigan, moving to Texas, where he became a prominent jurist. Sarah married Anthony Williamson, and their daughter, Cora, was a pupil in the school. The latter married a Mr. Johnston, and now lives in Reidsville; Ida married Mr. Joe Young, of Charlotte; Laura married Mr. James Holt, of Graham, and Louise married Thomas M. Holt, of Haw River. Their father, Edwin Holt, was a pioneer in the manufacture of cotton fabrics, made the Alamance checks famous and did much to resuscitate the Old North State from the death blows received in the War. Mr. Thos. M. Holt was a wise and important factor in politics, served in the Legislature, was governor of the State, a man of forceful character and keen business acumen. His wife bore out the best traditions of Salem's culture, and for many years dispensed a perfect hospitality at their beautiful home. Their three children were Salem girls: Cora married Dr. C. C. Laird; Ella married Mr. Bruce Wright, of Raleigh, and Daisy, who lives in the old home at Haw River, married Mr. Alfred Haywood; their son, Holt, married Louise Bahnson, and I am sure their Mary Louise will some day be at Salem.

Jethro Brown married Lucy Williamson, of Halifax Co., Va.

Many of her relatives have been educated at Salem, and will be found in the Register. At present living are: Mrs. Edwin R. Overman, of Salisbury, her daughter, Mildred, her niece, Dorothy Doe, and her cousin, Mrs. Charles Noell, of Danville, Va.

The first of Jethro Brown's daughters recorded is Martha, born 1783; entered 1811; left 1811. Second, Elizabeth, entered 1817; left 1820. Jethro Brown had large holdings in South Carolina; was an intimate friend of Francis Marion, the latter speaking of him in the Congressional Record as his trusted friend and able supporter. On one occasion the Tories burned Jethro's "large, fine house, my steddin' barns and store houses, murdered my slaves and rudely treated my wife and little ones." Thereupon he took "wife and little ones," with what few of the slaves had escaped and moved up into "ye loyal Caswell County, N. C."

Bedford Brown married Mary Lumpkin Glenn, educated at Salem, as also numerous of her family. She was a great-aunt of ex-Governor R. B. Glenn, of Winston-Salem. Her husband was a great friend of President Jackson, and often visited the Hermitage, where "Old Hickory" was living. A granddaughter has a gorgeous cream satin brocaded with pink clusters of Bouvardia that great-aunt Mary Brown wore at General Jackson's inaugural reception. The friendship and congenial intercourse between Mr. President and Mrs. James K. Polk and my grandparents and their wives in Washington undoubtedly had its heart-warming foundation in the days at "old Salem," and the same reason for the husbands in their close association at Chapel Hill. The Commencements of the University and the Academy were calendar markers, many things being dated thereto or therefrom, and crowds of the "Chapel Hill" boys would swarm up from their finals to do honor to the Academy girls at Salem from my grandmother's day and mine, and I hear that they continue to do so.

THE ALUMNAE RECORD is doing a wonderful work, and gives each month a resurgent glow of loving loyalty to our "Teaching Mother," and an earnest prayer for even richer blessings to attend her great world-wide influence. This has been an indulgence of "that reminds me," each name and incident bringing up so many others it was difficult to select. Thanking you for giving me the pleasure,

Your friend, sincerely,

DELPHINE H. HAIRSTON.

1917.—Emilie Dickey is at Columbia University. Her address is Box 110, Whittier Hall, Amsterdam Avenue, New York City.

MEETING OF EXECUTIVE BOARD OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The first meeting of our Alumnae Executive Board for the year 1917—1918 was held in the College parlors on Monday, Nov. 12, 1917, at 11 o'clock a. m., with the following members present: Miss Adelaide Fries, Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, Mrs. H. E. Rondthaler, Miss L. Shaffner, Mrs. F. H. Fries, Mrs. Plumley, Mrs. Marion Follin, Mrs. Hege, Mrs. Ledoux Siewers, Miss Etta Shaffner, Miss Kate Jones, Miss Margaret Brickenstein, Miss Grace Starbuck, Miss Margaret Blair, Miss Katharine Graham, Miss Ida Wilkinson, Miss Hellen Wilson and Mrs. Vogler.

The first subject discussed was some Partial Scholarships, the awarding of which had been left to President Rondthaler and Miss Fries, who reported that one had been given to Miss Sue Campbell, and there was another one which the Board voted to be awarded to Miss Gena Church, of Wilkesboro. A suggestion from Miss Fries that the members of the Board do something for the pleasure of our Scholarship girls during the year met with the hearty approval of the members, and several of the younger members offered to play the part of an older sister, which, no doubt, will be greatly appreciated by these College girls.

Mrs. Rondthaler then read a letter from Mr. R. H. Rice, Secretary of the Faculty Committee on Alumnae Relations, containing many suggestions to interest the Branch Alumnae Associations as well as the local Alumnae, and asking for the coöperation of our Executive Board with the Faculty Committee on Alumnae Relations. A lengthy discussion followed, but no formal notice taken other than that it was suggested that a time be appointed for a meeting of this Committee when our Board could be present.

Adjournment followed. Mrs. B. B. VOGLER, Sec'y.

—It may be of interest to recent alumnae to learn what the graduates of the Business Department, who were in school with them, are doing. A few of our later business graduates are apparently enjoying their work in the world and take pleasure in letting us know about it. Christine McClung has a nice position in her home town, Salem, Va. Ever since her graduation, in May, 1916, Mary Moseley has been busily engaged in an office in Hopewell, Va. Maud Gillmore has a fine position in the Hibernia Bank and Trust Company, New Orleans, La., and finds her work very interesting. Lucy Martin is with the Purchasing Department, Carolina Cotton and Woolen Mills Co., Spray, N. C., and seems delighted with her duties. Isabel Harris is in the office of the Grove Park Inn, Asheville, N. C. Octavia Scales works for the Bank of Rockingham, N. C., and also does the work of the Treasurer of the town. Berta West is apparently very busy and happy with West Brothers Linter Brokers, Rockingham, N. C. Ruth Giersh is with the Forsyth Chair Co., Winston-Salem, and takes great interest in her work

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION MEET AT SALEM IN STATE CONVENTION, NOV. 8TH.

It was the privilege and pleasure of Salem to welcome the North Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled for their annual convention in Winston-Salem. The sessions were held in Memorial Hall, and lasted two days. Many prominent women of the State were in attendance, the business sessions being in the hands of Mrs. T. S. Morrison, of Asheville, State Regent. The guest of honor was Mrs. George Guernsey, of New York, National President. Among the Salem alumnae taking part in the sessions were Mrs. W. N. Reynolds (Kate Bitting), Mrs. Lindsay Patterson (Lucy Patterson) and Miss Kate Jones, of Bethania. Salem girls acted as pages at the business meetings, among them being Margaret Blair and Katherine Graham.

A luncheon was given the Daughters in the College Library, and the members of the Music Faculty gave a Recital in Memorial Hall.

Alumnae Notes

MISS S. E. SHAFFNER, ALUMNAE EDITOR

It is the purpose of this department not only to publish all timely facts of interest about alumnae—changes of residence, marriages, deaths, meetings, achievements, etc., but also to trace alumnae of whom the College and their classmates have no record since graduation, thus bringing the class histories up to date. Therefore items of information are solicited from all alumnae and their friends but especially are the secretaries of the associations and the secretaries of the classes requested to keep the editor informed. Notes on alumnae contributed every month will be greatly appreciated.

The February Alumnae Number

Replies to requests for Class Letters have been received from '84, '86, '87, '88, '95, '96, '98, '99, '02, '03, '04, '05, '08, '10, '11, '13, '15, '16, '17. Cards are rapidly coming to THE RECORD and indications point to unusual interest in the Fifth Annual Alumnae Number. We earnestly urge all the Classes to help us secure

FLORENCE WALLACE MITCHELL, '64.

Died November 14, 1917.

On the morning of Nov. 15 THE RECORD received the following telegram from Mrs. B. F. Parker (Lilla Mallard), President of the Atlanta Branch:

Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Dalton Mitchell, loyal Salem daughter passed away; midnight. [Signed] Mrs. B. F. Parker.

Mrs. Dalton Mitchell (Florence Wallace, Salem '64) was the oldest member of the Atlanta Branch Alumnae Association, and greatly interested in the welfare of her Alma Mater. She was the first Atlanta girl to enter Salem, in '62. Mrs. Mitchell was a regular attendant at the meetings of the Atlanta Branch, and last July read a brief paper at the meeting, paying a warm tribute of love and affection to her Alma Mater. Upon learning of her departure President Rondthaler sent the following telegram to the President of the Atlanta Branch:

Mrs. B. F. Parker, Atlanta, Ga.:

We learn with sorrow of the departure first Atlanta girl to enter Salem. Howard E. Rondthaler, President.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARY—A BUSY PLACE

BY MISS ROSANNAH BLAIR, LIBRARIAN

If you want to see a busy place around Salem step into the Library. Over an hundred and fifty girls enter its doors every day and sit around the tables, studying, reading or doing reference work under the watchful care of St. Cecilia. Several new periodicals have been added to our lists, so that now we have 40 different magazines and papers for the use of the girls; and if you have your doubts as to their being used you should be on hand some evening when the call has gone forth for Current Events for class the next day and the girls turn out, seventy strong, each one searching for a paper with a good "Current Event."

One hundred new volumes have found their places on the shelves this Fall — most of them being books supplying additional materials for students in connection with their work, but there have also been a few gifts and Government documents. The reference books are in constant demand, and the hour is yet to come when there is no student gleaning knowledge from some source.

So much for 1917 — we are anticipating even greater things for 1918.

—Mrs. Henry G. Gibson (Laura Ridenhour), '14, has moved from Houston to Fort Worth, Texas. Her address is 513 West Fifth Street, "The Hickman."

Mrs. O. J. Taylor (Elizabeth Robinson), Ex-12, has also taken rooms in the same apartment with Mrs. Gibson.

—George Raseley, a former student in the Voice Department under Prof. Muzzy, and for some time soloist in the Rockefeller Church in New York City, has been selected by Morris Gest, the Russian impresario, to take one of the parts in "Chu Chin Chow." An excellent picture of Mr. Raseley appears in the Theatre magazine for December.

Forty Class Letters for February.

SENIORS WIN COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIP

FOR THE THIRD TIME NINETEEN EIGHTEEN WINS THE TROPHY
FRESHMAN CLASS GETS IN THE FINALS

Three times champion of Salem College the team representing the Senior Class walked off Salem field having hung up the enviable record of three championships in as many years, a record which will doubtless stand for many years to come.

CLASS OF 1918 BASKET BALL TEAM

The games were held on Salem Field at 3 p. m. and brought out the entire student body, faculty and guests of the institution. The west side of the field was a mass of color, each Class having vied with its rival in decorating the bleachers occupied by the rooters. The Junior, Freshman and Sophomore Classes, together with their respective teams, paraded to the field a few minutes before time was called for the game.

Nineteen-nineteen came first carrying a large boat decorated in the class colors, the bearers in sailor costume. Next followed the Freshmen, Salem's largest class, marching in single file, headed by a page carrying a large sign bearing the inscription: "1921, Biggest Under the Salem Tent." Then came eight members of the Class, each carrying a class letter arranged so as to read F R E S H M A N. Next followed the mascot, a full-grown elephant, which aroused much enthusiasm. Then followed Freshmen carrying a large sign bearing the names of the members of the team that was to fight for 1921. A long line of Freshmen made up the remainder of the procession, which wound around the field, the incoming class singing their class song, which took first prize recently in the college contest. The Sophomores pulled off a unique "stunt" by marching to their bleachers, forming their numerals, "20", and singing their class song.

SENIORS VERSUS JUNIORS

The first was the crucial game of the series, for the winner was to contest for the final championship, and both classes presented line-ups trained to the minute and made up of experienced players. The story of this first game can be told in a few words:

Nineteen-eighteen won over their rivals by all around work, coupled with the goal-throwing ability of Miss Long, who simply would not be denied. Fifteen of the points scored by the Seniors in this contest were made by their forward. Miss Entwistle, the Senior center, was a tower of strength, ably backed up by the Misses Sumner, Ross and Gates.

Nineteen-nineteen put up a plucky fight, exhibiting wonderful team play and accurate passing, but were unable to score when points were needed. The final score of this first contest was: 1918, 22; 1919, 15.

The second game was the closest and most exciting of the afternoon. Contrary to expectations the Freshman team, playing their first contest on Salem Field, put up a spirited fight, and eliminated their rivals from the final championship game. The scoring for 1921 started right at the beginning, Misses Darden, Robinson and Weatherly making things lively for 1920. The first half closed, the Freshmen leading by a score of 9-5.

Nineteen-Twenty came back stronger in the second half, scoring ten points. In this half first one team occupied the lead, then the other, and excitement was at fever heat. Misses Connor, Hankins and Estes did great work for 1920, but the speed and accuracy of the Freshmen enabled them to come under the wire winners by the close score of 16—15, the first time in the history of Salem athletics that a Freshman team has entered the finals.

SENIOR VERSUS FRESHMAN

Nineteen-Eighteen entered the championship contest a bit overconfident, but the Freshmen soon made it clear to their rivals that they were fighting for every inch of the ground. Misses Darden, Robinson, Weatherly, Street and Gregory were every where, putting up a splendid exhibition of individual play, the half closing with 1918 leading with a narrow margin, 11—8. Superior condition and all around ability told in the second half, when 1918 romped away from their rivals, scoring 12 points and winning the championship with a final score of 23—9.

THE LINE-UP

Senior versus Junior — 1918: forwards, Misses Long, Gates; center, Miss Entwistle; guards, Misses Sumner, Ross.

1919: forwards, Misses Davis, Lancaster; center, Miss Deans; guards, Misses Marsh, Davis.

Score: 1918, 22; 1919, 15.

1921: forwards, Misses Darden, Robinson; center, Miss Weatherly; guards, Misses Street, Gregory.

Score: 1920, 15; 1921, 16.

FINAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Seniors versus Freshman—1918: forwards, Misses Long, Gates; center, Miss Entwistle; guards, Misses Sumner, Ross.

1921: forwards, Misses Darden, Robinson; center, Miss Weatherly; guards, Misses Street, Gregory.

"CROWING AND CACKLING"

At 7:00 p. m., the student body and faculty, with invited guests, gathered in the College Library for the speechmaking and presentations. This was styled "Crowing and Cackling Time," and to aid in the celebration an immense turkey and rooster were imported from the New York Hippodrome. These birds kept up a continuous gobbling and crowing from start to finish, accompanied with much flapping of wings. All four classes arranged themselves in sections, each contributing their bit with songs and yells. The four captains of the teams were called upon for speeches, each being cheered in turn, Miss Long, the Senior captain, being presented with a sturdy rooster, the other captains each with a frisky bantam.

AWARDS MADE

Miss Haines, the Physical Director at Salem, spoke briefly, followed by Miss Blair, the Referee. Mrs. Louise Montgomery Nading, '11, presented the Mary Lynn Haynes Cup to the winning team. This cup is annually awarded by the Class in memory of their deceased classmate, herself a player on both Senior and 'Varsity teams. The Welfare Trophy, a five pound box of candy, was presented by Mr. Samuel Welfare, and on behalf of Mr. H. A. Nading, President Rondthaler presented to the Freshmen a similar five pound box.

THE 'VARSITY TEAM

The names of the 'Varsity Team, selected at the close of the College basket ball season, were read by Miss Mary Entwistle, and are as follows: Misses Long and Entwistle, of 1918; Lancaster, Davis, Deans, Marsh, Mary McPhal Davis, of 1919, and Miss Estes, of 1920.

"LOCOMOTIVE YELL"

President Rondthaler closed the speech making of the evening, expressing his great pleasure at the wonderful exhibition of enthusiasm and loyalty on the part of the student body.

The Senior Class, in cap and gown, marched out of the Library, singing their farewell song, and were given a rousing "Locomotive Yell" by 1920.

—Others present at the Thanksgiving festivities were: Elizabeth and Kathryn Brawley, of Statesville; Mr. Orpheus Siske, of Troy. Dr. and Mrs. S. F. Pfohl; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Nading, and Bishop and Mrs. Rondthaler were the special guests at the Thanksgiving dinner, and occupied seats at the President's table.

THANKSGIVING DAY AT SALEM

November 29th, Thanksgiving Day, was unique in several respects. For the first time in many years rain caused a postponement of the basket ball games, but it proved to be a blessing in disguise, for it afforded the student body an opportunity to arouse additional enthusiasm and to hold a specially arranged "stunt" meeting in the College dining hall, immediately following the annual banquet, which for genuine enthusiasm and expressions of college loyalty has perhaps never been equalled in the history of the institution. Students and faculty attended the Thanksgiving Day service and sermon in the Home Church in the morning at 11 o'clock. The Thanksgiving dinner was held at 6 p. m., in the College dining hall. In line with the recent decision made by the students all elaborate decorations were eliminated, music was furnished by individual members of the faculty and students, and a simplified Thanksgiving Day banquet menu was prepared. The four College classes sat at specially arranged tables, decorated in the class colors. The table occupied by members of the basket ball teams and officials was placed in the center of the dining room, with an immense basket ball suspended from the ceiling serving as a centerpiece. The guests were provided with menu cards done on water color paper, tied with yellow raffia, containing the menu and having on the front cover as a motif a neatly executed design of a fruit basket. The work was done entirely by the Freshman art students, under the direction of Miss Hall, head of the Department. At 6 o'clock, when students and guests had assembled, the entire Freshman Class, carrying Class pennants and headed by their mascot, a large elephant, marched into the hall and took their places around the team table, followed by members of the four teams and officials. All stood while the youngest college class sang its class song. After the following menu had been discussed impromptu speeches were made by various members of the faculty, songs and class yells were given, the Academy students paraded around the hall and cheered the teams amid much enthusiasm, and President Rondthaler made a brief speech, thanking the students for the splendid spirit shown.

Immediately following the dinner the students went to the Gym which was beautifully decorated with American flags, where dancing was held until a late hour. Among the visitors present for the occasion were Mr. Robert Scott and daughter, of Wilmington, representing the Branch of the city; Mrs. George Kirkman, of Winston-Salem; the Misses Connor, Fleming, Anderson, Margaret and Alma Deans, Mrs. Ernest Deans, of Wilson; Misses Brown, of Ayden; Cox, of Asheboro; Harris, of Reidsville.

SALEM'S CO-OPERATION IN THE FOOD CONSERVATION APPEAL RECEIVES PRAISE

The following article appeared in the Raleigh News and Observer of December 3d, and as a special telegraphic despatch to the Winston-Salem Sentinel, of December 4th:

Raleigh, Dec. 4.

"That the conservation propoganda being conducted in North Carolina is meeting with a splendid response in most places is shown by reports that are coming into the office of the Food Adminfstration here.

"A particularly inspiring report has just come from Salem Academy and College. This institution serves 1000 meals a day. It is observing four meatless days a week, having two sea food days, one fowl day, and one day on which no meat in any form is served. Corn products and Graham bread are substituted for white bread entirely on wheatless days and to a very considerable extent during the entire week. The consumption of sugar has been cut down from 100 pounds to 35 pounds a day. Desserts are served only on alternate days, and often salads instead of sweet desserts are served. Cake has been practically eliminated.

“ President Howard E. Rondthaler writes Food Administrator Henry A. Page that he has enjoyed the hearty coöperation of the entire student body in his food conservation program, and Mr. Page has written the college authorities thanking them and the student body particularly for their coöperation. The Food Administration is also calling the attention of all boarding schools in the State to the example set by Salem College.”

SERIES OF “IVY NIGHTS” AT SALEM

Saturday night, Nov. 24th, was “Ivy Night” at Salem College, and the unique meeting, ably planned and carried out by the staff of this student publication, was thoroly enjoyed by a large audience of college girls, members of the faculty and invited friends.

As part of the campaign recently inaugurated at Salem to raise funds for the various forms of relief work, the staff of The Ivy recently announced that they would receive contributions for the monthly publication without going to the expense of having them printed, would present them to the student body on “Ivy Night” to be held once a month, all receipts from subscriptions and advertisements to go to War Relief Work.

The first meeting was held in the College Library at 7:30 p. m. the above date. The walls were decorated with the colors of 1918, a large Salem banner occupying a prominent place on the west wall. Members of the editorial staff were grouped in a semi-circle with the Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen sitting together as individual classes.

Miss Mary Entwistle, '18, of Rockingham, editor-in-chief of The Ivy, presided and, in a brief speech, welcomed the audience gathered to hear the reading of the first issue of the year. Miss Woodbury, of the Music Faculty, sang in splendid voice “Yesterday and Today,” after which Miss Margaret Blair, '14, representing '18's sister class, expressed best wishes in a neat bit of sentiment. The editor-in-chief presented Miss Etta Belle Lewter, of Durham, who read the following table of contents: "Now," by Miss Lehman; Editorials and Introduction, by Miss Entwistle, '18; "Jeanette Rankin," by Lallah R. Fleming, '20; "The Liberty Loan," by Mary Mc Davis, '19; "The Red Cross," by Margaret Thompson, '19; "The Friendship War Fund," by Lelia G. Marsh, '19.

Literary: The Codger, by Margaret Hagan; Luke 12:1—4, by Alice Robinson, '21; Cicero Denounces Cataline, by Ada G. Tunstall, '21; Politics at Simpson's Corner, by Mabel Williams, '20; The Party, by Dorothy Harris, '20; Miss Cynthia and the Ninth Commandment, by Mary White, '19.

Who's Who and Why at Salem, by the Misses Brietz, '19; Marsh, '19; Hunt, '19; Efrid, '19; Lancaster, '19; Davis, '19; Hastings, '19.

Where? at Salem, by the Misses Michael, '21; Ray, '21; Boren, '21; Steimle, '21; Robinson, '21.

Poetry: Autumn, by Miss Ross, '18; The Wood Fire, by Miss Bryson, '18; A Sonnet, by Miss Wall, '18; Sunset at Salem, by Miss Campbell, '18; Reminiscing, by Miss Lewter, '18.

Organizations: The Y. W. C. A., by Miss Marsh, '19; Athletics, by Miss Lancaster, '19; Euterpean Literary Society, by Miss Davis, '19; Hesperian Literary Society, by Miss Hunt, '18; Hallowe'en Party, by Miss Bryson, '18; The Road to Old Japan, by Miss Dukes, '21.

During the intermission, between the reading of the various contributions, the four College Classes sang their Class Song in competition before the appointed judges: Mrs. H. E. Rondthaler, the Misses Woodbury, Yerrinton and Stipe. At the close of the reading of the October number of The Ivy, the judges announced their decision to be in favor of 1921. The words of the song were written by the Misses Ruth Cox, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Alice Robinson, of New York City, and set to the music of the Hawaiian song, "Aloha."

From a literary point of view the October number was, beyond question, the best ever produced at Salem by college students under the direction of an editorial staff. The editorials on timely topics were well written, the literary contributions showing originality of thought, and the poetry of a high standard of expression. "Who's Who and Why at Salem," a cleverly executed bit of prose, taking off various members of the faculty, and the news articles well prepared. The Ivy staff is to be congratulated on their initial effort, which sets a strong pace for successive issues. As a result of the plan the amount gained from subscriptions and advertisements will net $180.00 for the War Fund.

FLORENCE HINKLE AND HERBERT WITHERSPOON
AT SALEM

The concert given in Memorial Hall, Nov. 30th, by Florence Hinkle and Herbert Witherspoon, was one of the greatest treats ever offered a Winston-Salem audience.

FLORENCE HINKLE

HERBERT WITHERSPOON

Madame Hinkle ranks among the very foremost of American sopranos, and has few peers in her chosen field of Oratorio and Concert singing. Her voice, though not too large, has splendid carrying quality, being perfectly placed and completely under the singer's control; the smoothness and finish of her work is unexcelled, and the clear, sweet warmth of the voice itself added to the masterly brain and innate musical knowledge of the soloist, all tend to make her singing satisfying in every respect. Nor does the charm of the woman herself fail to add to the great whole, for seldom does one see a more winning or gracious personality than hers, her smile winning the audience before she begins to sing.

Her solos were chosen with great care, and showed to advantage the singer's voice and ability. Especially were "Le Nil," by Leroux; "Life and Death," by Coleridge Taylor, and the old Irish song, "I Know My Love," fortunate choices, the latter showing the humorous style of Madame Hinkle's art, and in all the selections, whether French or English, her diction was a thing to make people marvel and rejoice. In fact, it is very difficult to attempt to give other people any idea of the beauty of this great artist's work, for the legato of her voice (equalling that of a violin), her great artistic poise and charm are impossible to put into words.

Mr. Witherspoon is perhaps better known to certain circles than his wife, for he has been connected with the Metropolitan Opera Company for several years. Although he had a sudden and severe attack of laryngitis Friday he rose above it marvelously, and his great masterly interpretation and the artist that he is made his singing very enjoyable. In his Irish songs his brogue was so realistic that one might well imagine his being a native of the Emerald Isle. True bassos are rare, and when they are possessed by such a master as Mr. Witherspoon and are handled in such a way as he does there is a delight in them not far short of that of a tenor.

In the duets the blending of the voices was a rare thing, and the unity of brains and personalities as well as of voices gave such a delightful bit of work as is only too seldom heard.

The accompanist is by many people considered as not of too great importance, but the exquisite playing of Charles Baker made the work of the singers possible. Mr. Baker is ranked as one of the foremost accompanists of America, and he and Madame Hinkle brought out the "oneness" that can and should exist between the soloist and the person at the piano.

SALEM AT THE NORTH CAROLINA TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY

The North Carolina Teachers' Assembly, held at Charlotte, Nov. 28—30, was attended by four members of the Faculty: Miss Minna Morrison, of the Preparatory Department, attended the meetings of the section of Primary Teachers; Miss Margaret Whitmore, Head of the Department of Domestic Science, read a paper which elicited wide comment, on "How the College Girls Can Help Hoover," before the joint meeting of Agricultural and Economic Home Workers.

Dean H. A. Shirley was active in the sessions of the North Carolina Music Teachers' Association, and Secretary to the Administration Edwin J. Heath participated in the meetings of the Departments of Higher Education and High School Principals.

The presence of thousands of soldiers in Camp Greene brought the war vividly to the minds of all visitors, and the public gatherings of the Assembly were dominated by the note of patriotism expressed by Governor Bickett; President E. K. Graham, of the University of North Carolina; Dr. C. A. McMurry, of Peabody College for Teachers; Mr. Arthur E. Farwell, President of the National Association of Community Music, New York City; Miss Ida Lee Tall, Assistant Superintendent Baltimore County Schools, Baltimore, Md., and Superintendent P. W. Horne, of Houston, Tex. Among Salem alumnae attending the sessions were the following: Misses Annie Hadley, '15; Esther Bain, '16; Eunice Thompson, '17; Mary Young, '07 and Ethel Dunlap, Ex-'02.

THE SHIRLEY CUP AWARDED

The concluding feature of the last general session was the presentation by Governor Bickett, of North Carolina, of the Shirley Cup, offered by Dean H. A. Shirley, of Salem College, for the best musical composition for the year 1917. Miss Alla Pearl Little, of Hickory, was the winner. Honorable mention was given Mr. Foster Hankins, of Winston-Salem, a former student of our Music Department.

Attention! Class of 1882

Mrs. Nicholas Massenburg (Ava Stroup), of Palacios, Texas, President of 1882, asks THE ALUMNAE RECORD to suggest to all members that they communicate at once either with her or THE ALUMNAE RECORD direct so that information concerning the Class may be printed in the February Alumnae number. Mrs. Massenburg states that the roll furnished her is very much out of date, and for that reason this urgent appeal is made. Write THE ALUMNAE RECORD at once, '82.

RECITAL BY MISS BAKER AND DEAN SHIRLEY

Sunday afternoon, December 9th, Miss Baker, Head of the Voice Department, and Dean Shirley gave a Recital at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Thomasville, before a large and appreciative audience. The organ is a memorial to Miss Nellie Cramer, a much loved pupil of Salem. Among those present at the Recital were Miss Ella Lambeth, Mrs. Richard Crowell (Millie Jones), Mrs. May Gibbs Webb, former students of Salem; Mrs. George Thompson, mother of Sallie Thompson, and Mrs. J. A. Morris, mother of Nell Morris, a present pupil. Mr. L. B. Brickenstein, of Winston-Salem, accompanied Dean Shirley and Miss Baker, driving them thru the country in his machine.

Alumnae Notes

MISS S. E. SHAFFNER, ALUMNAE EDITOR

It is the purpose of this department not only to publish all timely facts of interest about alumnae—changes of residence, marriages, deaths, meetings, achievements, etc., but also to trace alumnae of whom the College and their classmates have no record since graduation, thus bringing the class histories up to date. Therefore items of information are solicited from all alumnae and their friends but especially are the secretaries of the associations and the secretaries of the classes requested to keep the editor informed. Notes on alumnae contributed every month will be greatly appreciated.

DON'T FORGET THE ALUMNAE NUMBER

Sixteen Classes to be Heard From

The following classes are urgently asked to see that they are represented in the February number. No word has come from the Class Presidents or Representatives thus far of '78, '79, '80, '81, '83, '90, '91, '92, '93, '94, '97, '00, '01, '07, '08, '12.

1909—Marjorie Lord, M. D., of Montreat, is practising medicine in Asheville.

1917—Miss Thelma Neal, of Walnut Cove, left her work in the Bank of Walnut Cove to fill the place of assistant teacher of Domestic Science in Salem made vacant, for a few weeks, by the illness of Mrs. Lindsay Meinung (Elizabeth Ormsby).

1917—Emily Dickey writes from Whittier Hall, Columbia, N. Y.: "My work is very interesting and it is such a pleasure to be here. I am excited now over my trip home for the Christmas holidays. I miss my Salem friends so much that this place hardly seems like school. I do think of you people very, very often, and each thought is a wish to be there for awhile."

1912—Margaret Blair is partly supplying the place of Miss Eleanor Ramsay, who has gone to Seattle, Washington, for the winter. She is teaching 6th Grade English and Arithmetic.

1881—We record with sorrow the departure of Mrs. J. T. Morehead (Lily Connelly), widow of Major J. Turner Morehead, of Civil War fame, son of ex-Governor John M. Morehead. We extend sympathy to her daughters, Mrs. Kerr Morehead Harris, of Danville, Va., Mrs. Frank Mebane (Lily Morehead), of Spray and Mrs. Gray Morehead Parrish, of Covington.

Forty Class Letters for February.

We likewise sympathize with Mrs. R. F. Gray (Lelia Wilson) whose eldest daughter, Mrs. George Tate (Mabel Gray), died at her home in Lincolnton, November 25th.

1898—Also with Mrs. W. B. Lasley (Pauline Thom, of China Grove), whose husband, Mr. W. B. Lasley, died in Creedmoor on July 5th, 1917.

Ex-1919—Evelyn Armbrust, of Johnson City, Tennessee, writes: "I am playing intercollegiate basket ball this year. Recently we played Bristol, Va., and won. December 10th we play Washington College, and hope to win. THE ALUMNAE RECORD tells the news of Salem in a way that the girls' letters do not, and it is greatly appreciated."

Ex-Acad —Ruth Paddison, Ex-Academy, Eau Gaille, Florida, writes: "I was much pleased to receive a copy of THE ALUMNAE RECORD, and while glancing thru it felt as if I were back at Salem. THE RECORD is full of enthusiasm, and as there is no smoke without some fire, this term, according to its beginning, is going to be more than an unusually successful one. We arrived home the 4th of November, and, after two days vacation, I started on my stenographic work. I work for two and a half hours in the morning, and have the afternoons free. On Tuesday afternoon Red Cross meets. Both May G and I have joined. Our own chapter here had seventy packages to be sent away, one-third by November 15th. To raise money a tea was given. With the proceeds we bought books, tablets, cigarettes, handkerchiefs, games, packages of dates, mints and cakes. The Camp Fire Girls volunteered to make candy, the Red Cross to pay for it. Besides the books purchased stories were cut out of magazines and pasted together. All of the seventy packages were sent on a specified date. There are a dozen boys from here in some branch of the service, and some are already in France. A nurse from here is in the front line of the trenches doing First Aid work. A First Aid Class has been started here and meets on Monday night. I am studying for this, and with reading and many odd jobs about the house I find plenty to do.

— The North Carolina Library Bulletin, September, 1917, contains an article, Burrough's "Leaf and Tendril," written by Miss M. Louise Erwin, our Librarian, 1915—17.

THE STUDENTS' WAR FRIENDSHIP FUND

As THE ALUMNAE RECORD goes to press, Miss Sue Campbell, '19, President of the Y. W. C. A., gives out the following figures: Total amount subscribed (to date), $1872 50. This amount is divided as follows: Students, 1154.50; Faculty, $538 00; The Ivy, $180.00. Several additional amounts are still in sight which bring the sum total close up to $2000.00. The amount raised will be forwarded to headquarters in New York, and will go to carry on the work in the Prison Camps. In proportion to the size of the institution this is one of the largest sums raised by any college for women in the South, and Salem can feel proud of what the student body has accomplished.

ADVENT ORGAN RECITAL

The Advent Organ Recital, given by pupils of the Organ Department on Thursday afternoon, December 6th, was largely attended. Selections, written for the Christmas time, were played with ease, and the pupils showed technical facility and knowledge of the instrument. Miss Louise Woodbury, of the Music Faculty, assisted at the Recital with a group of four songs from the Christmas Cycle.

THE RED CROSS CONCERT

Despite the cold weather, a large audience was present in Memorial Hall on December 10th. The program was arranged by Dean Shirley, with the cooperation of the Thursday Morning Music Club and individual soloists. The presence of the Tar Heel Hawaiian Quintette, from Camp Jackson, S. C., was a feature of the occasion, and the soldier boys thoroly enjoyed appearing again in their home town. Mrs. Holt Haywood (Louise Bahnson), of New York, who has been of very great assistance in the past at Salem's musical events, was present, and, with Dean Shirley, rendered a piano and organ duo. The sum of $70.00 was raised to be turned over to the Red Cross.

SERIES OF "MUSIC HOURS" FOR FALL AND SPRING TERMS

Two lectures in the series have been given thus far by Dean Shirley, one on "Louis Moreau Gottschalk, the first great concert pianist in America;" the second, "Ethelbert Nevin, the American composer." The material for the series of lectures was gathered by Dean Shirley during the leave of absence granted him by the college. That the series is proving very popular is attested by the large audience of students in attendance. The musical illustrations for each lecture are furnished by members of the faculty and soloists of the city.

“We All Can’t Fight. But We All Can SERVE”

Every day, greatly increasing demands are coming from our Boys over seas, for more hospital supplies, more extra clothing, more foodstuffs. Your Red Cross must bear this burden. No other volunteer organizations exist to supply this necessary aid.

Your Red Cross does not ask at this time for large contributions. It asks you to become a part of it. It asks you to be one of ten million more members to give one dollar towards world relief.

Let this coming Christmas Day find you a member of the Red Cross. The Red Cross spirit is the true Christmas spirit. President Woodrow Wilson says:

“Our consciences will not let us enjoy the Christmas Season if this pledge of support to our cause and the world’s weal is left unfulfilled. Red Cross membership is the Christmas spirit in terms of action.”

Show your colors as the rest of the ten million new members will do. Put your membership Red Cross Service Flag in your window. Let there be a Red Cross on it to represent each and every member in your household from the baby to the oldest. Let a greater Red Cross be our Christmas gift to our Boys and our Allies. Will you help? Is a dollar too much for you to give to such a cause?

Go to your nearest Local Red Cross Chapter today! Ask for an enrollment blank. Enroll yourself and every member of your household. Let yours be a Red Cross home this Christmas.

Dear Alumnae:

Yesterday, Jan. 16th, we reopened after a nearly four weeks' vacation. It would have delighted every daughter of Salem to see the hearty body of girls, College and Academy, as they were gathered for the first chapel service of the new year. If the homesick girl was there she was not in evidence. Perhaps a four weeks' holiday at Christmas is really better than the traditional two weeks. Be that as it may, everybody, old and new, settled down to work with the very first period, at 9 o'clock, and now the machinery seems to be in happy running order, as though there had been no interruption whatever. This is one of the wonderful experiences which is always filled with new surprise. On Tuesday the buildings are quiet and deserted, grounds empty and everything silent—within twenty-four hours, suddenly, a great tide of eager young life is filling everything, A miracle has happened over night. It is always stirring and amazing. I, personally, shall never fail to thrill over the recurring wonder of it all.

If the Salem Alumnae have followed the progress of the Student Friendship War Fund you already know that the students of the United States have raised not only the One Million Dollars which which was the original goal, but an actual and astonishing cash total of $1,450,163 44. Fifty per cent. of this amount is to be used in Prison and Camp work in Europe; twenty per cent. in Y. M. C. A. War Work, both in America and Europe; twenty per cent. for the War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A., and ten per cent. for the World's Christian Student Federation. Salem's final figure was a cash gift of $1,872.50, being the full amount subscribed, and this was turned in promptly on Dec. 15th, in full, just six weeks after the pledges had been made.

This is a result in which we can all rejoice. It represents, as was carefully explained in advance, genuine and varied personal sacrifice, and one of the conditions of the pledges was that no extra expense was thereby to be added by any girl to her parents' anticipated outlay in her behalf during the College Year.

In the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia sixty-six girls' colleges, seminaries and normal schools contributed jointly the very large sum of $57,247.75. This gives an average of $868.00 for each, which furnishes an added evidence that Salem girls did their abundant share.

With hearty greetings for the New Year,

[Signed]

HOWARD E. RONDTHALER.

SALEM CO-OPERATES WITH FUEL ADMINISTRATOR AND DEFERS OPENING

College opened for the Spring Term on January 16th; one week later than the regularly appointed date, in order to do its share in relieving the fuel situation. The following letter was sent out on January 2d to all students and members of the faculty.

President's Office.
January 2, 1918.

Dear Friend:

Salem Academy and College calls on its pupils and faculty for a form of patriotic service in coöperating to effect a saving of fuel at this time, when there is so great suffering abroad, and when all fuel should be diverted just as far as possible to the needs of those who have none.

We have upon our yards two car loads of steam coal, sufficient to operate the institution under normal circumstances for two months. Additional fuel is under contract.

By postponing the opening one week, namely, until Wednesday, January 16th, we can defer our future demand for coal indefinitely, which will enable our on-coming coal to be released where there is greater need.

We ask your patriotic coöperation with the understanding that all the necessary work for the term will be done as always.

We expect you promptly on hand, to begin work at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning, January 16th, just one week later, therefore, than has hitherto been announced.

This re-arrangement of dates will secure us not only the necessary fuel for comfortable living conditions, but, as above indicated, will make possible, through your patriotic coöperation, an important service in fuel conservation at a time when service is the watchword of every patriotic citizen.

Yours truly,

HOWARD E. RONDTHALER.

SALEM AND THE RED CROSS

In the recent successfully completed drive to secure 5000 members of the Red Cross in Winston-Salem, the College came to the front with one hundred per cent. membership among the faculty of the institution, and the Red Cross Flag has been hung in the office window, showing 96 crosses.

The third box of finished surgical dressings was returned to the Winston-Salem Chapter on December 15th. The "Twenty Sweaters in Thirty Days" were finished in very good shape. A number of students and members of the faculty took home with them at Christmas wool to be knitted during the vacation.

The work of the dining room girls deserves special mention. Besides the knitting which many of them are doing, they have been spending one afternoon a week, under Miss Carrie Maddry's direction, doing machine work on stitched muslin bandages which are a part of the Surgical Dressings Work. Knitting has also been started among the house girls.

In spite of the many and varied outside calls and heavy working schedules of the college girls, the work room meetings have been faithfully attended. Nearly every meeting has brought some new girl into the work, and all have worked together harmoniously. The spontaneous singing of Christmas carols by all the workers at the last two meetings before Christmas would indicate the cheerful spirit in which the work is done. We are looking forward to increased interest and work during this new year, partly from natural growth and partly as a result of the Red Cross Christmas drive.

EDITH A. SHAW.

INCOMING STUDENTS

The following new students have registered for the Spring Term: Gladys A Reich, Elkin, (Music Diploma); Mary Finch, Rustburg, Va., (Tenth Grade); Bertha and Willie Moore, Fork, S. ROBERT H. RICE, Managing Editor.

Up to the hour of going to press, the following classes, representing seventy-two per cent. of the total number communicated with, have either sent in reports or have notified us of their intention so to do:

'80, '81, '84, '86, '87, '88, '89, '92, '93, '94,
'95, '96, '97, '98, '99, '00, '01, '02, '03, '04,
'05, '06, '08, '09, '10, '11, '13, '14, '15, '16,
'17.

This is two per cent. increase over the number reporting at this date last year, and promises well for the success of THE ALUMNAE NUMBER.

If you have not heard from your President or Class Representative, send in the information about yourself direct to the Managing Editor of THE RECORD.

FORMER SALEM MUSIC DIRECTOR WINS NEW HONORS

Prof. Charles Sanford Skilton, Director of the Departments of Organ and Theory at the University of Kansas, who was at the head of Salem's Music Department, 1893-'96, is achieving new honors as a composer. The Zoellner Quartette have played his compositions with success all over the United States, and now the Cincinnati Orchestra has played his Indian Dances, and the New York Philharmonic will play this work during the season.

To the Officers and Members of the Branch Associations:

Dear Friends:

FEBRUARY is the month generally accepted as the time for holding Salem Day Reunions, and it is earnestly desired that on ANY suitable date during that month alumnae of Salem gather together at the various centers, now numbering Fifty-two.

From present indications Salem Day Reunions will be held with great heartiness this year, and your Committee urges that all alumnae be brought together sometime during the month without fail. Loyalty to the Salem ideal suggests to us the desirability of continuing the meetings along simple lines, eliminating undue expense and elaborate preparation.

An official report and communication will be sent to every group having meetings, and this report will review the progress and life of the institution during the past twelve months. No alumna should miss hearing this report read at the annual meeting, as otherwise it will be impossible to keep in close touch with Salem.

If it is desired by the Branches that a representative from the College be present it will be necessary to notify us not later than January 25th, so that arrangements can be made. It is understood, of course, that the presence of a representative is without expense to the local Branch.

If we can be of definite service in planning for your meeting, please let us hear from you.

With kindest regards, we are,

Yours, very cordially,

THE COMMITTEE ON ALUMNAE RELATIONS

TARBORO FIRST TO PLAN FOR "SALEM DAY"

Word has been received from Miss Lallah Cherry, of the Tarboro Branch Association, of the plan to hold a Salem Day meeting. At the request of the Tarboro Branch a representative from Salem will attend the meeting.

RALEIGH BRANCH TO MEET

Following close upon the heels of Tarboro comes word from Raleigh of the intention of the Branch in that city to celebrate Salem Day. A representative from the College will attend the meeting there.

MONROE BRANCH TO CELEBRATE

Miss Mary Stewart, President of the Monroe Branch, writes of the plan to have a meeting next month. As guests at the celebration the Branch will have a number of prospective students.

PHILADELPHIA BRANCH TO BE ORGANIZED

Through the influence of Mrs. G. C. Talbott (Bessie Riddick), Class of '98, now residing at Norwood, Penna., an effort will be made to organize the alumnae of Philadelphia and vicinity. All alumnae living in the immediate section are asked to write at once to Mrs. G. C. Talbott, Trites Avenue, Norwood Station, Penna. Norwood is located on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, 20 minutes ride from Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, and is accessible by trolley.

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR SPRING TERM

The Department of Hygiene plans to continue the regular indoor work for both College and Academy thruout the Spring Term. Outdoor work will take the form of hikes and separate elimination tennis tournaments, a basket ball tournament for the Academy and a track meet for the College. If time and funds permit it is the plan of the Department to organize field hockey and run a schedule of games in the Academy and the College.

SALEM GIRLS OF FORMER YEARS REPRESENTED IN THE ACADEMY

The following information was gathered by Miss S. E. Shaffner, Alumnae Editor of THE RECORD, and shows a large percentage of former students represented on the Academy Registration Book:

In the Academy—Baugham, Christine, Washington; sister, Pattie Baugham (Mrs. Henry McMullan). Bailey, Mary, Athens, Ga.; grandmother, Mary Dupree (Mrs. John A. Hunnicut); aunt, Nell Hunnicut (Mrs. Charles Eckford, Greenville, Ga.). Briscoe, Mace, Knoxville, Tenn.; great-aunt, Mattie A. Briscoe; aunt, Mattie B. Briscoe; aunt, Heler McMillan Briscoe. Chambers, Nell, Ft. Gaines, Ga; cousin, Corra Holland, (Mrs. J. W. Sutlive, Ft. Gaines, Ga.). Denny, Katherine, Red Springs; sister, Mary Denny. Dunn, Gertrude, Scotland Neck; mother, Annie Vaughan (Mrs. Balfour Dunn). Dobson, Lois, Augusta, Ga.; mother, Mrs. Hallie Palmer Dobson; aunt, Mrs. Ruby Palmer Lester. Finch, Nannie, Spring Hope; cousin, Fannie Perrow (Mrs. R. G. Robertson, Lynchburg, Va. Fleshman, Geraldine, Winston-Salem; mother, Mina Pepper (Mrs. T. S. Fleshman); cousin, Meta Kerner (Mrs. B. H. Marsh); cousin, Mary Lindsay, (Mrs. Joe Wearne) Harris, Eugenia, Dandridge, Tenn.; sister, Margaret Harris. Harris, Evelyn, Norwood; great-great-grandmother, Hannah Pines Ingram (Mrs. George Dunlap); great-grandmother, Eliza Crumps (Mrs. B. J. Dunlap); mother, Carrie Dunlap (Mrs. D. N. Tyson); cousins, Agnes Dunlap (Mrs. Jim Lilly), Verna Mae Dunlap (Mrs. Haywood Gaddy), Ethel Dunlay. Lambeth, Caroline, Thomasville; cousin, Ella Lambeth. Martin, Cassie, South Creek; cousin, Pattie Baugham, (Mrs. Henry McMullan, Washington). Mayo, Lucy, Tarboro; aunt, Alice Bryan (Mrs. M. L. Braswell); aunt, Nellie Bryan, Mrs. J. K. Newton); sister, Elizabeth S. Mayo (Mrs. L. B. Jones); sister, Evelyn J. Mayo (Mrs. W. L. Fleming); sister, Annie Lou Mayo; cousin, Lou Mayo Brown). Matthews, Elizabeth, Stoneville; grandmother, Mittie Matthews (Mrs. George King, Stoneville). Sawyer, Dorothy, Barker, N. Y.; aunt, Edith Sawyer (Mrs. Edythe N. Carrel, Greeley, Col.). Sessoms, Dorothy, Waycross, Ga.), aunt, Mrs. Pauline Sessoms Burckel, New York.

City. Sessoms, Sara, Waycross, Ga; aunt, Mrs. Pauline Sessoms Burckel. Smith, Irene and Ethel, Mocksville; cousin, Sallie Perdun Smith (Mrs. Arthur Hall, Los Angeles, Cal.). Stewart, Frances; mother, Mrs. Ada Petway Stewart. Vernon, Mazie, Cascade, Va.; cousin, Blanche Holt (Mrs. G. F. Gwynn, Mt. Airy). Williams, Sara, Freeport, Kansas; cousin, Gladys Grant, (Mrs. George Temple Harris, Morristown, Tenn.); 3rd cousin, Louise Forgey, Morristown, Tenn. Young, Arthur Mae, Charlotte; aunt, Laura Leslie, (Mrs. T. L. Ross).

In making up the list as above printed, it was found that Miss Julia Hairston, of Pine Hall, enjoys the distinction of perhaps having had more direct ancestors to receive an education at Salem than any other Academy pupil. The following information is contributed by Miss Hairston:

Great-great-great-grandmother, Ruth Hairston, daughter of Peter Hairston, of Stokes County, a member of the House of Burgesses before the Revolutionary War. She married Major Peter Wilson, a major in the Revolutionary Army.

Great-great grandmother, Agnes Wilson, married Sam Hairston, of Oak Hill, Va.

Great-aunts, Ruth Hairston and Alice Hairston, whose granddaughter, Elsie Simms, left Salem a few years ago.

Grandmother, Annie Elizabeth Lash, and her sisters, Lettie Lash, wife of Col. James P. Dillard; Laura Lash, wife of Capt. J. E. Gilmer, of Winston-Salem, and Powell Hughes Lash, who married Mr. Cabell Hairston, of Virginia. Grandmother Annie Elizabeth Lash married George Hairston, and after his death she married Col. Forney George. Her grandchildren, Laura Hughes Hairston (Mrs. Edwin Green Penn, of Martinsville, Va.), Elizabeth Lash Hairston (Mrs. J. P. Hunt, of Chatham, Va.,) are my half sisters. I am in Salem and hope to graduate here.

The daughters of Mrs. Cabell Hairston (Powell Hughes Lash) all came to Salem, viz.: Annie, Lettie, Loulie, Willie.

Different branches of my family have been educated in Salem, but I have not mentioned them.

GOLDSBORO PLANNING MEETING

Word comes from Goldsboro that the alumnae there will hold a Salem Day Meeting at the home of Miss Rowena Borden, ex-'12, and an enthusiastic member of the local Branch. A representative of the College has been asked to be present.

PROGRAM FOR SPRING TERM "MUSIC HOURS"

Dean H. A. Shirley, of the Department of Music, announces the following program of "Music Hours":

February 7—Subject: "Pre Revolution Music in the South."

February 14—Pupils' Recital.

Five Thursdays in Lent: Organ Recitals, with vocal assistants in the persons of Mrs. Nell Brushingham Starr, of Winston-Salem, and the Misses Baker, Woodbury, Lupo and Hine.

April 11—Pupils' Recital.

April 18—Subject: "Clara Louise Kellogg."

April 25—Children's Recital.

May 2—Pupils' Recital.

1911—Emily Kennedy (Mrs. Ralph V. Thurston) writes from Miami, Arizona: "I read THE ALUMNAE RECORD with great interest each month, and I am certainly proud of the splendid record Salem is making in all the war activities. It is no more than I expected, but, nevertheless, it makes me prouder of my Alma Mater. These are busy days for us all. I am very much interested in my knitting. Our little auxilliary on the Copper Company's grounds has done more work than any of the others around here. The Y. M. C. A. here turns its fine pool over to the ladies for an hour on two mornings of the week, and I have been attending since early summer. I have improved quite a bit, and am learning various fancy diving stunts. Hope you will have a pool in the new Gym. The enclosed check is to boost up the fund a wee bit."

—Miss Harriet Steele Lane, of Jamaica Plains, Mass, joins the Salem official family this month, coming to take the place of Miss Lucy Hadley, resigned.

Alumnae Notes

MISS S. E. SHAFFNER, ALUMNAE EDITOR

It is the purpose of this department not only to publish all timely facts of interest about alumnae—changes of residence, marriages, deaths, meetings, achievements, etc., but also to trace alumnae of whom the College and their classmates have no record since graduation, thus bringing the class histories up to date. Therefore items of information are solicited from all alumnae and their friends but especially are the secretaries of the associations and the secretaries of the classes requested to keep the editor informed. Notes on alumnae contributed every month will be greatly appreciated.

1907—In a letter, written to Dean Shirley, Miss Elsie Haury gives the following information concerning her sister, Mrs. J. Quiring (Dora Haury). “She and her family are still in Germany, as far as we know. According to cards we have occasionally received from them, thru friends in Denmark or Switzerland, they are faring well, and are treated kindly by the authorities, reporting to police headquarters once every two weeks by telephone. Last summer they took a trip from Berlin to South Germany, and for that they were obliged to secure a travellers’ permit.

1908—Mrs. Oscar Sappenfield (Pearl Barrier), 311 N. Graham Street, Charlotte, writes: “Enclosed please find 25 cents for my subscription to THE RECORD. I have been receiving copies for the past several months, and it is needless to say I have enjoyed them. They take me back to ‘old times,’ and each one is a happy reminder of the days I spent at dear old Salem.”

1911—Venetia Cox, Union Language School, Peking, China, writes to Dean Shirley: “Since coming to China I have gone back to my chief study in college and my greatest amusement and pleasure,—Music. You cannot realize how little there is out here. The Chinese have something they call music, which is nerve-racking to the Westerner, and very few of the foreigners out here play at all. So the little knowledge I have of it goes a very long way. It is constantly in demand. Pianos are not plentiful, as you know, and good ones are bad ones in a very short time on account of the climate. However, I have been successful in renting a small one,—such as it is,—and have it in my study here in this Chinese house. It is my most constant companion, and as I have done practically no piano practicing since leaving Salem six years ago I am trying to at least partially regain what I have lost. My last two years in America were spent at the organ, but there are none near me, only two in China that I know of, so I am using the piano entirely. There are many requests for me to help various people with lessons, even while I am here studying the language. Some want to do solo work, while others want to be able to play hymns, and some need help in theoretical work. Of course, I can do very little in a strange tongue, and with a very full schedule in the Language School, but I have four pupils at present and next year (1918) I shall have twenty-five. I hope on my furlough year to be able to take part of the Normal Course offered at Salem College, because I need it. The girls no sooner gather enough knowledge to play a simple hymn, after much practice, than they are given younger pupils to teach. As the Chinese have no sense of rhythm you can imagine some of the results. It makes one long to give their whole time to the developing of this musical sense, if such it may be called, but we can't always do it. My chief difficulty is in getting suitable music for the Chinese girls, both in the form of exercises or simple pieces,—there are no funds for this purpose, and very few of the pupils can afford to buy them. I know when I was taking music I accumulated a number of them which were of no more use to me as I progressed. I am wondering if some of the pupils in either the Academy or College Department may not have such an accumulation somewhere, and would like to contribute it to the Chinese. We would be so grateful for anything they could send us. A few songs also would be appreciated. Our students who study English enjoy trying them. With happy remembrance of my work under your supervision at Salem."

1913—Meledith Frazier writes to President Rondthaler from Wilson: "Every one in Wilson who knows about Salem loves it and wants to talk about it. So many have either been to Salem, or some of their relatives have, or they say that they are going to Salem. Mrs. Apache Brown is one of Salem's lovers. She was a student during the Civil War. She tells about the chestnuts the girls bought and placed in big sacks, and how they enjoyed eating them. She is a lovely, charming old lady, with beautiful white hair, always happy and cheerful, and loved by every one. Mrs. Nettie Washington, another friend, was not a Salem girl, but her mother went to school there. A daughter, Gladys Clark, now Mrs. Campbell Dance, attended Salem, and Mrs. Washington frequently visited the school, and often speaks of it and of the teachers whom she knew, the Misses Shaffner, Lehman and Chitty.

1911—Elsie Haury, President of '11, writes from Upland, Cal. : "I am very well again, and beginning to sing as usual. Am glad to be here instead of back East during that atrocious winter. While they are having 15 degrees below zero in New York we are enjoying midsummer weather at 80 degrees above."

Ex-1915—Christine McClung, of Salem, Va., writes: "There must have been a lively crowd at old Salem's Thanksgiving, judging by THE RECORD, and I would love to have been with you all. Give my regards to those I know—Miss Lou in particular."

1915—Salem girls of recent years will regret to learn of the sudden death of Mae Nickels at Staunton, Va. She was teaching at Fisherville, Va., was taken ill with pneumonia, rushed to the hospital at Staunton, and died there on December 15th. She was buried at the home of her parents in Bristol, Tenn.

1917—Rosebud Hearne writes from Cartagena, Colombia, South America: "Never did I think that I could enjoy THE ALUMNAE RECORD as much as I did yesterday. How I would love to step in for a few days and get the gossip, or isn't there any such thing in the Annex this year. It seems to me like the Freshman Class is the whole show." She views from her front door the ancient castle on the top of Popa Hill.

1903—Hebe Stein (Mrs. B. F. McGraw, of Jacksonville, Fla.,) is spending the winter with her sister in Omaha, Neb., 2921 Mason Street.

1894—Mrs. F. F. Smith (Robbie Kyle) is, during the winter, in New York City. Her address is 66 West 96th Street.

1908—Mrs. Cyril F. Elwell (Ethel Pullan) is again in Paris, at Hotel Raynaud, 20 Rue D'Antin, after several months' stay in Rome. She finds Paris much livelier than six months ago, owing to the influx of American soldiers, who are very popular in Paris.

Put Your Class in The Alumnae Number

1911—Mrs. James McGhee (Bessie Simmonds, of Charlotte,) is living in Parlin, N. J. Her husband is supervisor of Solvents (alcohol and ether manufacture).

Ex-'10—Florence Wyatt Walter is located at present at Hazard, the county seat of Perry County, in the heart of eastern Kentucky, the land of feuds, and where the scenes of nearly all of John Fox, Jr.'s books are laid "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is only a few miles from Hazard. Mr. Walter is a Virginian, is interested in coal mines, of which there are about forty in the section around Hazard.

1871—Mrs. Calvin S. Monroe, whose departure is mentioned under the head "Died" in this number, was Mary D. Campbell, a member of the Class of 1871 in Salem Female Academy, and a member of the Salem Branch Association of Rockingham, always devoted to Salem. Seven children, two sons and five daughters survive her. Her mother, Ann Simmons (Campbell) was a member of the Class of 1847.

Miss Pattie A. Monroe, of Rockingham, would like very much to hear from any of her mother's classmates. She writes: "Give my best wishes to Salem, which fitted my dear mother for a life of usefulness, and my love to the teachers who trained her wonderful memory.

—Our sympathy goes forth to our friend and alumna, Mrs. Albert L. Coble, of Statesville (Carrie F. Patterson), pupil and former teacher in Salem Academy and College, whose husband, ex-Judge Coble, succumbed to a stroke of paralysis during the hours of January 1st, 1918.

—We grieve with Mrs. Camille Willingham Izlar, whose little daughter, Marguerite Fries, given her for a day, was transplanted in Paradise, Dec. 18th, 1917.

—Miss Jennie Mae Plummer, teacher of Expression in Salem College, 1909—1913, spent Christmas with Marjorie Roth in Elkin. Together they came to Salem and spent New Year here. Miss Plummer is teacher of Expression in Mt. Vernon Seminary, Washington, D. C.

1916—Lessie Lemons Rogers writes from Dallas, Tex., giving her temporary address as 407 Sumpter Building. She speaks of a delightful trip through the West, visiting Chicago, Detroit and Cincinnati, and hopes to visit Salem before long.

1909—The following poem is by Flora G. Whittington, of Pfafftown. Captain Eustis, private secretary to G-n. Pershing, "somewhere in France", wrote her: "Gen. Pershing received your letter and desires me to thank you for the two little poems you were so good to send him." The letter was written Nov. 8th and reached her Nov. 30th, 1917.

TIDINGS

Dedicated to the North Carolina Soldiers

You have answered the call to the colors,
 You will fight for the Red, White and Blue.
 You have left loving friends, fathers, mothers,
 Who will pray for you oft the war through.

Mother's heart will be filled with great joy,
 When the mail brings a letter from you
 Loving lines that were penned by her boy,
 The lad who is brave, staunch and true.

Should the enemy's weapon assail you,
 Pierce with darts the strong body you hold,
 Ask a comrade at-arms to write for you,
 He to the dear ones the truth will unfold.

Should you fall while defending our colors,
 Fall to lie as ten thousand have lain,
 Let the life you have lived bear to others
 The tidings: All is well with the slain.

May the great King of Kings who reigns o'er us,
 Send us soon the sweet message again,
 That was brought by the angelic chorus,
 "Peace on earth and good will toward men."

FLORA G. WHITTINGTON.

COMMITTEE OF FIFTY ALUMNAE TO FORM BRANCH IN WINSTON-SALEM

Fifty enthusiastic alumnae in Winston-Salem have pledged themselves to form, on next February 2d, the Winston-Salem Branch of the General Alumnae Association. It is hoped by that date to get in touch with all former students of the institution residing in the city. The meeting will be held in the College Library, probably in the afternoon, the exact time to be announced later. At this meeting it is the intention of the Committee of Fifty to present plans for organization. The primary objects of the organization are: to renew the friendships of college days; to bring the members of the Association into active touch with the present day life of the student body; to acquaint the alumnae with the present high standards of the College and with the work of the departments; to bring about friendly relations with the fifty-two Branch Associations scattered thruout the North, East and South, and to be of definite service to the College. No money to be raised.

Dear Alumnae:—

My Salem Day greetings to you come this year with unusual emphasis upon the fact that you are the women who today are facing the many and intricate problems, domestic, social, and civic which arise from out our present chaotic world conditions. As I think of you scattered in so many centers it is my deepest satisfaction and pride to know that through you, your Alma Mater's touch and influence is being extended in the wise and thoughtful working out of these same problems in your own homes, your own social circles and your communities. It is my earnest wish that you, the Salem Alumnae, shall be more closely united in your groups in 1918 and that you shall individually and in groups consecrate yourselves to the immeasurable responsibility and opportunity which face the College women of today.

The college-year beginning in September 1917 has been one of definite growth and encouragement. We feel that our college girls are measuring up to a very high standard of womanhood and of scholarship. This expresses itself in a multitude of ways: through the more than successful living together in Room-Companies under an honor system of volunteer proctors and the ever watchful care of a House-mother, through the conscientious work of the Student Government Council, through the eager spirit of self-sacrifice in giving to the world's needs (our girls raising $1872.50 for the Student Friendship Fund through actual personal giving up of clothes, jewelry, prospective trips, and many other interesting economies), through the growingly helpful "big sister" attitude of these College girls towards the Academy girls, through the large Red Cross activities (the students and faculty combined having established their own Red Cross work-room in the basement "wash-rooms" of ancient fame), and in the increased vigor and concentration upon class-room work.

The Academy, as a distinct part of the institution, now entirely housed in historic South Hall, has its own Athletic Association and Y. W. C. A. Student Club, but is under the standard old-fashioned duty-keeping regime, two teachers being associated as colleagues in each Room-Company, in accordance with time-honored Salem custom.

We have succeeded in accomplishing a long-desired ideal, that of placing the youngest Room-Company, consisting largely of motherless little girls, in a separate home of their own under the motherly and loving care and supervision of Miss Elizabeth Heisler. To many of you this children's house is known as "the Cottage," and its separate porches, playground, and quiet location make it an ideal home for these little girls.

You will be interested to know that Miss Lehman, although in quite feeble health, retains her mental vigor, and her interest in College affairs. Her room in the Sisters' House is a rendezvous for all visiting old girls.

As in every college our food problem is a difficult one, but under the direction of a trained dietitian, one of our own domestic science graduates, we have been enabled to maintain the high standard of our boarding department.

The campus has been very beautiful beneath its blanket of snow this winter and the old pleasure-grounds' trees magnificently sheeted with ice, but the spring is near at hand and soon the familiar banana trees and palms will replace these wintry glories and the white violets surrounding the old fountain will reappear. The old College, ever new and yet in many ways still the same, is waiting to welcome you all whenever you come our way.

HOWARD E. RONDTHALER, President

February 9, 1918.

LETTERS FROM CLASS PRESIDENTS

(Whenever no State is mentioned after an address the State is N. Carolina.)

CLASS OF 1878

MAGGIE McDOWELL SILER, Weaverville.

"Looking down on me from the wall as I write is the group of the first, the very first class to graduate from Salem, the illustrious class of seventy eight. Seated in chairs are Prof. Wurreschke, Prof. Zorn, Miss Lehman and the dignified member of the class—Florence Moore; in front of them seated on the grass are Idà Rogers, Bettie Coppedge and Annie Pittman and standing back of them are Cynthia Swan, Lucy Sims and Maggie McDowell. Prof. Wurreschke has been called from labor to rest. Prof. Zorn is still living and dear Miss Lehman yet smiles benediction on us, part of her great company of girls to rise up and call her blessed and I do not believe she is ashamed of one of us. Addie Blum was a town girl, married Mr. Petree and lives not very far from Salem proudly happy of her bright interesting children. Rosa Mickey, Lula Fries, Annie De Schweinitz were the other town girls that came in so fresh and pretty every morning. Lucy Sims was the first of our class to marry, her husband being the celebrated editor of the Dallas News. Bettie Coppedge married a Methodist minister, Doctor Kilgore. They have an interesting family of children, all grown. Cynthia travelled in the Orient quite extensively and died unmarried. Florence Moore, Wellford, S. C., has never married. Your delinquent servant, Maggie McDowell, married the most saintly, scholarly of men, Rev. Jesse W. Siler, of the Presbyterian Church. He now lies under the shadows of Santa Rita in New Mexico. I have two stars on my service flag, and my dear Louise battling with the problems of teaching, of inclination and of duty deserves a whole constellation on her banner. I belong to the Presbyterian Church, the D. A. R., the Red Cross, and my school—the dearest pupils to be found. May I suggest, dear Record, that Salem get a Service Flag for her grand sons, while you print the Roster of their names, rank and situation. I would suggest that you ask Lucy Sims to write the class letter next year."

CLASS OF 1879

EMMA GREIDER LEHMAN, Bethania.

Alice Milligan (Mrs. J. F. Ramsey), Asheville. Husband Physician. Children: Elizabeth. Interested in education of Mountain Girls.

Ida Rogers (Mrs. J. S. Jones), 102 Merritts Ave., Atlanta, Ga. Children: Miss Laura Jones, teacher in Music Department at Salem College.

Emma Greider (Mrs. Egbert Lehman), Bethania. Moravian. Salem and Bethania Alumnae Associations. Bethania Betterment Association. Book Club.

Dear Classmates of 79: All these years since our happy school days it has been my privilege with Mrs. J. A. Vance, (Annie Pittman), together to represent at each joyous commencement season our class of 79. Circumstance may prevent our joint pleasure this year. Should not our Master see fit in these changing times to bring our small yet very happy members together again we are looking for that glorious reunion above when our Alma Mater gathering will be as precious as the family reunions. This happy thought is now bringing sunshine into many lives.

✓ Margaret Hardy (Mrs. Geo. S. West), 600 Marshall Ave., Norfolk. Entered Sept. 1876. Left June 1879. Husband, deceased March 1915. Children: William Paul Ballance. Episcopal. Remembrance and fondness for my Alma Mater will never fade and hope some day to visit the dear old spot.

CLASS OF 1883

KYLE PACE, Waco, Texas.

Kyle Pace, c/o "The Kyle", Waco. Entered fall of 1875. Left 1883. Presbyterian. Waco Public Library Association. Red Cross. Always interested in Salem and my love never grows less with the passing years. This is an age of doing things and with my daily routine of business life interspersed with the local duties of charity and civic work—to this cause of great labor, always wish I had ten times the hours to give; find the days far too short, besides "Father Time" gives the realization that one cannot accomplish so much as in the days of youth. May Salem Academy and College always flourish.

Pattie E. Beck, Winston-Salem. Entered 1877. Left 1883. Home Moravian.

Mary E. Powell (Mrs. J. H. Tucker), 27 Charlotte Street, Asheville. Entered 1881. Left 1883. Husband deceased. Children: Rev. J. Powell Tucker, Wallace Tucker. Baptist. My son is pastor at Rock Hill, S. C. My daughter Wallace is with me.

DORA ADAMS SHARP, New York City.

Richmond, Va., February 2, 1918.

"As 85 was my class the desire to be remembered with it is expressed in this note. It is with pleasure recalled that Miss Lehman told us it was one of the most harmonious classes she ever instructed. We responded as a unit to any calls made on us—we verified it in our large reunion and the avidity with which we receive tidings each of the other.”

Delphine Hall Hairston.

CLASS OF 1886

LULA McINTYRE CLARK.

Sallie Barber (Mrs. Will Ross), R. F. D. 2, Fort Mill, S. C. First member of class to answer. One son at Fort Caswell in Coast Artillery. Her oldest daughter teaching school in Burlington.

Otelia Barrow, Salem College. Private Secretary to President Rondthaler. Teacher of Stenography and Typewriting. Has charge of Alumnae Register.

Bettie Brown (Mrs. W. C. Brown), 5th and Spring, Winston-Salem.

Annie Fant (Mrs. F. M. Carey), Seneca, S. C.

Mary Gorrell (Mrs. H. L. Riggins), 607 Fifth, Winston-Salem. Pres. J. B. Gordon Chapter U. D. C. President Ladies Aid Aux. Y. M. C. A. Vice-Chairman Red Cross.

Dora Harris (Mrs. C. D. Ward), Advance. It was a pleasure to see Dora at the last Commencement. She looks as if the years had been good to her.

Lizzie Johnston (Mrs. E. L. Graves), Burlington. Our youngest member has been a grandmother for several years. Is very proud of her “first prize” grandson.

Sallie Jones (Mrs. Chas. L. Smith), 529 N. Wilmington, Raleigh. We would all be glad to hear from you, Sallie and Mollie Motley asks for your address.

Florence McCanness (Mrs. S. M. Pritchett), living with son, who has his father’s business position in Allendale, N. J. Wants to visit Salem.

Lula McIntyre (Mrs. Leslie B. Clark), spending the winter in Dallas, Texas but hopes to return to “The Shack”, her new home near Winston-Salem for the summer. She writes that Mr. Clark is much improved.

Flora McKay (Mrs. G. B. Sellars), Maxton.

Emma McRae (Mrs. Julius Mallonce), 709 E. Fourth,

Charlotte. Has four big boys and one little girl. Two boys graduated from Fishburne Military Academy, the third is still there. She hopes to send Emma to Salem.

Mollie Motley (Mrs. R. S. Plonk), Kings Mountain. Her twelve children are almost grown. One son is Supt. of large cotton mill in S. C., another book keeper in the same mill, two are at college and her daughter Ethel is teaching in Winston-Salem.

Mary Sue Motley (Mrs. Williams), Reidsville.

Daisy Murphy (Mrs. Vernon W. Long), 800 South 26th, Birmingham, Ala. Daisy wrote a delightful letter a year ago enclosing her photograph. Judging from both she is very happy.

Mary Peterson (Mrs. Chas. P. Ball), Box 995, Seminary Hill, Ft. Worth, Tex. Husband is Professor in the Southern Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas. She has one son.

Bessie Pfohl, 104 S. Main, Winston-Salem. Lives in the same little home and is fulfilling Mollie Tucker's prophecy that she would be "the old maid auntie of the class". Is very happy in the love of seven little nieces and seven little nephews.

Maggie Spencer (Mrs. Geo. H. Janney), 607 Monroe, Montgomery, Ala.

Annie Stokes (Mrs. T. T. Adams), 1837 Monument Ave., Richmond, Va.

Mollie Tucker (Mrs. L. P. Black), 1507 West Main, Medford, Ore. Spending the winter in Portland to be near her daughter in college. Elder son is a dentist in Chicago. The younger son is in the army. Mollie says she is trying to feel patriotic but her heart aches and she needs all the cheering possible.

Julia Walker (Mrs. W. L. O'Connell), 315 N. Poplar, Charlotte. Since her husband's death in 1902 Julia has been living with her father. Has two grown daughters and one grown son.

Laura Reid (Mrs. J. H. Gooch), Stem, Granville County.

Jennie Williamson (Mrs. Edwin R. Overman), 100 So. Fulton, Salisbury. She writes "To turn to 86 in memory and youth's golden pages is such a delight. I know that I am growing old. I throw a kiss to my dear Alma Mater across the years. I have returned in loving remembrance and gratitude to my own true love and again am following the trail of girlhood over the old Salem Academy days, the old trail that is perpetually new and young and fragrant. All my love to the girls of 86."

The class letters have given so much pleasure to those of us who have read them that we are going to pass them on as quickly as possible, hoping that those who have not responded this year will be moved to do so when they feel the warmth of the affection expressed in all. Miss Lehman, Misses Lou and Sallie Shaffner and Bishop Rondthaler may claim a great share of the love too. Since our last record appeared Sudie Nelson has been called away. Who that reads her letter will fail to recall her constant good humored kindly heart and to feel that for Sudie the summons must have been a happy one.

(Signed) Bessie Pfohl, Secretary.

Died in Winston-Salem, North Carolina
January 12th.

Since it has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to call Julia Peebles Richardson, a second member of our class of 1909, and a girl we may recall, who was endowed with very gentle and loveable trait of character, I wish in behalf of our entire class, to dedicate the following lines to her memory:

Her years were brief and sorrows too,
As the dew of dawn 'neath morning's sun;
The life so pure and gentle and sweet
On earth has ended; in heaven begun.

God plucks the lilies from earth's green fields,
His heavenly mansions to adorn,
They fade not but forever live
To shed their fragrance about his throne.

Salem Day Celebrated With Increased Enthusiasm

FIFTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED BY MANY BRANCHES.

The month of February was marked by increased enthusiasm on the part of alumnae in connection with the various Branch Meetings in many sections. The meetings were well attended, the programs were of great interest and the splendid spirit shown by former students was a source of great inspiration.

In addition to the four new Branches in process of organization—Chicago, Philadelphia, Leaksville, Wadesboro,—the Winston-Salem Branch was organized with a charter membership of close to 200 members.

EIGHTY-SIX YEAR OLD ALUMNA CELEBRATES SALEM DAY.

The following letter was received from Mrs. Harriet Gaines Bruton, class of 1848, now living at Mt. Gilead, N. C.:
February 1st, 1918.

Dear Friends:—No one living near me to meet with me I will write to tell you I am still living. Was 86 on the 15th of January. Can walk around but use a cane as I am easily tripped up and cannot catch myself, but I am thankful for what I have. My health is good for one of my age. I cannot hear very well but my sight is good with glasses and I can make tatting and other fancy work. It employs me all the better for having something to do. I wish Salem College and all connected with it a pleasant and successful New Year.

Harriet Gaines Bruton.

WINSTON-SALEM BRANCH ASSOCIATION FORMED.

The Winston-Salem Chapter of the Salem College Alumnae Association was organized Monday afternoon, Feb. 4th, in the College library. About 200 were present.

President Rondthaler spoke a few words of welcome and introduced Dean Shirley, who took charge of the meeting.

Mr. Shirley gave a short account of the organization of the Alumnae Association which was formed in 1886 with Bishop Rondthaler as president and with forty-six members.

In 1912, an Alumnae Relations Committee was organized consisting of Miss L. C. Shaffner chairman, Miss Grace Starbuck and Miss Otelia Barrow. Later Mrs. Leslie Clark, Mr. Shirley and Mr. Rice were added, the latter performing the duties of secretary.

In June, 1917, there were 52 branch associations actually organized, and thus far this year five more have been formed.

The objects of these branches are, 1st: the renewal of college friendships; 2nd: the getting in touch with present day conditions in the college, especially the changes in curriculum, which changes and advances have been going on for many years; 3d: helping your Alma Mater by putting the college in touch with girls going to college.

Mr. Shirley then called for nomination for temporary chairman and Miss Erma Bailey was appointed, who then selected a nominating committee consisting of Miss Etta Shaffner, Mrs. Chas. Creech and Miss Katherine Graham. This committee presented the following names: Miss Erma Bailey, president; Mrs. E. L. Pfohl, vice-president; Miss Louise Hine, secretary; Miss Grace Starbuck, chairman of the executive committee. These were all unanimously elected.

The following program was then listened to with great interest:

Miss Ada Siske, '18, and Miss Eunice Hunt, '19, spoke on Student Self Government.

Miss Stipe next explained the Honor System as in force in the college.

By all three speakers, it was made evident that this system of self-government is strongly supported and is bringing gratifying results.

Mrs. Rondthaler then gave a few minutes talk on the life of the younger children in the school, who, in school hours, are under the supervision of Miss Vogler, Miss Morrison and Miss Hart, and in the home life are cared for and mothered by Miss Elizabeth Heisler, whom they affectionately know as "Mother Elizabeth."

Duty-Keeping in the Academy was presented by Miss Ada Allen, and Miss Katherine Graham told of the Day School Department. Speaking from the fullness of an eight years' experience, she unmistakably impressed the audience with the fact that the day pupils are a vital part of the school.

Miss Barton told of the standing of the college in respect to curriculum. Salem is a member of the Association of the Colleges of America, membership in which association depends on entrance requirements. The Association of College Women has made a printed statement that the graduates of Salem, of 1917, completed four years of College work. The Department of Education, Washington, D. C., has classed Salem in group A of colleges in North Carolina, only one other Womans College in the State being placed in this group.

Mr. Heath discussed the Academy grades and stated that our standards can be independent because this school is not a State institution. He spoke of the special opportunities offered by the Departments in connection with the regular grade work, and also mentioned that the aim of the institution is not to lose the individual in the crowd.

Dean Shirley presented the Music Department, which compares favorably in equipment with many larger and wealthier colleges.

Mrs. Meinung ably presented the Home Economics Department, which consists of far more than a course in cooking.

Miss Hall spoke briefly of the work in the Art Department and brought an exhibit to amplify her talk.

The business course was next taken up by Miss Barrow, who told of the enlargement of the department, the aim toward which the instruction tended, and the credit allowed for this work; also citing instances of the good positions held by the graduates of this Department.

Miss Haines talked on Athletics and the progress made in this line of work, mentioning the outlook for a new gymnasium and the hope that it might soon be realized. Of the fund for this building $1,200.00 has been raised, which is now invested in Liberty Bonds.

The library was presented by Miss Blair, who spoke of the large number of girls who daily work there and make ample use of the books, 6,322 volumes, in the preparation of their lessons.

Miss Yerrinton next spoke of the Red Cross and the aim of the girls to do their utmost in leisure moments for their country. The heatless Mondays have been utilized for additional work along this line.

Greetings were brought from the General Association by Miss Adelaide L. Fries, and the meeting closed with a few hearty remarks by Bishop Rondthaler, who ended his affectionate talk by saying he was sure "Our blessed Lord and Saviour is walking in our midst, and adding to the beauty of our work by His own benediction."

President Rondthaler then urged the many alumnae present not to return home till they had visited the various departments of the institution.

TELEGRAMS AND LETTERS OF GREETING.

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 4, 1918.

Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, Winston-Salem, N. C.

We, the loyal daughters of Salem, members of the Columbia Branch send greetings.

Washington, N. C., Feb 2.

President Howard E. Rondthaler, Winston-Salem.

Best wishes for dear old Salem.

Emma Carter Moss.

Glen Ridge, N. J., 60 Douglas Road, Jan. 30, 1918

The members of our Branch send loving greetings to our dear Alma Mater and to the Alumnae everywhere.

Louise Bahnson Haywood.

Morristown, Tenn.

The Morristown Branch sends happiest greetings and best wishes for a wonderful "Salem Day."

Olive Rogers Pope, President.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Tho on Jan. 24 the ground was covered with snow to a depth of several inches, eight loyal members of the Charlotte Branch met with Miss Bertha Wohlford, at her home in Myers Park to celebrate Salem Day. While the girls were gathering we spent our time puzzling out the answers to a guessing contest, the award, a panoramic view of Salem College being awarded to Mrs. C. A. Torrence. Then followed the business part of our meeting which was opened by the singing of the Alma Mater. We were more than delighted to have President Rondthaler with us again and after roll call and reading of the minutes he spoke on "Salem College in War Time" and told of the deep interest being taken in Red Cross work and other forms of war relief work by the student body. After Dr. Rondthaler's inspiring address, refreshments were served and some Salem College literature distributed, each member promising to introduce it into the home of a prospective student. Those present were: Mrs. Alma Whitlock Anderson, Mrs. Elizabeth Davis Trotter, Mrs. Julia Walker O'Connell, Mrs. C. A. Torrence, Mrs. Anna Chreitzburg Wyche, Miss Fannie Little, Miss Rose Hawkins, Miss Bertha Wohlford. The old officers were re-elected.

Bertha Wohlford, 10.

GOLDSBORO, N. C.

The Salem Branch Association of Goldsboro held its annual meeting Thursday afternoon, Jan. 31st, with Miss Verna Griffin on East Elm Street. The house was attractively decorated to suggest our Alma Mater, Salem pennants being in evidence, and lovely baskets of yellow flowers adding much to the scene. We were fortunate in having with us for the occasion a representative direct from the college—Mr. E. J. Heath. The meeting was an informal one and was very much enjoyed by all those present. When the crowd had gathered we joined together in singing the "Alma Mater", Miss Maggie Powell at the piano. The roll was then called as follows: Mrs. Henry Lee (Martha Williams); Mrs. Dr. Spicer (Betty Williams); Mrs. John Powell (Bessie Pegram); Mrs. Sam Bridgers (Agnes Stallings); Mrs. A. W. Falkener (Mary Miller); Mrs. N. E. Bradford (Clyde Peacock); Mrs. Dr. Linville (Fan Broadfoot); Mrs. Frank Short (Kate Powell); Mrs. Jewell (Sallie Darden); Mrs. Frank Daniels (Rosa Powell); Mrs. Floyd Uzzell (Van Castex); Roland Castex, Maggie Powell, Verna Griffin, Daisy Jenkins, Inez Miller, Margaret Darden, Louise Powell, Rowena Borden, Georgia Davis, Mrs. Jack Cox (Miss Potts), Hattie Dewey. Since our meeting last year two of our members have moved from Goldsboro—Mrs. Hedrick and Mrs. Blanche Nicholson Webb. Mr. Heath read greetings from President Rondthaler and then constituted himself a bureau of general information for the benefit of us all. Needless to say there were numberless questions and he proved himself quite equal to the occasion. We found that we have from our number five prospective students for Salem during the next several years—Mary Miller and Sarah Falkener, 9 and 7 years, Hilda and Nancy Bridgers, 10 and 3 years and Claudia Bradford, 8 years. The same officers are retained for another year:—Miss Hattie Dewey, President; Miss Verna Griffin, Secretary. Our hostess served delicious refreshments, Salem colors again being in evidence. The gathering dispersed after having spent an afternoon most pleasantly together in the talking over of old times.

RALEIGH, N. C.

The Raleigh Chapter of the Salem College Alumnae Association met Friday afternoon, February first, with Mrs. Charles U. Harris, President. Those present were: Mrs. Charles N. Goodno, Lillie Spencer, 1902. Mrs. Chas. Lee Smith, Sallie Jones, 86. Mrs. Jos. E. Wearn, Mary Lindsay, 98. Mrs. Chas. U. Harris, Saidee Robbins, 08. Mrs. Clarence Poe, Alice Aycock, 07; and Miss Jane Ward, member of the faculty in 1900. We were delighted to have with us Mr. E. J. Heath of the College who gave us some very interesting accounts of the work of the students and the part they are taking to aid in war relief work. After an hour spent in delightful reminiscences of our college days, Mrs. Harris served appropriate refreshments of coffee, sugar cake and Christmas cakes.

Alice Aycock Poe, 07, Secretary.

WASHINGTON, N. C.

Mrs. Junius D. Grimes was the charming hostess to the "Salem Girls" yesterday afternoon. The meeting which is an annual event was presided over by the President, Mrs. Sam B. Etheridge. Greetings from Dr. Rondthaler were read and enjoyed. It was decided to undertake special efforts to secure prospective students. Mrs. Geo. Hackney and Mrs. John D. Gorham, recent visitors to the college, told of the many changes which have taken place since their school days. Miss Glennora Rominger, our county demonstrator, an alumna of Salem, was the guest of the chapter. During the afternoon Mrs. Grimes assisted by her house guest, Mrs. Stuart Gual, served tea and sandwiches. Those present were Mesdames Pattie Baugham McMullan, Hattie Jones Carrow, Linda Moore Etheridge, Lena Bell McIlhenry, Marie Jones Carter, Eva Hassell Hackney, Reba Dumay Gorham, Misses Glennora Rominger, Caddie and Mary Fowle.

MORRISTOWN, TENN.

The second meeting of the Morristown Branch was held on Saturday, February second, with its President, Mrs. Elgin Pope (Olive Rogers). It was a very enthusiastic meeting and was well attended despite the adverse weather conditions. Mrs. Frank Brown (Marguerite Tay) and Mrs. Henry Baker (Rena Brown) of Greenville motored down thru a driving snow storm to join our Branch. "Alma Mater was sung and the greetings and report from Dr. Rondthaler read. We regretted exceedingly that four of our members were unable to be present, Miss Sue Crouch, 64, Mrs. Lady Neal, Mrs. Bruce McGuffin (Marie Taylor) and Miss Ruth Hodge. Many interesting and amusing incidents of Salem life were related and greatly enjoyed. Miss Lehman, Misses Lou and Sallie Shaffner, and dear Bishop were recalled with loving memory. Some of the members brought their knitting so Red Cross work was not forgotten even at a Salem meeting. The officers elected were: President, Mrs. Cecil McClister (Louise Bushong); Secretary, Mrs. Elgin Pope (Olive Rogers). At the close of the meeting light refreshments were served and plans were made for a meeting early in the fall so that it will be possible for our older members to be present. Those at the meeting were Louise Forgey, 1912, Louise Bushong McClister, 1915, Marguerite Tay Brown, 1908, Gladys Grant Harris, 1914, Rena Brown Baker, 1909, Olive Rogers Pope, 1911.

Olive Rogers Pope, Sec.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

"Salem Day" dawned clear and cold but nothing like the long to be remembered one of last year. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Joe Fox (Louise Harper), class of 1903. She owns her own home in the suburbs of the city. We were met at the door with a hearty handshake and a warm welcome and made to feel at home at once. There were only seven girls present. So many of our number live in the nearby towns and these winter days are hard to leave home for long rides. The articles sent from the college were read and the greetings were enjoyed and appreciated. We elected Mrs. Andrew Howell President in place of Mrs. Harper who will spend sometime in Winston-Salem. I was made Secretary again. With best wishes from our Wilmington Branch to all at Salem.

Maude Bullock, Sec.

COLUMBIA, S. C.

The alumnae of Salem Academy and College held an interesting meeting Feb. 4th in the parlors of the Hotel Jerome with the following ladies present: Mrs. Bethune Glass (Georgia Bowe) President, Mrs. J. A. Seaber (Ella Shore) Secretary, Mrs. J. W. Marshall (Agnes Erwin), Mrs. Ben Lee Hamilton (Gladys Ramsey), Mrs. A. T. Willis (Mary Turner), Mrs. J. Ed Mendenhall (Cora Redding), Mrs. W. R. Moody (Virginia Bryant), Mrs. Ida L. Graham of Boston. After singing the "Alma Mater" the alumnae heard a cordial letter and college news from the President, Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, following which they sent this telegram to the institution which they love: "We the loyal daughters of Salem, members of the Columbia Branch, send greetings". President Rondthaler in his letter urged the alumnae to see to it that they unite in 1918 even more closely than in the past. He gave an account of the Red Cross activities of the faculty and students and filled his communication with college incidents with which the "old girls" were interested.

—Columbia State.

DURHAM, N. C.

Mrs. W. E. Lipscombe (Nonie Carrington) was hostess to the members of the Durham Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association. The meeting was held at her home on Watts Street on the afternoon of Feb. 6th at 2:30. The rooms were prettily decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. Mr. R. H. Rice, representative of Salem College and Academy made a delightful talk. Mrs. T. E. Cheek and Mrs. W. M. Piatt sang a duet and several solos. Salem Songs were sung by all the old students and literature and pictures of the campus were distributed among the guests. A delicious salad course was served at the close of the afternoon.

Those present were: Mesdames Sue Sheets Snow, Ruth Kilbuck Patterson, Georgia Farthing Horton, Helen Griffin Roberson, Ollie Snow Hornaday, Lizzie Taylor Cheek, Marion Sheppard Piatt, Estelle Harward Upchurch, Lucy Teague Fassett, Misses Mary Hooker, Mary Venable, Nannie Lou Norwood, Mary Oliver, Lelia Greene Davis, Mary Louise Howell. Mrs. W. T. Carrington assisted her daughter in entertaining.

Estelle Harward Upchurch, Sec.

ROANOKE, VA.

The alumnae of Salem College, Salem, N. C. met on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 7th, with Mrs. L. J. Hayes (May Brower), in Raleigh Court. A visitor from the College, Mr. R. H. Rice, was present, and a letter was read from the President of the College to the alumnae association. Several interesting experiences of life at the school in the days immediately following the civil war were told by Mrs. Nettie Wilson Hoffman, who was a pupil at the College in those troublous times.

The following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Kelly Rainey Davis; Secretary, Miss H. Elizabeth Burgess.

Small pennants, in the colors of the school were distributed, and for refreshments typical Moravian sugar cake and coffee were served, with salted almonds and mints, the latter carrying out the color scheme of yellow and white. It is our idea and intention to serve this sugar cake and coffee at each annual "Salem" day meeting as a fitting reminder of our school days.

Several new members were admitted to the association at this meeting. Those present included: Mrs. Carrie Greer Hill; Mrs. L. J. Hayes, Mrs. Lillian Perry Childress, Mrs. Nannie McGhee Hege, Mrs. Kelly Rainey Davis, Mrs. Eileen Dudley Parrish, Mrs. Maidie Howard Trenor, Mrs. Nettie Wilson Hoffman and Mrs. Berta Robertson Airheart; Misses Pauline Stikeleather, H. Elizabeth Burgess, Christine McClung, F. B. Scoggin.

MARTINSVILLE, VA.

In spite of the very inclement weather, the home of Mrs. Thomas N. Barbour presented a most attractive scene on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 2, when seven members of the Martinsville Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association met for an annual meeting. As the guests arrived they were presented with miniature Salem pennants sent from the college. Those present were: Mrs. B. F. Barrow (Judith Sheffield, Mrs. J. W. Jones (Loula Grogan), Mrs. T. N. Barbour (Lizzie Smith), Misses Margaret Spencer, Mable Dudley, Mildred Stephens, and Mrs. Edwin Green Penn (Laura Hairston). Two patrons of the school were present in the persons of Mrs. A. M. Dudley, and Mrs. S. H. Self. It was a great disappointment to us not to have had Mr. Rice with us as we anticipated. Salem's "Alma Mater" was sung and the literature sent was read with much interest. In an informal way incidents in our "Salem Days" were told. Our oldest member, Mrs. J. T. W. Hairston (Elizabeth Perkins Hairston), phoned that she had looked forward to coming but due to the falling snow was afraid to venture out. Mrs. Buchanan (Mary Spencer) is spending the winter in Florida. Mrs. Rufus Penn (Lizzie Spencer), is at present visiting relatives in North Carolina. Alice Simmons is teaching at Leatherwood, this county. Mildred Stephens is taking a special course in music at Hollins. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her attractive little daughters Mary and Martha Barbour. We said good bye after two delightfully spent hours and left with our hearts warmed anew with affectionate interest in all that pertained to the welfare of our dear Alma Mater. Mrs. Barrow invited us to meet with her on Feb. 3, 1919.

Laura Hairston Penn, Sec.

MONROE, N. C.

For the past three weeks we have had only rain, sleet and snow but we all, the Alumnae, braved the weather and had a most delightful and enthusiastic meeting with Misses Rebecca and Lillian Stack on Thursday, Jan. 31st. Many prospective students were invited to this our sixth meeting since the Branch was organized and a delightful time was had by every one present. The Misses Stack had an interesting program and as usual Salem was discussed from beginning to end. Each one present told of Salem College when she was there and of course there were many differences and much laughter and merriment aroused by the contrasts. We only have six members now but the six are live members. The following young ladies are almost positive of attending Salem this coming year: Miss Ruth Houston, Miss Hannah Blair, Miss Gerard Stack, and Miss Katherine Shute, all of this city and from our most prominent families.

Miss Mary Stewart, Pres.

TARBORO, N. C.

The meeting of the Tarboro Branch Alumnae Association was held on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 5th, at the beautiful old southern home of Mrs. Martha Hyman Phillips, class of 1854. Mrs. Kate Baker Staton, class of 1866, and President of the Branch opened the meeting with prayer, followed by roll call, reading of President Rondthaler's letter and greetings from Miss Lehman read by Mrs. Louise Wilson Clark, 1907. Mr. R. H. Rice, representative from Salem spoke of the changes and improvements at the institution and many questions were asked by the members present. Miss Thompson, head of the English Department of the Tarboro High School and a graduate of the Emerson School of Expression, Boston, recited with splendid effect a touching little story of civil war times. The class song composed by Mrs. Kate Baker Staton was then sung by the Branch members after which Miss Lallah Cherry read her original tribute of love and affection composed for the meeting in 1917. The election of officers resulted in Mrs. J. W. Ashburn, (Mattie Walston, 85) being chosen President and Miss Lallah Cherry, Sec. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughters. The meeting was brought to a close with the reading of a beautiful prayer for those in the service of our country and the singing of "America". An interesting feature of the occasion was the presence of Mrs. Margaret Baker McNair, class of 1854 who came from Norfolk especially to attend the celebration. Those present were: Mrs. Kate Baker Staton, 66, Mrs. Margaret Baker McNair, 54, Mrs. Martha Hyman Phillips, 54, Mrs. Mary Hester Howard, 56, Mrs. Mary Royal Fountain, 07, Miss Annie Lou Mayo, 1916, Miss Lallah Cherry, 1913, Mrs. Louise Wilson Clark, 1907, Mrs. Mary Keehln Simmons, 1907, Miss Lucy Mayo, 1918, Miss Annie Hughes Wilkinson, 1912, Miss Beulah Shore, 1914, Miss Thompson, Mrs. W. A. Hart, Mrs. Ada Bass, Mrs. Blanche Williams.

MT. AIRY, N. C.

Salem Day was observed by the alumnae of Salem College and Academy in Mount Airy, by an enthusiastic meeting at Hotel Jenkins with Miss June Jenkins as hostess, Saturday Feb. 2. The program follows:

"Alma Mater". Remarks by the President, Mrs. J. A. Hadley. Greetings from Dr. Rondthaler, read by Miss Jamie Hadley. Piano Solo, Miss Mary Hannah. Reading, Miss Nell Rousseau. Vocal Solo, Miss June Jenkins. "From Seniors to Alumnae," Miss Alma Yokley. Piano Solo, Mrs. R. T. Joyce. "Salem of Today", Salem Songs, Miss Lucy Hadley. "My Country tis of Thee", by members of the Branch. Those present were: President, Mrs. J. A. Hadley, Swannanoa Brower, 90, Mrs. R. T. Joyce, Alice Gilmer, Misses Alma Yokley, Irene Smith, Mary Hannah, Lillie May George, Carma George, Nell Rousseau, Jamie Hadley, 15, Lucy Hadley, 14, Jnue Jenkins.

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.

The meeting of the Rocky Mount Branch Association was held at the home of Miss Lucile Rose, 15, on Monday afternoon, Feb. 4th. Many of the members were prevented from attending due to the severe weather and impassable roads but the seven alumnae who gathered together to celebrate the day were full of enthusiasm asking many questions of the representative from Salem College, Mr. R. H. Rice, and expressing anew their love for Alma Mater. President Rondthaler's letter was read, together with communications from Bishop Rondthaler and Miss Emma Lehman. The "Alma Mater" was sung by all present and the winning class songs listened to with much interest. Delicious sandwiches and cocoa were served by the hostess, Miss Rose. Those present were: Mrs. Molly Dautry Curl, 58, Misses Lucile Rose, 15, Beulah Shore, 15, Annie Sorsby, 12, Annie Hughes Wilkinson, 14, Ruth Wood of Enfield, 16.

SALISBURY, N. C.

The Salisbury Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association held its annual meeting with Miss Jennie Holmes Snider, on Monday afternoon, Feb. 4th. The meeting was a large and enthusiastic one. A letter from President Rondthaler was read giving a review of the past year. This was heard with keen interest by the local alumnae who are proud of the achievements and growth of their Alma Mater. Miss Kathleen Heilig read an account from the Winston-Salem Journal telling of the formation of a Branch Association in that city. The program ended with the singing of the "Alma Mater" after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

WILSON, N. C.

Mrs. R. B. Fleming (Nannie Briggs) was hostess to the Salem Alumnae of Wilson on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 2 at 3:30. Even tho a very few Salem girls were present on account of the disagreeable weather, it was an enthusiastic meeting. President Rondthaler's letter was read by Mrs. Doane Herring and enjoyed and especially did we appreciate the greeting from Miss Lehman. The afternoon would have been considered perfect if only Miss Sallie Shaffner could have been with us as expected. After the program a delicious salad course was served amid the usual "do you remembers" of Salem days. Those present were: Mrs. Doane Herring, E. L. Tarkenton, Willie Welfare, Alvis Patterson, H. C. Dance, R. B. Fleming, Misses Meledieth Frazier, Minnie Deans, Mary Connor Herring.

Gladys Campbell Dance.

KERNERSVILLE, N. C.

The annual meeting of the Salem College Alumnae was held on Saturday afternoon Feb. 2 at the "Plunkett Place" the home of Mrs. H. E. Shore. On account of the snow storm which raged all the afternoon it was impossible for many of the members to be present but the occasion was a most happy one and the atmosphere of Salem pervaded the home. Mrs. Shore had arranged her decoration of ferns and potted plants artistically and pennants in yellow and white were most suggestive. The inspiring letter from Dr. Rondthaler was read and thoroly appreciated by everyone present. To absent members Mrs. Shore read the letter of greeting over the telephone. The program arranged was not carried out in full owing to the absence of many of the girls. The musical feature of the meeting is always stressed as many of the members have made a specialty of music during their stay at Salem. On Saturday afternoon Miss Hellen Shore sang two lovely solos and Miss India McCuis-ton delighted her hearers with two piano numbers. Miss Erie Stuart gave an appropriate reading. The "Alma Mater" was sung and this is always an inspiration. There was a discussion in regard to local prospective girls and a number of names suggested. The officers were re-elected as follows: President, Mrs. H. E. Shore, Vice-President, Miss Maud Kerner, Secretary, Mrs. D. L. Donnell, Musical Director, Miss Tilla Harmon. The hostess, assisted by her daughter Miss Hellen Shore, served tea during the afternoon. Her hospitality was thoroly appreciated by the association and was greatly enjoyed by all. The sad death of one of the musical members of the association which occurred recently was a great sorrow to her sister Salem girls. Stella was present at last year's alumnae meeting and played a piano solo. Other members of the Kernersville Branch are: Misses Tilla Harmon, Maud Kerner, Hellen Shore, Estelle Korner, India McCuiston, Erie Stuart, Mrs. W. C. Stafford (Floy Rights), Mrs. Bernard Stafford (Annie Laurie Lowry), Mrs. J. P. Atkins (Addie Kerner), Mrs. Wm. Porter (Annie Kerner), Miss Annie Greenfield, Mrs. Philip Fontaine (Jessie Kerner), Mrs. Lauriston Hill (Hattie Bynum), Mrs. Sue Beard (Sue Phillips), Mrs. Irving Hankins (Ina Davis), Mrs. D. L. Donnell (A. Dore Korner).

Dore Korner Donnell, Sec.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

The Elizabeth City Branch of Salem Alumnae Association was entertained most delightfully on Feb. 6th by Miss Harriet Glover. As we entered the room the first thing that met our eyes was a large Salem pennant, bringing back to our minds other days when Salem pennants met our eyes on every side. After singing "Alma Mater" greetings from Dr. Rondthaler were read. Then followed many remembrances of dear old Salem days interspersed with the clicking of knitting needles and much laughter. Miss Glover assisted by her charming mother whose grandmother was also a Salem girl, served us a most delicious salad course in which the Salem colors were carried out in every detail. Our hostess sang several lovely selections for us and we departed feeling that we had almost had a visit to Salem itself.

Those present were: Mrs. William Skinner (Julia Wood), Mrs. M. Leigh Sheep (Gertrude Foreman), Mrs. Harry Banks (Belle Hughes), Mrs. Francis Wilson (Bessie Hughes), Mrs. T. B. Cook (Mary Wood), Mrs. L. Roscoe Foreman (Mary Culpepper), Miss Bessie Weatherly, Miss Annie Weatherly, Miss Harriet Glover, Miss Helen Wood, Mrs. W. T.

Old (Margaret Hanes (of Norfolk, Va.,) Mrs. Earl Bigelow (Mary McMillan), Lahoya, Cal.

NINETEEN EIGHT IN THE WAR COUNTRY.

Ethel Pullan (Mrs. C. F. Elwell), 20 Rue de Antin, Paris, France, writes as follows: "The November Alumnae Record arrived yesterday and reminded me that you would probably be sending the usual card out and I am writing early so if there is anything in my letter you choose to add to the 08 letter you will have it in time. We have just returned here after six most enjoyable months in Rome, Italy. I was sorry to leave as the weather was delightful and I made many friends there. Mr. Elwell returned here to take up other work. Unfortunately this cannot be made known until after the War and when I tell you he built the largest wireless stations in the world at Rome, it may be censored. We are especially proud of the fact that he was asked to build it and right in rival's domain (Marconi being the rival). We visited all the interesting spots in Rome, spent two weeks at Sorrento opposite Naples and in full view of Vesuvius. We visited the wonderful ruins of Pompeii. We were in Italy during the great retreat and it was a sad time but the Italians have wonderful recuperating powers and since France and England have sent so much help they have regained confidence. Our hotel was crowded with refugees from Venice. Many had left valuable properties, pictures and treasure in their palaces. We find Paris much livelier after six months absence, due to the influx of Americans with American money. One sees many officers and soldiers. My family remains the same. My eldest Dorothy, 6 years, goes to a French school and has become a very good linguist. I am taking more French lessons but she bids fair to beat me. Dudley and Volda grow like weeds as all children seem to do between two and five. Greetings to the girls of 1908."

Alice Witt (Mrs. Clarence Carmichael), 224 W. Glenwood Ave., Knoxville, Tenn. Entered fall 1909. Graduated 1912. Husband, Builders Supplies. Presbyterian. Instructor in Surgical Dressings. Red Cross. Am working nearly every day at American Red Cross Headquarters in surgical dressings.

TO THE ALUMNAE:

In today's mail comes a letter from Texas from which I must quote a sentence:

"Now that Spring is almost a reality (in fact, it is Spring down here), I just feel that I must get back to that campus, and watch and enjoy all the many shades of green as they appear, and then pick violets as of old over on the hill."

And I imagine that many other Salem girls are similarly thinking campusward in these wonderful Spring days.

How happy we would be if you could include Salem in your Spring plans, and how about "coming home" at Commencement. This year the dates fall a little later than hitherto. Commencement Sunday, May 26th. Monday, Alumnae Day, Class Day and Concert, and Tuesday, May 29th, the Graduation of the Class of 1918.

The plans for Commencement are very bright and hearty, and at the same time suitable consideration is given throughout to existing war conditions. Salem girls have shown their loyalty in many directions, and incidentally they are eager to have a Commencement in keeping with the times.

Nothing contributes more to Commencement than the return of Alumnae. It is an inspiring evidence of loyalty, interest and appreciation which reacts most favorably upon these greatest occasions in a college girl's life.

FOURTH "IVY NIGHT" AT SALEM, MARCH 4TH

The preparation and presentation of the fourth "Ivy" fell to the Sophomores, and, in the Gymnasium on March 4th, they highly entertained the assembled classes with the reproduction of their cleverly arranged "contents," featuring St. Patrick.

The night opened with an Irish Jig, which served its purpose in getting every one present in the right frame of mind for the fun to follow. Miss Mary Entwistle, editor-in-chief, read the following introductory article:

" 'The Ivy' wishes to thank Mrs. Rondthaler for her editorial on 'School Gardens'; Miss Baker for her interpretation of our first Lenten concert; and Miss Whittemore for her articles on 'Helping Hoover.' 'The Ivy' also feels under deep obligation to Miss Hanes for training the dancers, and to Miss Allen for designing the costumes.

" 'The Ivy's' central purpose tonight is 'to spread a little joy.' May you take away with you Sophomore spirit and courage and pep."

Dr. Howard Rondthaler then spoke on the "Inauguration Day."

" 'The Ivy's' 'Table of Contents' was read by Miss Entwistle, editor-in chief.

PRESIDENT RONDTHALER HONORED BY ROTARIANS OF FOURTH DISTRICT

At a meeting of the Rotary Clubs of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina held in Asheville, March 6th, Dr. Rondthaler was chosen District Governor by the nineteen clubs represented at the convention. Winston-Salem placed his name before the conference, and Raleigh, Charlotte, Greensboro and Asheville heartily seconded the nomination. The unanimous vote was a feature unheard of in the past history of District Conferences. The new district governor will be formally elected at the convention of the International Association of Rotary Clubs to be held in Kansas City, in June. Dr. Rondthaler is an enthusiastic Rotarian, being keenly alive to the principles of the organization. In presenting Dr. Rondthaler's name to the Convention Mr. Paul W. Schenck, of Greensboro, said:

" He is, my fellow Rotarians, one whose whole life has been a consistent and continuous record of altruistic service. He possesses that rare combination—a devotion to high ideals linked with the practical executive ability to make such ideals accomplish deeds.

“As a man—broad minded, big-hearted, cultured, patriotic: as a friend—lovable and sincere: as a presiding officer and speaker—capable, constructive, eloquent, scholarly. To my mind he fills the high ideals of Rotary as but few can hope to do. He will make a district governor worthy of the honor and prestige of that office, and a governor of whom the fourth district will be proud wherever he may be.

“I present in nomination the distinguished Rotarian whom we all want for governor, Howard Rondthaler, of Winston-Salem.”

EDITORIAL COMMENT

From the Charlotte Observer

DR. RONDTHALER

Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem College, loyalist and publicist, is finding himself on the general “call list” of the State. At the outset Col. F. H. Fries pressed him into leadership in the War Savings Stamp campaign. A little later on the Social Service Conference of the State placed him at the head of its affairs, and now the Rotarian Clubs of North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia have conscripted him as president of the three organizations. * * * Like other public men in this country who were considered ordinarily busy people before the war, Dr. Rondthaler is finding out how much of real opportunity for activities created by the war the patriotic citizen may be invited to assume, and he, like others, may be coming into a realization of the fact that instead of being a busy man before the war, he was actually something of a loafer in comparison to what he now finds himself doing “in the service of his country.”

From the Greensboro News

The election of a North Carolinian, well loved by Rotarians, as governor for the district was a pleasant feature of the Asheville conference. The new governor is Dr. Howard Rondthaler, of Winston-Salem, whose relations with the Greensboro Club are peculiarly fine. Local members are delighted with the choice of Dr. Rondthaler to head the district organization and were gratified with the manner in which he was chosen—by the unanimous vote of the conference, following unanimous nomination.

The latter was unprecedented in the district. Hitherto there has been always a contest of sorts over the nomination, with the election coming with more unanimity. Dr. Rondthaler was nominated Friday afternoon without a dissenting voice and similarly the ratification of his name occurred Saturday in the formal act of election.

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE OF SOCIAL SERVICE ELECTS DR. RONDTHALER PRESIDENT

On March 6th Dr. Rondthaler was chosen President of the North Carolina Conference for Social Service at a meeting held in Raleigh. The following editorial from the Raleigh News and Observer comments on the election:

“Dr. Howard Rondthaler, of Winston-Salem, the new president of the Social Service Conference, is a loyal, energetic and efficient public servant. No man in the State is more enthusiastic in his devotion to North Carolina than he is, and no one cherishes higher ideals for the Commonwealth than he does. He has already rendered distinguished service as president of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association, and in other capacities, and he will make good use of the opportunities for serving the State that his position as head of the Social Service Conference will give him.”

SALEM AT THE NORTH CAROLINA STUDENTS VOLUNTEER CONVENTION

At the Students Volunteer Convention, held at Elon College, March 8, 9, 10, the following Salem Girls represented the College Association: Misses Thompson, '19, Connor, '20, Stark, '20, Harris, D., '20, Scoggins, '21, Little, '21. The report of the work done by the Salem Students, with reference to Mission Study, was presented to the Convention by Miss Connor, '20, and also the definite policy which the College Association has established. Delegates were present from Trinity, Univ. of North Carolina, Queens, Davidson, Meredith, Greensboro College for Women, State Normal, Flora MacDonald and Salem.

Mr. Theodore Rondthaler, Class of 1919, University of North Carolina, son of President Rondthaler, of Salem, was chosen president of the Volunteer Students Union of North Carolina.

LIEUTENANT JOHN H. DAVID KILLED IN ACTION

BROTHER OF ANNIE DAVID BRANSFORD, '02, AND ALICE
DAVID, '20

The war was brought close home to the Salem student body when news was received, on March 12th, of the death, in France, of Lieutenant John H. David, brother of two Salem girls, Annie David Bransford, president of the Dillon, S. C., Branch, and Alice David, a member of the Sophomore Class. It was the privilege of the writer to meet Lieutenant David several years ago, while on a summer trip for the College, the young man at that time being in sole charge of the large and extensive farm owned by his father, Dr. John David, a retired physician of Dillon, S. C. Again, on a later visit, driving thru the country, on a bitter cold night, we remember so well the repeatedly expressed wish on the part of Mr. David that he might enter into the service of the United States. Three times rejected, on account of defective eyesight, Lieutenant David finally carried his case direct to the Surgeon General of the Army, at Washington, D. C., and was passed. Active, alert, energetic, of a magnetic personality, John David was a splendid type of young American manhood, and when the official facts concerning his death are made known we are confident that it will be shown that this young South Carolinian met his end bravely and unflinchingly. What was said recently by the Columbia State of another young South Carolinian applies equally well to Lieutenant David: "For the mother and father and kindred of a soldier when he is dead the anguish may not be measured, but it is the glory of South Carolina that she gives her sweetest and bravest and best and that she suffers and does not complain."

ELEVENTH GRADE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

The Basket Ball Championship of the Academy was won by the team representing the Eleventh Grade on Saturday, March 16. In the first game the Tenth Grade was defeated by the Eleventh. Score, 39—16. The Ninth Grade team won over the Eighth Grade. Score, 22—2. In the final match the Eleventh Grade vanquished the Ninth Grade. Score, 28—2.

208—four tailed bandages; 55 triangular bandages.

6045—2x2 gauze wipes; 77—5 yard rolls.

10—many tailed bandages.

BRANCH MEETINGS

CONCORD

A most interesting meeting of the Concord Branch was held Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 6th, with Mesdames Prentis Raiford, Kate Lentz, Parks Lafferty and Pearl Boger, at the home of the latter. This year we had no representative from the College, but our program consisted of affectionate messages from President Rondthaler, Misses Lehman and Bessent. Of these three Miss Lehman had taught all of us, and it was with special interest that we listened to her sweet message. Twelve members and two visitors, the Misses Thom, of China Grove, were present and we found it very pleasant chatting over the happy days at Salem. In our plans for the observance of Salem Day we included a free will offering to be donated to the College. Fourteen dollars was realized, and this sum will go to the new Gymnasium Fund now being raised. Mesdames Lafferty and Raiford served a delicious salad course and the home was beautifully decorated in the College colors.

ADELE PEMBERTON, Sec'y.

RICHMOND, VA.

The Salem Day meeting of the Richmond Branch was held on Feb. 7th, at the home of Mrs. W. W. Moore (Lula Fries), and brought together eight of the Salem girls. The sum of $30 00 was donated to the Gymnasium Building Fund and Mrs. Herbert Dalton was chosen delegate to the 1918 Commencement. The officers elected were: President—Miss Gretchen Clement, '12; Vice President—Mrs. T. L. Adams (Annie Stokes, '86); Secretary—Mrs. James Green (Bessie Smith). Those present were Mrs. W. W. Moore (Lula Fries), Miss Ida Moore, Mrs. B. H. Marsh (Meta Kerner), Mrs. T. L. Adams (Annie Stokes), Mrs. Herbert Dalton (Nancy Pierce), Mrs. Sallie Anderson Cowan, Mrs. Martha Moore (Mother Moore), Miss Margaret Blair, '14.

GREENVILLE

Altho our Salem alumnae were delayed in meeting when we did get together it proved to be one of the most enthusiastic affairs I have ever attended. We met with Mrs. T. M. Hooker (Bettie Tyson), on Feb. 9th. There were nine members present: Mrs. James Burton James (Lucy R. Brown), Mrs. Edward Bancroft Ficklin (Myra Skinner), Mrs. J. Key Brown (Emma Jayne Purvis), Mrs. L. M. Hooker (Bettie Perkins Tyson), Mrs. Roy E. Flanagan (Helen Perkins), Mrs. R. A. Tyson (Clyde Perkins), Miss Flossie Martin, Miss Annie Perkins, Miss Annie Leonard Tyson.

The first part of the meeting was taken up in discussing plans for the future, which consisted of a cordial invitation to Prof. Shirley and Mr. Rice to visit us this Spring. We hope they will come prepared to give to our alumna some of their abundance of "Salem spirit." After business had been discussed, as all Salem girls do, we had reminiscences of College days. The hostess showed us pictures, taken while she was in college, which afforded us much amusement. Tea and dainty wafers were served, and with each cup a sprig of ivy tied with Salem colors. This book I am writing in was used as a register, and I was asked to write up the meeting, also the toast, and send it in. We have a loyal band of Salem girls and many are the good wishes of our Alma Mater.

ANNIE L. TYSON, Sec'y.

[The souvenir was a booklet of six pages, the front cover hand-painted in yellow and white and containing the words "Salem Day" and a cluster of daisies, the pages tied together with yellow and white ribbon. The toast, given by Mrs. Lucy Brown James appears on the second page as follows:

"Here's to Salem we love so true
In college days we cheered for you,
Here's to that name we now revere
As loyal alumnae far and near."]

DALLAS, TEXAS

On Feb. 9th our Alumnae Association Branch met at the Southland Hotel, but the attendance was very small, partly on account of the weather but principally because so many of the members were out of town. Several have married recently and are now with their husbands at various camps. War has seemed to put a damper on almost everything. Hope to do better next year. We are all fond of our old Alma Mater, but just now nearly all hearts are aching for some loved one either "over there" or soon to be. We all send love and greetings.

MATTIE HIGH SLIGH, Pres.
2420 Lucille Street.

ATLANTA, GA.

Dean H. A. Shirley attended a meeting of the Branch, which was held on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 13th. The following account is taken from the Atlanta Constitution of Feb. 14th:

"A happy occasion, yesterday, was the annual reunion of the Salem College Alumnae, Winston-Salem, N. C., which was held at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Parker; The guest of honor was Dr. Shirley, Dean of the Music Department of the College and a musician of note in North Carolina, who has also held office in the National Association of Music Teachers and who is a past president of the North Carolina Music Teachers Association. He came to Atlanta especially for the annual meeting, and described most interestingly the growth of the institution and its attainments to the standard college requirements, altho it still maintains the Academy Department and has a separate school for little girls. Information about the faculty members of long standing was just as interesting to the alumnae present, who still hold these teachers in their affections, and a delightful part of the meeting resolved itself into reminiscences. Dr. Shirley responded to the request that he tell of his personal acquaintance with the late Edward MacDowell, of whom he was a pupil, and he gave an interesting insight into the more intimate life of a great character. A brief business session opened the meeting, the alumnae voting to affiliate with the City Federation of Women's Clubs, and reelecting the officers as follows: Mrs. B. F. Parker President, and Mrs. William Prescott Secretary. Afterwards dainty refreshments were served."

Those present were: Mrs. B. F. Parker (Lilla Mallard, '09); Mrs. Eugene R. Barmore (Hattie Ollinger, '95); Mrs. Dr. H. Crenshaw (Carrie Ollinger, '92); Alice Ollinger, '87; Mrs. W. R. Prescott (Sallie Hunnicut, '88); Louise Breitenbucher, '90; Lucy Fain, '06; Mrs. Glen Dodson (Cora Mae Lewis, '00); Mrs. Daniels,

RURAL HALL—GERMANTON

Perhaps the most interesting of our semi-annual meetings was held Feb. 23d, when we met with Mrs. Maggie Dalton Phillips at her commodious home, near the old Dalton homestead where she was born and reared. Many of the old pupils, especially of the Mt. Airy section and beyond the Blue Ridge, will recall nights spent in this hospitable home on their way to and from old Salem when the four-horse coach was the usual mode of travel.

Our Association numbers among its twenty-five members pupils from 1869 on down the years to 1917.

The journey was a happy one. Coming from Winston-Salem, over the Southern Railway, were: Mesdames Mary Paschal Crews, Norman Stone, Misses Kate Jones, of Bethania, and May Dalton. On reaching Rural Hall these, with Mesdames Ellen Lash Miller, Lillian Miller Cox, Misses Lula and Daisy Cox, Eunice Flynt, Eunice Wilson and Lily Lash, boarded the Atlantic & Yadkin where they were delighted to find Mesdames Addie Blum Petree, Nannie Dalton Jones and daughter, Nannie, a 1917 graduate.

We were met at the station, lying near the foot of the grand old Pilot, by three of Mrs. Phillips' attractive daughters, and a two minutes' walk brought us a cordial greeting from our hostess and her sister, Miss Georgia Dalton. Roses, hyacinths and pink and white carnations lent their delightful fragrance to hall, library and living room.

After a brief business session, greetings from Dr. Rondthaler, Mr. Rice and absent members were read, dues collected, and by a unanimous vote, funds now on hand are to buy War Saving Stamps. Old officers were re-elected for the coming year.

Salem days were recalled by singing College songs. Five new names were added to our Association: Mrs. Nannie Dalton Jones and Miss Nannie Jones of Walnut Cove; Mrs. Laura Dicks Moir, of Durham; Mrs. Betty Poindexter Hanes, of Walkertown, and Miss Georgia Dalton, of Dalton.

Later, each member was asked to show her knowledge of motors by an interesting contest, "A Motor Love Story." The prize, a beautifully framed picture of Salem, was won by Miss Eunice Wilson. A delicious luncheon was served by Misses Melissa, Josephine, Julia and Ruth Phillips, patriotism being shown by attractive favors—hand-painted soldiers and sailors.

Our next meeting, in September, will be with Mrs. Crews, in Walkertown.

LILLIAN M. LASH.

HOUSTON, TEXAS

The Houston alumnae met on March 7th at the home of Miss Ruth Taylor, '13, 4312 Caroline Street, to celebrate Salem Day. We knitted, talked Salem, looked at Salem Annuals, pictures, etc., for an hour or so, and then a salad course of refreshments was served. Many amusing incidents of the old days were told, and it was altogether a most enjoyable meeting, the most successful one we have had here. Those present were: Mrs. J. T. Scott (Reba Campbell, '90), Mrs. R. W. Nunn (Huberta Reed, '93), Mrs. C. L. Fitch (Sallie Ashe, '89), Misses Carolyn Levy, '06, Caroline Shipp, ex-'12, Marie Dancy, '13, Ruth Taylor, ex-'13, and Betsy Bailey, '17.

BETSY BAILEY, Sec'y.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

The Knoxville Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association met on March 8th at the home of Mrs. Clarence Carmichael (Alice Witt), 224 West Glenwood Avenue. There was a splendid attendance and a very enthusiastic meeting. The following officers were chosen for the year 1918—1919: President—Edith Rogers, '13, 1312 Laurel Ave.; Vice President—Annette Welcker, '10; Secretary—Mrs. Gerald Stuart (Fannie Wray, '90), 1013 N. Central Ave. We are very anxious to secure the names of all alumnae who have gone to Salem from Knoxville and vicinity as we are anxious to get in touch with all of them.

FANNIE WRAY STUART, Sec'y.

Alumnae Notes

MISS S. E. SHAFFNER, ALUMNAE EDITOR

It is the purpose of this department not only to publish all timely facts of interest about alumnae—changes of residence, marriages, deaths, meetings, achievements, etc., but also to trace alumnae of whom the College and their classmates have no record since graduation, thus bringing the class histories up to date. Therefore items of information are solicited from all alumnae and their friends but especially are the secretaries of the associations and the secretaries of the classes requested to keep the editor informed. Notes on alumnae contributed every month will be greatly appreciated.

1830—Mrs. E. B. Johnston Allison, whose long and useful life ended on Jan. 22d, was our oldest living alumna. Born in Rowan County, July 22d, 1823, she entered Salem Academy July 2d, 1830, being registered as pupil No. 1925. Thruout her life she was devoted to history and good literature and was a careful reader of newspapers. She possessed unusual physical courage and never worried. In February, 1845, she married William M. Allison, of Turrentine. She moved to Statesville a few years ago to be with her only son, Mr. Thomas J. Allison.

1835—Mrs. Smith, of Morganton, a recent visitor to Salem, speaks of her mother, Margaret Elizabeth Murphy, having entered Salem Academy eighty-three years ago at the age of 16. She was brought to school in the family carriage.

1847—Miss Margaret Patterson, of Huntersville, writes: "I spent two years—'47—'49—in dear old Salem so pleasantly. I have been there only twice since, once at Commencement and once on an excursion. A sister, Mary, two years older, was with me in school and another sister came later. I was brought up in the country, six miles west of Davidson College, and, after the death of my parents came to Huntersville. I loved my parents too well to marry and leave them. I raised six children, left motherless in infancy, and two of them are living with me to care for me. There were three hundred students in school while I was there, some of them, of course, being day scholars. God has been good to me in sparing me so long and in giving friends to care for me. Out of a family of eight I am the only one living. Three years ago my health failed and since then my eyesight has failed also. Some of the teachers in Salem were: Misses Stauber, Pfohl, Haman, Belo, Schnall, Leinbach, Zevely, Brietz. Mr. Charles A. Bleck was Principal at the time. I can recall so few of the girls' names, but I remember two little girls six years old. We enjoyed our fare, altho it was very simple, usually bread, butter, molasses and coffee. There were fourteen girls from Mecklenburg County, and when our friends came to see us all were invited to the hotel for supper."

1849: Mrs. William Goldsmith (Nannie C. Hair) was a daughter of Major Peter Hair. She was born in Newberry, S. C., and educated at Salem Academy, 1849-'51. She is survived by five daughters and four sons, one of whom is James W. Goldsmith of Winston-Salem.

1882—It was a pleasure to receive a visit from a beloved alumna, Mrs. J. B. Churchill (Carro Stewart), of Lakeland, Fla. During her week's visit she was the guest of Mrs. F. H. Fries. Mrs. Churchill was returning from Washington, D. C., having attended the wedding of her son, Stewart, U. S. Coast Artillery, Plymouth, N. H., to Miss Eugenia Sentell, a cousin of Claudia Sentell, '15.

1884—The son of Col. and Mrs. H. Montague (Stella Nissen), Winston-Salem, was the first volunteer from this section. Since last October Mr. P. N. Montague has been First Lieutenant of the Officers' Reserve Corps, U. S. Air Service, American Expeditionary Forces, "somewhere in France." He is now engaged with his company in aerial gunnery near the front.

1885—Mrs. W. N. Reynolds (Kate Bitting) was recently appointed Chairman of the Fifth Congressional District of the Council of National Defense.

1890—Mrs. F. F. Malloy (Minnie Fagg), has occasion to feel proud of her son, Fagg Malloy, a trooper in France. The following extract is from a recent issue of the Asheville Citizen:

HELP—DON'T HINDER

"Don't take good space with sweets that should be used for needed ammunition. Candy and cake taste fine, but they won't do much good when the Hun starts his offensive, so don't do anything to hinder the United States."—LIEUTENANT FAGG MALLOY.

"It was an Asheville soldier-man, writing to his mother, who penned the words in the paragraph above. Lieut. Fagg Malloy received his commission at Fort Oglethorpe and almost immediately went to France. Writing to his mother, Mrs. Minnie Malloy, he urges that nothing be done to hinder the United States, and his letter has gone around the country, sent out from Washington by Postmaster General Burlison.

"All praise to Lieutenant Malloy—who speaks a man's thought and speaks it distinctly—'don't do anything to hinder the United States.' That is exactly what every man, woman and child must learn—help. don't hinder. Criticism of the administration hinders. Fault-finding with leaders hinders. Selfishness hinders."

Mrs. Malloy was recently elected President of the Soldier's Mothers Club, of Asheville.

TO THE ALUMNAE:

Perhaps you have been asking the question: What is Salem College doing as its share of war work?

Here is the answer:

A sacrifice personal contribution of $1800 cash to the Student War Work Fund, from students and faculty.

A Red Cross organization which has forwarded 12,103 bandages, etc.

100 per cent. enrollment in War Savings and Thrift Stamps.

Meatless and Wheatless Days rigorously observed since last September.

60 per cent. reduction in the use of sugar.

All balances in Class and Club Funds offered for investment in Liberty Bonds.

The Ivy (student quarterly), read publicly, but not printed.

25 per cent. reduction in cost of 1918 Annual.

Case of Books gathered from students and faculty for Camps.

Faculty activity in public campaigns for Food Conservation, Four Minute Men, etc., etc.

Red Triangle Oversea Recruiting for State of North Carolina, headquarters in Salem College office.

Service Flag for Memorial Hall in preparation to carry One Star for every Father and Brother in Army and Navy.

THE LENTEN ORGAN RECITALS

As a general thing the Lenten Season is one marked by the absence of all luxury, but this year Dean Shirley planned a series of five Organ Recitals, and great indeed was the appreciation of the community.

The first three of these Recitals were given by the Dean himself; and as all my readers are so well acquainted with his mastery of the Organ it is unnecessary to attempt to describe his playing. Suffice it to say that the combination of the beautiful organ in Memorial Hall, the magnificent playing of Mr. Shirley and the splendidly chosen programs made the hearers more thankful than ever that Salem has Mr. Shirley at its head.

The programs were beautifully arranged, and all the numbers were worthy of special mention, but there is space here for only a few to be singled out. On the first afternoon the numbers that stood out in all their beauty were the three smaller works: Bairstow's "Evening Song," with its quaint charm and simple melody; Lenare's flirtitious "Musette," and his marvelous conception of "Dawn," in which one could fairly feel and see all the sounds and overpowering colors of a perfect morning. In fact, so rich were the chords and harmonies that the hearer was almost convinced that he had actually witnessed the marvel of Nature's awakening.

The second program opened with Caesar Franck's "Choral in A Minor," a most interesting composition of this French master. The selection of a work of that other great Frenchman, Bonnet, with which to close this same afternoon, showed the Dean's skill as a program builder. These "Variations de Concert" are overpowering in their technical difficulties, and great indeed was the admiration called forth by the rendition given them.

Of the third afternoon's beauties, Pietro Yon's "Sonata Cromatica" was easily the piece de resistance. Mr. Shirley only gave us the first two movements, but how we did revel in those and how ardently we longed to hear the third. The "Andante Rustico" is charming and full of beauty, but the "Adagio Trieste" is a heart breaking lament. Seldom, indeed, does one hear any thing half so beautiful, so exquisite and so sad as that cry which must have come from a soul which had experienced the bitterest pain, but which had, at last, come thru it all, tired and worn with sadness, but filled with sweetness and patience.

Miss Jessie Lupo assisted at the first Recital, and sang her well chosen numbers with a deep rich voice and real musicianly interpretation.

Mr. William Wright was the assisting soloist at the second afternoon, and played most beautifully indeed, for this young man handles his violin with splendid skill.

Miss Louise Hine was the third soloist to assist Mr. Shirley, and her beautiful, clear voice, full of sweetness and pure in tone, added to her musical knowledge, made a charming ensemble which was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Lillian Johnson Sebring gave the fourth Thursday afternoon, and delighted her hearers with the handling of the great instrument and her well balanced program. As in the first Recital the group of smaller numbers was the predominating feature. This group consisted of Dudley Buck's beautiful "At Evening," Neustedt's charming "Gavotte" (in ancient style), which was an absolute joy in its quaint composition, Harker's "Meditation" and Kinder's "In Moonlight," both of the latter filling the hearts and minds of the audience with peace and beauty.

Miss Louise Woodbury was the assisting artist at this Recital and sang St. Saen's "La Cloche" in exquisite manner. She also sang Buzzi Peccia's stupendous "Gloria" most artistically.

The last afternoon was given by Miss Mildred Jones and Mrs. Ernest L. Starr. Of the Organ numbers the Preludes and Adagio from the C Minor Sonata was the happiest number. Mrs. Starr was wise also in her choice of Buzet's "Agnus Dei," a work too little known and too seldom heard, and her nearers were much indebted to this enterprising singer for her presentation of it. The ability of Miss Jones and Mrs. Starr is too well known to make any elaboration,—it is sufficient to say that with this program they not only increased the esteem in which they are held but added many new admirers to their already lengthy list.

And so, with these combinations of talent and art, ended the series of Thursday afternoons which had brought so much delight and benefit to the Salem community, and once again let us congratulate ourselves on being so fortunate as to possess the group of splendid musicians and such a self-sacrificing and efficient leader as Dean Shirley.

ALLENE BAKER.

"THE SEVEN LAST WORDS OF CHRIST"

CANTATA GIVEN UNDER THE DIRECTION OF DEAN SHIRLEY

The Concert, given Friday, April 19th, under the direction of Dean Shirley, was an occasion of profound and deep religious enjoyment. The "Seven Last Words of Christ" was composed by Theodore Dubois, a French composer of the Nineteenth Century. Of all his works this has attained the greatest favor. Of the many settings given to "The Last Seven Words" this is generally conceded to be the best and most graphic. The whole composition is pervaded by deep spiritual fervor, and every one connected with the presentation assisted in conveying the impression, while the spirit with which the audience listened aided the performers tremendously.

The story is depicted by the music, being brought out in realistic fashion by the performers. The shouts of the mob, the description by both voice and orchestra of the earthquake, and the exquisite simplicity of the closing prayer all tended to fill the hearers with reverent awe.

Miss Allene Baker, with her dramatic soprano voice, interpreted with true expression the solos given to her. The tenor rôle was sung by Mr. Jasper Dean, whose clear, pure voice and musical ability gave to the difficult rôle a most satisfactory rendition. The third solo part was interpreted by Rev. J. Kenneth Pfohl, who was particularly adapted, both as man and singer, to impress upon his audience the earnest conviction of the composer.

The work of the chorus was of a truly inspiring nature, particularly in the parts where the mobs of angry Jews were deriding and mocking the Saviour. The intonation and pureness of tone, coupled with beauty of shading, gave great delight to the hearers.

The orchestra was truly good, in spite of the many vacancies which the war has made in the list from which Dean Shirley has usually been able to call players to his aid. That a town the size of Winston-Salem can boast so many true musicians, both singers and instrumentalists, is a never ceasing marvel to the outside world. The fact that the most prominent singers and players were generous enough to lay aside their accustomed rôle of soloists and take part in the general ensemble can be attributed much of the success of the evening.

Of Dean Shirley and his superb qualities as organizer and director of musical occasions enough cannot be written. Suffice it to say that even with the work of all the others, such a performance would have been impossible without Dean Shirley at the head.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT RECOGNIZES SUGGESTIONS OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Miss Margaret Whittemore, head of the Domestic Science Department, is making a series of addresses to the faculty and students during the morning chapel exercises. Recently, she told of meat conditions thruout the world as they affect the conduct of the war. The chemical properties and food values, consumption by various nations, supply in the United States Army, substitutes for meat were dealt with in a clear and forceful manner. Of especial interest was the account given of experiments with fish—notably shark—recently conducted in the Home Economics Department of Salem College. Some of the results obtained are now available to the public having been utilized in shark and other recipes which the National Government is about to issue in bulletin form. Miss Whittemore strongly advocates the more extended use of fish in place of meat.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE DEGREE TO BE AWARDED

By action of the Board of Trustees of Salem College, graduates in the four-year Course in Home Economics will this year be awarded the degree of B. S. The Course embraces as many hours of English and Language as does the regular A. B. Course, and, in addition, covers more Science. Up to this time a certificate was the only recognition granted to Household Art students.

However, the steady enlargement of the Course, its standardization in respect to work required, the increased laboratory facilities and the enforcement of entrance requirements have all served to raise the four-years' work to degree earning standards, hence, with the approaching Commencement, the new degree, B. S., will, for the first time, be awarded by Salem College.

LESLIE HODGSON IN PIANO RECITAL

Mr. Leslie Hodgson's Piano Recital at Salem College on Monday night, April 15, was an occasion of absorbing interest and keenest enjoyment to the large and appreciative audience. The program was admirably chosen, calling forth well nigh every emotion that the piano-forte can express and human fingers convey. The opening number, Sgambati's "Nenia" (Dirge), was, to many, the least familiar on the program, and played with stately and impressive solemnity. In striking contrast to this was the dainty Chopin Etude with its cleverly concealed cross rhythm, proving that it is the highest art to conceal art. The tumultuous Liszt Ballade, seldom played because of its stupendous technical difficulties, was played with technical ease and poetic insight.

One listened to the beautiful Chopin Sonata as to the voice of an old friend, with joy and reminiscent tenderness. Each movement is strikingly individual, the first breathing yearning and aspiration: the second, playfulness, with its contrasting trio of sweet melody, which might easily be turned to mawkish sentimentality, but never was under Mr. Hodgson's controlled technique. The familiar Funeral March and Finale, a wonderful tone picture of the sighing of the wind — all of these were presented to the hearer's imagination through the medium of the pianist's command of tone color. As an encore he played the so-called "Æolian Harp" Etude of Chopin with consummate fleetness, delicacy and elegance.

The crowning glory of the last group was Liszt's Rhapsody, No. 15, which sparkled and fairly seemed to flash fire, dazzling the audience with its brilliancy and virtuosity. Mr. Hodgson generously gave two encores, the "Teresita Waltz." by Madam Carreno, and Chopin Polonaise A major, Opus 53. To sum up, Mr. Hodgson's appearance here has left a deep impression of astounding proficiency combined with poetic insight and imagination, a touch of haunting beauty in melody playing. The concert was an artistic success, and we hope Mr. Hodgson will return to us another year.

ELLEN YERRINTON.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Spring, the season of putting "off with the old and on with the new" has brought about changes in the Salem College Young Women's Christian Association leadership. The new cabinet for 1918—1919 have in superceding the past year's splendidly successful officers a solid rock foundation to rely upon, and in building on the already secured achievements of others, will go forward and obtain the richest results.

The Installation Service held in the College Library, Mar. 24, was beautifully impressive in its simplicity and sincerity. Those young women who, before their fellow students, stood forth in the Master's service and pledged themselves to "carry on" in His work, did so with a deeper and keener realization of the responsibilities and opportunities which this momentous year has brought about in preparing a new world order. Earnestness of purpose and determination for active achievement emphasized every oath of office taken.

The new leaders attended a Y. W. C. A. Training Council, held at Trinity College, Durham, from which they received practical inspiration for immediate action, and now a Salem delegation of Christian Association officers and members have turned their faces toward Blue Ridge, that Conference Cantonment, where intensive training in perfecting plans for the coming school year is accomplished. The officers recently elected are: President—Lelia Graham Marsh, '19; Vice President—Frances Ridenhour, '19; Secretary—Mary Hadley Connor, '20; Treasurer—Dorothy Harris, '20.

LELIA GRAHAM MARSH, '19.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION ELECTIONS

The following officers were recently elected at a meeting of the College students: President—Doris Cozart, '19, Wilson; Vice President—Francis Ridenhour, '19, Concord; Secretary—Marjorie Davis, '19, Wilson; Treasurer—Mary Hadley Connor, '20, Wilson.

SOLOISTS, CHORUS AND ORCHESTRA ASSISTING
DEAN SHIRLEY

The following is a complete list of the singers and musicians who contributed much to the success of the recent rendition of the Cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," and who will also lend their aid to the Commencement Concert:

The Soloists—Miss Allene Baker, soprano; Mr. Jasper Dean, tenor; Rev. J. Kenneth Pfohl, baritone

The Chorus: Soranos—Mesdames Hurdle, Mock, Owen, Pfohl, Sebring, Spaugh, Starr, Misses Brickenstein, Brown, Collins, Crist, Hankins, Henning, Hine, Johnson, Ogburn, Parrish, Patterson, Starbuck, Vogler, Whitehead, Williams, Woodbury, Whitaker.

Altos—Mesdames Crist, Hege, Wureschke, Misses Barton, Blair, Blue, Hunt, Jones, Lupo, Miller, Parrish, Shaw, Smith, Spaugh, Watson.

Tenors—Messrs. Clodfelter, Butner, Davis, Hankins, Thorpe, Vance.

Basses—Messrs. Brickenstein, Crist, Hastings, Leinbach, Powers, Shouse, Westbrook.

The Orchestra—First Violins: Miss Taylor, Messrs. Kapp, Roy. Second Violins: Miss Sills, Mr. Piatt. Violas: Messrs. Ormsby, Wureschke. 'Cellos: Miss Robinson, Mr. Pfohl. Double Bass: Mr. B. J. Pfohl. Flute: Mr. Hege. Clarinets: Messrs. Rights, Milburn. Trumpet: Mr. Stockton. French Horns: Messrs. Starbuck, Spaugh. Pianist: Miss Yerrinton. Organist: Mrs. Holt Haywood.

BRANCH MEETINGS

CHICAGO, ILL.

The Chicago Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association enjoyed their first meeting on March 2, in the parlors of the Homestead Hotel, 5610 Dorchester Avenue, with the President, Mrs. J. S. Grisard (May Keehln, '81). President Rondthaler's letter and telegrams from the Committee on Alumnae Relations and the Winston-Salem Branch Association were read and thoroughly enjoyed, and we deeply appreciated the thoughts and news from Salem. A little history of Salem was given by Mrs. Grisard, who is originally from that town. A strip of embroidery was shown, done by Mrs. Grisard's grandmother, Amelia Hortensia Frueauff, in the Moravian school in Bethlehem, Penna. In addition, embroidery designed in Salem in 1814 was exhibited. Mrs. W. E. Dodd (Mattie Johns, '93), was chosen President and Theodora Bennett, '14, Secretary. After singing the "Alma Mater" refreshments were served by Mrs. Grisard, assisted by Miss Seymour, a former student at Agnes Scott. The decorations consisted of cut flowers, carrying out the colors of dear old Salem. The following ladies were present: Mrs. W. E. Dodd (Mattie Johns), Mrs. J. S. Grisard (May Keehln), Mrs. Carlyle Peck (Ruth Matthews, '04), and Theodora Bennett. We hope to arrange the meeting next time for the month of February. On March 3 Mrs. Grisard left for Texas, where, on account of Major Grisard's health, they will spend the summer.

THEODORA BENNETT.

FAYETTEVILLE

Our meeting was held on Friday, February 8, with Mrs. J. B. Boyd (Martha Brown, '94), as hostess. Owing to the sickness of a number of the members and also to the absence of some from the city, there was only a small number present. In the absence of the President, Mrs. J. M. Lily (Agnes Dunlap, '02,) the Vice President, Mrs. Mary Broadfoot McRae, '89, presided. Miss Roxie Dodd, '98, acted as Secretary in place of Mrs. W. E. Snipes (Mary Medearis, '00) unable on account of sickness to attend. The afternoon was spent most pleasantly, each one telling of some experience at Salem. The meeting, tho small, was enthusiastic. Pictures of the College and souvenirs were given each one in attendance. A delightful social hour was spent over the tea cups, Mrs. Boyd being assisted in serving by her sister, Mrs. G. R. Betts (Sarah Brown).

MARY MEDEARIS SNIPES, '00, Sec'y.

Alumnae Notes

MISS S. E. SHAFFNER, ALUMNAE EDITOR

It is the purpose of this department not only to publish all timely facts of interest about alumnae—changes of residence, marriages, deaths, meetings, achievements, etc., but also to trace alumnae of whom the College and their classmates have no record since graduation, thus bringing the class histories up to date. Therefore items of information are solicited from all alumnae and their friends but especially are the secretaries of the associations and the secretaries of the classes requested to keep the editor informed. Notes on alumnae contributed every month will be greatly appreciated.

1846—Mrs. Julia Rainey. (Julia Sims), Union, S. C., unable to be with us, sends greetings and best wishes

1874—Two of the four daughters of ex Postmaster General Key, educated in Salem, spent Easter with Mrs. Lindsay Patterson, Mrs. Z. E. Patton (Sallie Key), Ashland Farm, Flint Stone, Ga., and Mrs. Samuel Reid (Margaret Key), Chattanooga, Tenn. Mrs. Patton has one son, Carter, at school in Asheville. The gifted sister, Emma, was Mrs. Thompson, of Washington, D. C.

1875—Mrs. Cappie Henry Craig, Greenwood, Miss., was an Easter visitor, accompanied by her son, Raymond, a student at Asheville.

1879—Mrs. Annie Pittman Vance, of Winston-Salem, whose death is noted in this month's issue, was born in Scotland Neck, Halifax County, November 8th, 1861. She was educated at Salem, graduating in 1879. Afterwards she taught in the institution from 1881 to 1894. She was married July 31, 1896, to Mr. J. A. Vance. The College and Academy extend heartfelt sympathy to the surviving relatives and friends.

'81—Mrs. May Keehn Grisard writes: "We had a very enthusiastic meeting in Chicago, altho only four of us could be present. I am so glad I was able to help establish this Branch in Chicago. My husband, Major John S. Grisard, owing to serious illness, was compelled to ask to be relieved from the University of Chicago, and I have brought him home. He is still very ill, but I am hoping the Spring weather will be great benefit to him. My address will hereafter be as formerly: 96 Woodsdale Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio.

1882—Mrs. J. Lindsay Patterson (Lucy Patterson), of Winston-Salem, has an interesting article on "dear old Salem" in the April issue of The House Beautiful. A drawing of the Home Moravian Church, the work of Mrs. J. L. Graham, mother of Katherine Graham, '17, appears as the frontispiece.

1882—Though Mrs. R. L. Steele (Bessie Little), of Rockingham, did not visit Salem at Easter, she sent as her representative a son and daughter.

1883—Mrs. O. K. Uzzell (Lily Grogan), 1122 Meridian Ave., S. Pasadena, Cal., sends her class card for 1918. Her husband is engaged in Real Estate. Her children are: Gladys, Ida, Onestus and Harold. She wishes that the breadth of a continent did not separate her from Salem, and that it were possible for her girls to be educated here.

1884—Mrs. Sallie Craig Brady is at Corpus Christi, Tex., to be near her son, a lieutenant in the Engineer Officers Reserve Corps. Sallie's husband died in 1916.

1886—Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Lee Smith (Sallie Jones) announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Clark Smith, to Joseph Hammond Hardison, of Wadesboro.

1890—Mrs. T. F. Malloy (Minnie Fagg) could not resist coming to Salem at Easter, and was the guest of Bishop and Mrs. Rondthaler.

1895—Mrs. John White (Margie Smith) and little son, of Waban, Mass., were guests of Mrs. S. H. Smith.

1896—Mrs. S. P. Cross (Sallie Parker), Gatesville, was chosen chairman for Gates County of the North Carolina Woman's Liberty Loan Committee.

1902—Mrs. Hallie Palmer Dobson, of Augusta, Ga., visited her daughter, Lois, and then went to Tennessee to spend a few days with her son, Jim.

1905—Mrs. James Lewis (Mamie Fulp) writes from Manila, P. I., Jan. 20th: "The weather is delightful, the thermometer since Christmas having averaged 62° every morning. We are only a few degrees north of the equator. Maj. Lewis is with the Reserve Corps, U. S. Infantry."

1906—Mrs. Homer Benton (Joy Kime) visited us a few weeks ago. She has gone to New York to study art, in order, later, to illustrate magazine stories which she and her husband are writing.

1906—Celeste Henkel, Statesville, has been chosen chairman for Iredell County of the North Carolina Woman's Liberty Loan Committee.

1907—Catherine Spach was an attendant at the marriage of Bertha Cox, '16, of Asheboro, to Mr. T. V. Rochelle.

1907—Bessie Ivey is instructress of older children at the Methodist Children's Home, Winston Salem.

1908—Mrs Charles U. Harris (Saidee Robbins), of Raleigh, writes: "Thoroly enjoying my Alumnae Number. More complete than ever, and am sure every old girl will prize her copy."

1908—Mrs. M. E. Ramsey, Jr., (Love Walker), Statesville, writes: "Wish you could see my fine boy. The only regret I have that he is a boy is that he can't go to Salem. I would not take anything for the memories of my school days at Salem."

1910—Miss Lena Roberts, Greenville, S. C., spent a week with Miss Grace Starbuck.

1911—Kathleen Griffith, a graduate nurse, stationed at Durham, recently visited relatives in Winston-Salem.

1913—Mr. and Mrs. John Byrne (Louise Long) are living in Manila, P. I. The first of April they expected to go to Saigon, where Mr. Byrne will open an office for his company.

1913—Mrs. Spencer Struble (Aline Fielder) writes that Capt. Struble has sailed for France. She herself is planning to "go over" to enter war work.

Ex-'13—Mrs. W. C. Hammond (Margaret Paylor) is living at 1922 Hillsboro Road, Nashville, Tenn. Her husband is Instructor of Night Flying, Aviation Section in France.

1914—Mrs. A. J. Gregory (Mary Horton), of Lancaster, S. C., recently visited her father, Dr. H. V. Horton, of this city.

1915—Caroline Robinson, New York, writes to Dean Shirley as follows: "A year ago I began a Course in Wireless, and last month I obtained my government license as a first class operator. I have been teaching Wireless for six weeks to a class of drafted men, thirty-five in all, giving them a preparatory course for the Signal Corps, and already seven men have been sent. I am in the employ of the State, being supervised by the Board of Education. The pay is $5.00 an evening, and I teach four evenings a week. In the daytime I keep up my studies at the Marconi Institute. The course ends in June, and at that time I really hope to get in the Signal Corps."

Ex-'16—Dorothy Schaffner, Brooklyn, N. Y., is in training for Ambulance Driver in the League for Woman's Service.

TO THE ALUMNAE:

After all, no two Commencements are really quite alike, however much all Commencements seem to follow one and the same general program.

So it comes to pass that Commencement, 1918, will always be remembered as distinctive and unique, even though its general outline was almost identical with many which have preceded it.

No one who thoughtfully observed this latest Commencement could fail to note the manner in which it was touched and glorified with the ever present spirit of the great War.

This Class of 1918 entered College with the opening of the World War, and each of its four years has been under the challenge of these unparalleled days. It was, therefore, peculiarly appropriate that 1918 should graduate with war-time simplicity.

Social festivities were fittingly modified, and expenses curtailed. Underneath nearly a hundred stars for fathers and brothers this Class received its diplomas. Nor were these diplomas "sheepskins" as heretofore, for genuine sheepskin has now its war value, and a parchment substitute is more patriotic.

A Red Triangle man in khaki delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon. The Concert began and ended in patriotic music. For the Reception was substituted an afternoon gathering of parents and visitors. The subject of Dr. Chase's strong address was "America after the War." The Class Memorial was presented in Liberty Bonds. The Alumnae Luncheon was most appropriately omitted.

But for all the war limitations this was a most happy Commencement. An unusual degree of friendly interest and hearty expectation was in evidence, and whatever 1918 gave up in externals it more than regained in the fine and enthusiastic spirit of this Commencement.

God bless you, dear girls of this Senior Class.

THE MUSIC OF COMMENCEMENT WEEK

PIANO RECITALS, GRADUATING RECITALS, CONCERTS

Wednesday Afternoon, May 22

Miss MARGARET LILLIAN BLUE, Tampa, Fla.

Piano Recital.

Miss Blue gave an interesting recital, displaying a really musical temperament and playing with warmth and surety. The Beethoven and Mozart numbers received an adequate rendition, and the MacDowell selections showed grace and charm.

Miss Nanna Johnson, Winston-Salem, who assisted, has a pure soprano voice and added materially to the pleasure and variety of the program.

Thursday Afternoon, May 23.

Miss ERMA EUGENIA KAPP, Bethania.

Piano Recital.

Memorial Hall was well filled with friends who enjoyed a program of real excellence. Miss Kapp showed a fine understanding of each number given, from the airy grace of Phillip's "Elf" and the trickiness of Rachmaninoff's "Polichinelle" to the classic beauty of the Beethoven Concerto.

Miss Louise Hine, soprano, Winston-Salem, the assisting artist, sang with charm and varied mood the selections chosen, and was heartily received.

Friday Afternoon, May 24.

Miss RUTH LOUISE HANES, Winston-Salem.

Piano Recital.

Miss Hanes played with brilliance, but also showed a keen appreciation of the thoughtfulness and deep feeling of the MacDowell and Tchaikowski selections. The Mendelssohn Capriccio was delightfully given and received with great favor.

The assisting artist was Miss Jessie Lupo, contralto, Winston Salem. Miss Lupo has a fine voice and sang well, showing the qualities of a student who is ever increasing in powers of interpretation.

Friday Night, May 24.

Concert of Music for Two Pianos.
Miss LOUISE HINE, Winston-Salem.
Miss LOUISE COX, Goldsboro.

This proved to be an occasion of rare charm and was unique in the history of the College. Both players are post-graduates of the Piano Department, and are artists of recognized worth.

The program was admirably chosen, presenting numbers from the classic Mozart to the masters of the present time.

The players displayed admirable ensemble at all times and showed a freedom of interpretation and beauty of tone which made the audience most enthusiastic over each number.

Saturday Afternoon, May 25.

Miss MARY VIRGINIA CASH, Winston-Salem
Graduating Recital in Piano

Miss Cash has been a student for years at Salem, and successfully completed all the requirements of the present course. Her recital was largely attended. Her playing showed an intelligent appreciation of different musical styles, and a technique equal to the demands of an exacting program. Perhaps she was at her best in the Chopin Concerto, which was given with charming finish.

Miss Eleanor Blair, contralto New York, is a member of the English Department. Miss Blair has personal charm and with her fine voice gave much pleasure to her hearers.

The recitals of 1918 have been notably successful, each performer showing individuality and real musical feeling. The technical attainments and freedom of interpretation in selections varying from the classics to the music of the future, shows conclusively that the Music Department has high ideals, and is faithfully working with a high plane of achievement.

GRAND CONCERT, MAY 27.

The Concert of this "War" Commencement was notable for dignity and seriousness of purpose with a strong patriotic note.

The St Cecilia Mass of Gounod was given in its entirety, for the first time in Winston Salem, at this concert.

The orchestra, which was assisted by the Woodroffe brothers, of Mt. Airy, did excellent work and were equal to the exacting demands of the Mass as well as the patriotic numbers on the program.

The chorus sang with sympathy and enthusiasm, which gave some most impressive effects, especially in the great Credo of the Mass, which runs the gamut of emotion.

The soloists, Miss Allene Baker, soprano, of the Music Department, Mr. Jasper Dean, tenor, Winston-Salem, and Mr. Edgar R. Clapp, baritone, Winston-Salem, gave great pleasure in the parts assigned to them. Mr. Clapp has a robust voice of excellent quality which he uses with understanding. Mr. Dean sang the well known tenor solo of the Sanctus in most acceptable fashion, and Miss Baker gave her part the authority and the artistry which we have come to expect from her.

The Piano and Organ Duo by Miss Yerrinton and Mrs. Sebring proved a delightful feature of the program. This opportunity of hearing these artists, who did such capable work with the orchestra, was much appreciated.

Friday Afternoon, May 24

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF THE SEVENTH GRADE

Immediately following the Piano Recital by Miss Hanes, the Graduating Exercises of the Seventh Grade were held in the College Library. The exercises for the most part were in the form of a play entitled: "The Seventh Grade in 1861—Composition Hour," which was a realistic school scene of fifty-seven years ago. The program was in charge of Miss Edith Shaw and was announced by Rev. E. J. Heath.

The cast was made up of the following students of the Department:

Teacher—Miss Schultz, Marian Schallert.
 Sarah Ann—Alice Tavis.
 Araminta—Helen Bailey.
 Susan—Ruth Holton.
 Antoinette—Elizabeth Meinung:
 Clarinda—Myrtle Howard.
 Amelia—Helen Foy.
 Sophia—Ruth Brendle.
 Angelina—Virginia Bauserman.

During the intermission Miss Shaw played on the piano the less familiar National Hymns of the following Allies: Serbia, Canada and Japan.

At this point the Class reentered, and sang before taking their places, "Voices of the Woods," by Rubinstein, and "Vacation Days." The diplomas were then presented by President Rondthaler, who, in remarking upon the youth of the graduates, said: "I am giving you something today which is a token of your youth, and a token of that thing which will always keep you young—education. For those who have real education can never grow old."

President Rondthaler then presented diplomas to the Misses Bailey, Raleigh, and the following from Winston Salem: Misses Bauserman, Brendle, Foy, Holton, Hooper, Howard, Meinung, Schallert and Tavis.

Saturday Morning, May 25

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF THE ELEVENTH GRADE

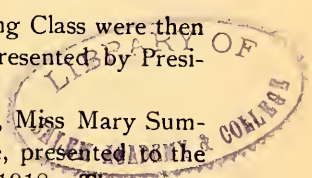

With Memorial Hall prettily decorated in flags, ferns, palms, branches of walnut and baskets of roses and sweetpeas, the twenty-five members of the Senior Class of the Academy marched down the two aisles of the Hall to a processional played by a member of the Class, Miss Mabel Peterson, and took their places on the rostrum. The Class President, Miss Rita Warren, occupied the president's chair in the center of the platform.

As the opening number on the program the Class sang in concert "The Star Spangled Banner," after which the Salutatory was given by the president, Miss Warren. Following this came the Class History, by Miss Dorothy Foltz, Winston-Salem; Class Song, composed by Miss Lucile Young, New York; Last Will and Testament, Miss Gertrude Everett, New Jersey; Prophecy, Miss Mahala Meekins, read by Miss Evelyn Harris; Solo, "All the Leaves Were Calling Me," Miss Clarice Hening.

The names of the members of the Graduating Class were then read by Rev. E. J. Heath, the diplomas being presented by President Rondthaler.

Following the presentation of the diplomas, Miss Mary Summer, president of the Senior Class of the College, presented to the Eleventh Grade the Class Flower and Colors of 1918. These were gracefully received by Miss Rita Warren, president of the prospective Class of 1922.

The singing of the "Alma Mater" by the Class and the audience completed the program.

COMMENCEMENT ART EXHIBIT

An Art Exhibit of unusual character attended this year's Commencement at Salem College. Miss Elma Hall has introduced into the Department a number of new methods of painting, methods that are especially new in the South.

Patterns for cretonne, china and the like, have been designed in the designing class, and are, in all cases, original. A cretonne pattern of unusual beauty and daring was designed and painted by Miss Kathryn Reynolds, of Fayetteville.

In the case of china, the most elaborate, striking and difficult pattern was a peacock motif on a large sandwich tray, designed by Miss Belle Lewter, of Durham.

One of the new methods of art was shown in what is known as dusted work. In this method oil is applied to the china and the dry color dusted over the oil, which absorbs the color. The technique of this dusted work is superior to that of painting the color on, the former giving a much smoother and more even finish. A good illustration of this work was a lovely tea set in green and gold, which was designed and worked out in the dusted method by Miss Emily Little, of Greenville.

The majority of designs on china this year were conventional, with an abstract motif of a flower or fruit, but there were a few naturalistic patterns to be seen. These were semi-conventional, having the natural flower or fruit held together with a conventional design.

Enamel and Satsuma work was another new characteristic of this year's exhibit. The Japanese Satsuma china, which was covered with a network of minute cracks, was finished in enamel.

COMMENCEMENT SUNDAY, MAY 26.

Dr. W. T. Thompson, Knoxville, Tenn., Religious Director at Camp Greene, Preaches Sermon.

Dr. W. T. Thompson, of Knoxville, Tenn., Religious Director at Camp Greene, preached the Baccalaureate Sermon before the Graduating Class of Salem College at the Home Moravian Church, Sunday morning, May 26. There was a large audience, the auditorium being packed, as is usual on this occasion. Dr. Thompson is a forceful and fluent speaker, and he held his audience in closest attention thruout his discourse.

This talk to the graduates was a call to a life of usefulness and service. He founded his talk upon the life of Christ, showing that his youth was spent in industry and study, and that with his baptism began his life of wonderful service. He directed the attention of his hearers to the vast opportunities that are presenting themselves to the young women of the world today on account of the rapid changes in world conditions. He impressed upon them the importance of following avenues which lead to definite work, in which avenues alone content and satisfaction can be found. He related incidents which had come under his personal observation in which contentment and useful life had been sought in pleasure and social whirl alone, and in which all efforts were followed by disappointment-fatigue and restlessness of mind and body. Only in the life of service, the life which is reaching out for the larger things which elevate one's soul and benefit humanity, is a life worth while to be attained. The life of Christ was depicted to the Seniors and the audience as the model after which the successful life of today is to be modeled.

The sermon made a profound impression, and was received with appreciable effect by both the college students who are about to begin their life work and by the large number of visitors alike.

The Home Church choir, with Miss Allen Baker, of the Voice Department, soloist, gave Rossini's Inflammatus from the Stabat Mater most impressively, and the Processional by the Senior Class, "The Son of God goes forth to war," was sung with animation.

SENIOR VESPERS, SUNDAY EVENING, MAY 26.

These were held in front of Senior Annex, the Seniors being grouped on the Lehman Memorial Steps. Simplicity characterized the closing Vesper Service of the year. Responsive readings and hymns made up the program, and President Rondthaler made a brief address to the Graduating Class.

ALUMNAE DAY, MONDAY, MAY 27.

The annual business session of the Alumnae Association of the College was held at 11 o'clock, in Memorial Hall, with the president, Miss Adelaide Fries, presiding.

The rostrum had been attractively arranged for the meeting, the center of the decoration being a beautiful comfort, made and presented to the Red Cross Society by the Latin Classes of the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Grades. The robe is very unusual in design—an enormous knitted red cross, whose four arms reach near the margin of the robe, resting against a background of pure white squares, the whole being bordered with a two-inch strip of blue. This robe hung over the center table on the platform and served the purpose of a Red Cross flag, which it resembled as it hung in the midst of the flags of the Allies, America and the College Service flag.

Opening the meeting the Seniors of 1918 entered, singing as a processional, "America, the Beautiful," Miss Louise Siler, accompanying them on the piano.

At the close of the song the president called on the chaplain, Mrs. Charles Norfleet, to lead in prayer.

Following the prayer, Mrs. Bettie B. Vogler, secretary, read the report of the Executive Board, it being customary to omit the reading of the minutes of the last meeting.

For the first time since the organization of the Alumnae Association, Miss Lou Shaffner, treasurer, was absent. Miss Shaffner was confined to her room by illness, and in view of her great love for the Association and her services rendered, the motion was carried that Mrs. W. A. Blair take a special message of love and gratitude to Miss Shaffner from the members gathered. In the absence of Miss Shaffner Miss Fries read the treasurer's report.

The second vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, next welcomed the Seniors of 1918 as members of the Association. This welcome was responded to by the Senior Class president, Miss Mary Sumner.

The special feature of the meeting was the putting of the Association scholarship girls on the program. These were heard from as follows: Misses Sue Campbell, Henrietta Wilson, Lelia Graham Marsh and Nancy Lee Patterson. Miss Patterson delighted the alumnae with three songs—"A Fancy," "Come to the Garden, Love," and "Day is Gone," her sweet soprano, as always, winning the appreciation and applause of her audience.

Miss Marsh, president of the College Y. W. C. A. for 1919, spoke entertainingly and feelingly on "The Share of Salem College in War Work."

Following Miss Marsh's report, the president called the roll of the Alumnae Branch Associations, the branches represented responding with a report of war work done by their organizations. A number of letters and telegrams were read from distant Branches.

During the registration of the Senior Class and election of officers which followed, Miss Amy Van Vleck played upon the piano the wonderful left-hand composition which is always so popular with her hearers.

The program closed with the 1918 Senior Class Song, the original words being set to the tune of "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

PRESENTATION OF VAN VLECK MEMORIAL, MONDAY AFTERNOON

At 12 o'clock, in the College Library, the Van Vleck Memorial Window, given by Miss Amy Van Vleck in memory of her grandfather, Rev. Samuel G. Kramsch, first president of Salem Academy, was presented to the College by Mrs. Lindsay Patterson and accepted jointly by Bishop Edward Rondthaler and President Howard E. Rondthaler.

In accordance with the wish of Miss Van Vleck, the program was very simple, President Rondthaler disclosing the window at the opening of the service just prior to the remarks made by Mrs. Patterson, who so admirably presented the Memorial.

"It is a joy to us all," said Mrs. Patterson, "to gather as we do today to commemorate the first president of our College and to join in a loving tribute to Miss Amy, who, during our lifetime, has filled our world with music. * * * * At the age of 15 years Miss Amy began teaching music, and in the years that have followed she has taught one thousand pupils, whom she has sent out into the world to reflect some of the love for music which she has instilled into them. There is no telling how far Miss Amy's influence in music has gone, nor where it will stop, for music is one thing which we must take with us into the world beyond."

Mrs. Patterson then read a memoir of Rev. Mr. Kramsch, and part of the memoir of his wife, the accounts of the lives of these two people portraying the remarkable faith and consecration of the early Moravians, as well as the perfect education and wonderful refinement of the man and woman who founded Salem College in 1802. "The first boarding school in the South," said Mrs. Patterson, "has a right to be proud of its first president."

The window was then accepted by Bishop Rondthaler in the name of the Board of Trustees of Salem College and President Rondthaler for the College.

"Year's at the Spring, Day's at the Morn," sung by Miss Allene Baker, gave the final touch of beauty and simplicity to the program, which would not have been complete without the last number, a selection on the piano by Miss Van Vleck, one of her own compositions.

The Window is suggestive of educational paths as they lead thru the portals of lilies in youth, thru plains and valleys to the triumphant hills of laurel-crowned wisdom. Beneath the scene of lillies and blue-summit mountains is the following quotation, chosen by Miss Van Vleck: "The Seeds of First Instruction are Dropped Into the Deepest Furrows."

CLASS DAY EXERCISES, MONDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 27

The Seniors of 1918 held their Class Day Exercises in the College Gymnasium. The program was in the form of an original play, "Alice in Shadowland," based upon "Alice in Wonderland." The characters were as follows:

Alice	Eleanor Gates
Mad Hatter.	Ada Siske
White Rabbit.	Helen Hunt
Shades.	Other Class Members

The Gymnasium was arranged to represent Hades, and the program was a continuation of weird dances and songs, the red lights lending their gruesome aspect to the whole.

COMMENCEMENT DAY, TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 28

Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, Ph. D., of University of North Carolina, Delivers the Oration.

The exercises of the One Hundred and Sixteenth Annual Commencement of Salem College were held in Memorial Hall. Featuring the impressive graduation program was the clear, scholarly and enlightening address by Dr. H. W. Chase, Professor of Psychology at the University of North Carolina. The large audience, composed of citizens of Winston-Salem and many visitors, listened with earnest attention to every word of the morning oration, and all were impressed with the splendid presentation by Dr. Chase.

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

At 9:30 a large company of citizens and out-of-town friends of the College gathered in front of Main Hall. At 10:00 o'clock the Academic Procession passed into Memorial Hall. In the line of march were President Rondthaler and Dr. Chase, speaker for the occasion. Following came the officers of the College and Heads of the Departments: Rev. E. J. Heath, Misses Barton, Whittemore, Hall, Staley; Representatives of the Board of Trustees, Bishop Edward Rondthaler, D. D. Rev. James E. Hall and Rev. J. K. Pfohl, also followed and were seated on the platform. The strong faculty of the College made a fine showing as they filed into the hall, and the large company of representative citizens in the line of march showed the close connection between community and College. Accompanied by the Commencement marshals the Class of 1918, wearing the academic dress of black cap and gown, bearing the daisy chain according to the long established custom, marched into the hall, while Dean Shirley rendered on the organ the "Triumphal March."

OPENING EXERCISES

Rev. James E. Hall, of Clemmons, member of the Board of Trustees of the College, read the Scripture Lesson for the morning, the 95th Psalm. He was followed by Rev. J. K. Pfohl, who offered an earnest and appropriate invocation.

Miss Mary Cash, of the Graduating Class, then gave an enjoyable piano selection, Chopin's "Romance."

DR. CHASE SPEAKS

In presenting the speaker President Rondthaler said he was pleased to have an audience composed of most interested and sympathetic friends, many of them parents and relatives of the Graduating Class. He also stated that Dr. Chase had been chosen unanimously by the girls themselves, as many were interested in his particular branch of study, and had been most favorably impressed with his recent lecture in connection with the LaFayette Association in this city.

Dr. Chase responded that he was indeed sure of a friendly audience, confessing, however, that a graduation address of today must be far different from the addresses of previous years, which dealt with the ordinary platitudes of ushering the student from the school into the world. The world is a new world since 1914. We are as mariners upon an untried sea; there is no return to the old shores.

THE DEMOCRATIC IDEA

The fight today is not alone of armies, it is of ideas as well. It is against a creed that imperils freedom, and before this idol the German nation has bowed down. Ephraim is joined to his idols. Democracy is here, it is breathed in the air as in no other place in the world. With this comes the understanding that we have great privileges, likewise great obligations.

THE INFLUENCE OF WOMAN

The young ladies of this graduation day have been privileged to deal with modern ideas. Not only campus and class room have occupied their time; they have followed the tragedy of history as it is being made. This course was unknown to their elder sisters. They have seen that women have, more and more, come to be regarded as citizens. Not only with regard to the vote, which is coming their way, but in regard to their place and influence in national life. They are learning not how to get the most out of life, but how they can best serve.

THE PROBLEMS AND STRUGGLES

Truly will the young women, who have in their most receptive years, been influenced and moulded by these issues, have a part to perform for which they are fitted. The struggle will not be over with the defeat of Germany. The contest for freedom will not, even then, be ended. Yesterday it was between Puritan and Stuart; the day before it was the Inquisition; what will it be tomorrow? The gains of today must be preserved; the sacrifices must not be made in vain.

America must consider whether or not she will remain out of her long-continued period of isolation and take her place for all time in the league of nations. She must be a partner to the peoples who want the world to be free.

The war is but one chapter of the tragic story of the long struggle for freedom. The closing pages are still hidden; the prophecies are confusing; the quest is not ended. The enemy, in various forms, will ever be ready to oppose liberty. All must strive to keep and glorify freedom. Woman's influence, both of head and heart, can help build that new world, which will be either better or worse than the world of 1914.

VOCAL SELECTION

Following the address, Miss Louise Woodbury, of the Voice Department, sang Gounod's "Adore and Be Still." Miss Woodbury's beautiful voice was heard to advantage in this selection.

The Conferring of Degrees and Presentation of Certificates and Diplomas preceded the exceedingly impressive ceremony of the Transfer of the Senior Cap and Gown. In this ceremony Miss Mary Sumner, president of the Class of '18, presented the Senior Cap and Gown, with all that it implies, to the succeeding Class. The acceptance of the honor and responsibilities attending were accepted for the Class of '19 by its president, Miss Eunice Hunt.

DIPLOMAS TO GRADUATES

President Rondthaler presented Certificates and Diplomas to the following members of the Graduating Classes:

A. B. Degree.—Misses Ella DeWitt Bryant, Marie Crist, Katherine Davis, Mary Eford, Mary Covington Entwistle, Ruby Lucile Henning, Olive Thomas, Eula Dell Wall; Evelyn Allen, Reidsville; Alma Bridgers Bizzell, Goldsboro; Edith Graham Bryson, Bryson City; Florence Sue Campbell, Taylorsville; Eleanor Josephine Gates, Tampa, Fla.; Helen Hunt, Glens Falls, N. Phonography and Typewriting.—Misses Grace Bolling, Winston-Salem; Dallas Marian Hardy, Scotland Neck; Gaither Pearson, Salisbury; Margaret Pratt, Madison; Virginia Self, Martinsville, Va.

MUSIC SCHOLARSHIP ENBOWED

President Rondthaler made an interesting announcement at the close of the program. It referred to the Van Vleck Instrumental Music Scholarship of Salem College, being a gift of $500.00, presented by Miss Amelia Van Vleck in memory of her sisters, Miss Louisa Cornelia Van Vleck and Mrs. Lisette Marie (Van Vleck) Meinung. Both were intimately associated with the College for many years as members of the faculty.

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

The officers chosen for the General Alumnae Association of Salem College for the new year were announced publicly on this occasion, having been elected at the meeting of the Association held previously, and are as follows:

President—Miss Adelaide L. Fries. Vice Presidents—First: Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, Winston-Salem; Second: Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, Winston-Salem; Third: Mrs. Holt Haywood, New York; Fourth: Mrs. B. F. Parker, Atlanta; Fifth: Miss Amy Sloan, New York. Secretary—Mrs. Bettie B. Vogler, Winston-Salem; Treasurer—Miss L. C. Shaffner, Winston-Salem.

Miss Johnsie Cameron, Rockingham. Mrs. Gates, Tampa, Fla. Rev. F. Elwood Raub, Philadelphia, Penna. Miss Lillian Lash, Rural Hall. Miss Kate Jones, Bethania. Mrs. Rothrock, Eller.

ADDITIONAL BRANCH LETTERS

New York Branch

Bishop Rondthaler was the guest of honor of the New York Branch. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Henry (Sallie Rodgers), between one o'clock and half after, to have the Bishop greet them. We could hardly believe that having him with us was really true. "Bishop, you haven't changed one bit," most of us said to him. And when the Bishop settled into a chair in the old familiar attitude, his opening words, "This might be school and class again," expressed what we felt, that dear attitude and that dear voice were so familiar. Our hour or more together was spent in asking the Bishop questions—largely questions about the new Salem, for the majority of those present belonged to the years before Student Government was introduced. We heard about Student Government, about the splendid war work done by the students—the younger and the older—of the splendid spirit of sacrifice in which all this work is done; of the deepening spiritual effect of these hard but splendid days, and of a number of things of physical Salem that we were all so interested in—how the old Home Church looks now that it has been done over, for instance, and about Memorial Hall. The Branch Secretary had been privileged to spend a day in Salem just the week before the meeting, and it gave her great pleasure to convey the affectionate messages that Salem sent by her to its old girls.

And so the afternoon passed all too quickly, ending with two beautiful numbers by Miss Howell, whose voice Salem has so recently heard in concert. Miss Howell was accompanied by Mrs. Haywood (Louise Bahnson).

After a short time spent about the tea table the good byes were said. Those present were:

Mesdames J. W. Beck (Ola Read), J. M. Coghlan (Bessie Speas), W. H. Downs (Mattie Kellett), W. H. Henry (Sallie Rodgers), Holt Haywood (Louise Bahnson), Caldwell Morrison, H. Coleman Moore, F. F. Smith, George Thomas (Mary Wright), Herbert Titus (Nellie Ware), Misses Dicie Howell, Mary Irwin, Grace Wolle, Emilie Dickey. Revs. Messrs. Stymle and E. S. Wolle came in at the close of the afternoon.

In the regrets that came the chief thought of those unable to be present was, of course, their distress at missing the Bishop. Nothing else seemed to matter! And in the course of the day telegrams of greeting and regrets came from several who could not be present. And so the whole day resolved into a continued tribute to the Bishop, and thru the Bishop to Salem—a tribute of love and gratitude to the unconscious influence of his consecrated life and to the influence of those other dear lives at Salem, under which we grew up, and to all of whom we owe so much, and are always glad for an opportunity to express ourselves.

AMY R. SLOAN,
Branch Secretary.

High Point

From the High Point Enterprise

The High Point Branch of the Salem College Alumnae held a very pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. V. A. J. Idol, Saturday afternoon. After the reading of several papers the hostess introduced Dean H. A. Shirley, of the Salem music faculty, who made a short address on "The Present Salem and What It is Accomplishing." Then Miss Yerrinton spoke briefly on "What the Girls are Doing for the Red Cross." After Miss Yerrinton's talk, Miss Grace Starbuck and other members of the faculty told of the accomplishments they were making in their departments. At this meeting new officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President—Mrs. R. T. Pickens; Sec'y-treasurer—Mrs. T. V. Rochelle.

Those present for the meeting were: Miss Ella Lambeth, Mrs. M. B. Hite and Mrs. Crowell, Thomasville; Mrs. W. C. Hammer and Mrs. N. H. Walker, Asheboro; Mesdames N. C. Beavens, A. M. Briggs, Frank Sizemore, R. T. Pickens, G. W. Clark, J. Ed. Millis, W. L. Jackson, H. E. Motsinger, T. V. Rochelle, Misses Hazel Briggs, Marce Goley, Maude Owen, Claudia Dicks, Atkins, Mesdames C. F. Long and John Tate. After the business meeting delightful refreshments were served.

Richmond, Va., Branch

The Richmond Branch of Salem College Alumnae Association held a meeting on Tuesday, April 30th, at the home of Mrs. T. T. Adams, 1837. Monument Ave., and much enthusiasm and interest was shown by every one present. Three new members joined the Association, Mrs. G. H. Yow (Mary Ruffin Greene, Durham), Mrs. W. W. Mosely (Ida Lineback) and Miss Annie Penn Christian. There were also three visitors present: Miss Addie Webb, Winston-Salem; Miss Irene Adams, Alta Vista, Va., niece of Mrs. T. T. Adams, and Mrs. Stokes Adams (Elizabeth Duncan, Raleigh, N C.). Our new president, Miss Gretchen Clement, conducted the meeting and much was accomplished in the way of placing our Branch Association on a firmer foundation and renewing our Alma Mater spirit. Other members present were: Miss Ida Moore, Mrs J. F. Greene (Bessie Smith), Mrs. St. Clair Dalton (Nancy Pierce) and the hostess, Mrs. T. T. Adams. Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent by every one present. The meeting adjourned to meet with Miss Clement next Fall.

MRS. ST. CLAIR DALTON (NANCY PIERCE).

Raleigh Branch

The Raleigh Branch sends greetings and love to each alumna. Our Branch now numbers forty-eight (48) members, from 1869 to 1918, and each "girl" is still loyal to her Alma Mater. We enjoyed a happy gathering on Salem Day, and listened to Mr. Heath's talk of the present college life and conditions with pride and rejoicing. At this time each "old girl" is doing her "bit;" some have given their sons, others are giving their time and labor in the Red Cross service, while the housekeeper is paying strict attention to her economical home management, thus each showing the beautiful spirit of service and unselfishness which was so deeply instilled into the Salem student.

We sorrowed on May 5th, when, for the first time since its organization, our chapter lost a member by death—Mrs. Wm. W. Jones (Mary Walker, 1886). mother of Susanne, 1916. Mrs. Jones was an interested member and loved Salem.

In these days of stress and strife our hearts go out in love and sympathy to each alumna mother, wife and sister who has given their sons, husbands and brothers to our beloved country.

MRS. CHARLES U. HARRIS (SAIDEE ROBBINS),
President of Raleigh Chapter.

Philadelphia, Penna., Branch

Bishop Rondthaler attended a very interesting organization meeting of the Philadelphia Branch in May. This was held at

RD

Norwood Station, a beautiful suburban town, nine miles out of Philadelphia, the alumnae gathering at the home of Mrs. G. C. Talbott (Bessie Riddick, '98). Bishop Rondthaler was met at the station by the attractive daughters of Mrs. Talbott, Elizabeth and Ellen, dressed in Red Cross costume. At the home he was greeted by the mother of Mrs. Talbott, Mrs. Riddick, who was Miss Kate D. Wall, of Norfolk, Va., originally from North Carolina, educated at the Moravian School in Bethlehem, Penna., but well acquainted with Salem. Present also was Mrs. Edward McGinley (Elsie Thomas, '04), of Landsdowne, Pa., with her daughter, Alice, and her son, Edward. At the business session Mrs. Talbott was elected president, Mrs. McGinley, secretary, and Mrs. Riddick was made an honorary member. Letters of regret were read from Mrs. David Petty (Marybell Thomas), of Bethlehem, Penna.; Julia Crawford, Nazareth, Penna., and Frances Brown, of Germantown, Penna. Hospital duties prevented Miss Ruth Greider from attending the meeting, and Miss Mildred Wilcox, who is teaching in Philadelphia, was also unable to be present. Greetings were sent to President Rondthaler, Dean Shirley and Mr. Rice of the Alumnae Committee, and plans were laid for getting in touch with alumnae of Salem who are located in Philadelphia and vicinity. Refreshments, consisting of Moravian sugar cake, according to a receipt furnished by Miss Sarah Shaffner, and coffee were served, and the meeting was given up to reminiscences of Salem Days.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO SALEM ALUMNAE

"SALEM TO DAY," the new sixteen page Booklet just off the press should be in the hands of every SALEM GIRL. In addition to the story of student life the Booklet contains thirty new illustrations of buildings, campus scenes and student groups and a complete map of the grounds and buildings with accompanying key.

To cover the actual cost of printing and mailing a charge of TEN CENTS is made. Remittances either in stamps or coin, if sent to SALEM COLLEGE, WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA, will receive immediate attention.
